Welcome Letter From the President

Dear APA Members and Guests,

Welcome to the American Psychiatric Association's IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference in New Orleans. This year's meeting is focused on Enhancing Access & Effective Care.

APA's Division of Education and the Scientific Program Committee have worked together on a great offering of courses and sessions for you. The goal of the meeting is to train and support psychiatrists and other mental health professionals to provide quality care and leadership in our profession. Your attendance at IPS gives you access to a diverse offering of CME opportunities designed to help you master new material in depth.

The Division of Education has organized the content of the meeting into tracks that make it easy for you to make the most of your time, including Addiction Psychiatry, Administrative Psychiatry, Community Psychiatry, Integrated and Collaborative Care, and Psychopharmacology. The Technology track will emphasize how EHRs, telepsychiatry and mental health apps are changing the way we practice medicine, and the best ways to implement the high-tech tools psychiatrists have at our disposal.

While networking opportunities abound at large events such as the Annual Meeting, the smaller, more intimate setting of IPS gives you the chance to really get to know some of your colleagues and forge lasting relationships. Many of us are repeat attendees who are really invested in the content of the meeting. For me, IPS represents the heart and soul of public and community psychiatry. Those who attend are passionate about doing their best to deliver the highest quality evidence-based treatments and services possible.

Addressing physician burnout is one of the priorities for my presidential year, and we've planned several sessions on that topic. The Medical Director's Bootcamp will address this, as well as a range of other topics, such as working with special populations and negotiation skills. I'm very excited to see what this session and the other Learning Labs have to offer.

One of the goals of IPS is to train attendees to be effective leaders in the field. Leadership is such an important quality for any psychiatrist to have, especially as we move into the era of integrated care, where we will work alongside primary care physicians as experts in the mental health of our patients. That is why I am especially pleased that U.S. Army Lt. Gen. Mark Hertling (Ret.) will speak at the Opening Session. He will discuss how psychiatrists can enhance our leadership role in care systems today and into the future. Lt. Gen. Hertling is the author of the 2016 book, "Growing Physician Leaders."

This will be my first year attending IPS as President of the APA, and I am so excited to see how all the individual pieces coalesce into the robust, influential meeting that has kept me coming back every year for the last 20 years.

Once again, welcome, and best wishes for a thought-provoking and informative meeting!

Welcome Letter

From the Scientific Program Committee Chair

Dear fellow mental health professionals and guests,

Welcome to the 2017 IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference, in the very special city of New Orleans. In close conjunction with the President of the American Psychiatric Association,

Dr. Anita Everett, I am pleased to put forward the Conference's theme, Enhancing Access & Effective Care, two topics that will be the focus of a number of sessions. Our program was carefully constructed to prepare trainees, early career psychiatrists, seasoned psychiatrists, and other mental health professionals alike with the latest information they need to practice in an evolving health care environment and an evolving political and social environment.

We've assembled very timely courses, covering buprenorphine, telepsychiatry, marijuana, integrated care, child psychopharmacology, and the 2017 Psychiatry Review and Clinical Synthesis. All of our sessions, which include lectures, symposia, workshops, rapid-fire talks, forums, learning labs, and many poster presentations, have been selected to ensure that each attendee will learn how to employ evidence-based practices, how to enhance the delivery of mental health services, how to improve access to care, how to increase the effectiveness of care, and how to advocate for policy change to reduce the risk of mental illnesses and help those living with mental illnesses, all of which are needed now more than ever.

With so many great sessions, planning your own personal conference experience can be difficult. That's why we offer you the conference app! Also look into our tracks, which can guide you through topic areas that include addiction psychiatry, administrative psychiatry, community psychiatry, integrated and collaborative care, psychopharmacology, and technology. In addition, and back by popular demand, experience the Medical Directors Boot Camp, designed especially for attendees working in, or considering, administrative positions. Don't miss the Exhibit Hall, where you will find many exhibitors and posters, as well as APA Central and the APA Bookstore. You also won't want to miss the American Association of Community Psychiatrists reception on Friday night.

I look forward to seeing you at the Hilton New Orleans Riverside, or in some of New Orleans' great restaurants, where we can all enjoy po' boys, muffulettas, red beans and rice, andouille, boudin, Oysters Rockefeller, étouffée, gumbo, jambalaya, turtle soup, beignets, pralines, and bread pudding!

As Chair of the Scientific Program Committee, I am here to serve the American Psychiatric Association, and to serve each attendee at this year's conference. Stop me in the hallway to say hello, and let me know about your great experience at the 2017 IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference.

With warm regards,

Scientific Session Capacity Guidelines

If a session you would like to attend is over capacity, as indicated by an official posted at the door, please find a different session to attend.

The IPS Scientific Program Committee strives to schedule each session based on prior attendance data and best estimates. In the rare instance in which a session you want to attend is already at capacity, we ask that you attend another session and accept our apology for the inconvenience. Because of room capacity limitations and fire code enforcement, we cannot guarantee each session will be available to every participant.

Please abide by the following guidelines if you are in a crowded room.

- Take a seat as close to the front of the room as possible.
- Move to the center of the row and fill all seats so that chairs are available on the aisles for additional attendees.
- Do not stand or sit in the aisles or lean against walls. Please do not block exits or crowd doorways in violation of fire safety regulations.

The Fire Marshall may shut down an overcrowded session; therefore, please either find a seat or choose another session to attend.

General Information

Sunshine Act

The Physician Payment Sunshine Act is a federal law that requires pharmaceutical and device manufacturers under certain circumstances to publicly report any complimentary gift, food, beverage, non-CME-certified education or other item of value given to physicians. Some of the food, product theaters and trinkets that may be available to you at this meeting have been sponsored by companies that may be required to report your receipt of that gift. The APA recommends that you ask the person providing the complimentary item whether your name will be reported under the Act before accepting complimentary products or food so that you can make an independent and educated decision to accept or not accept it.

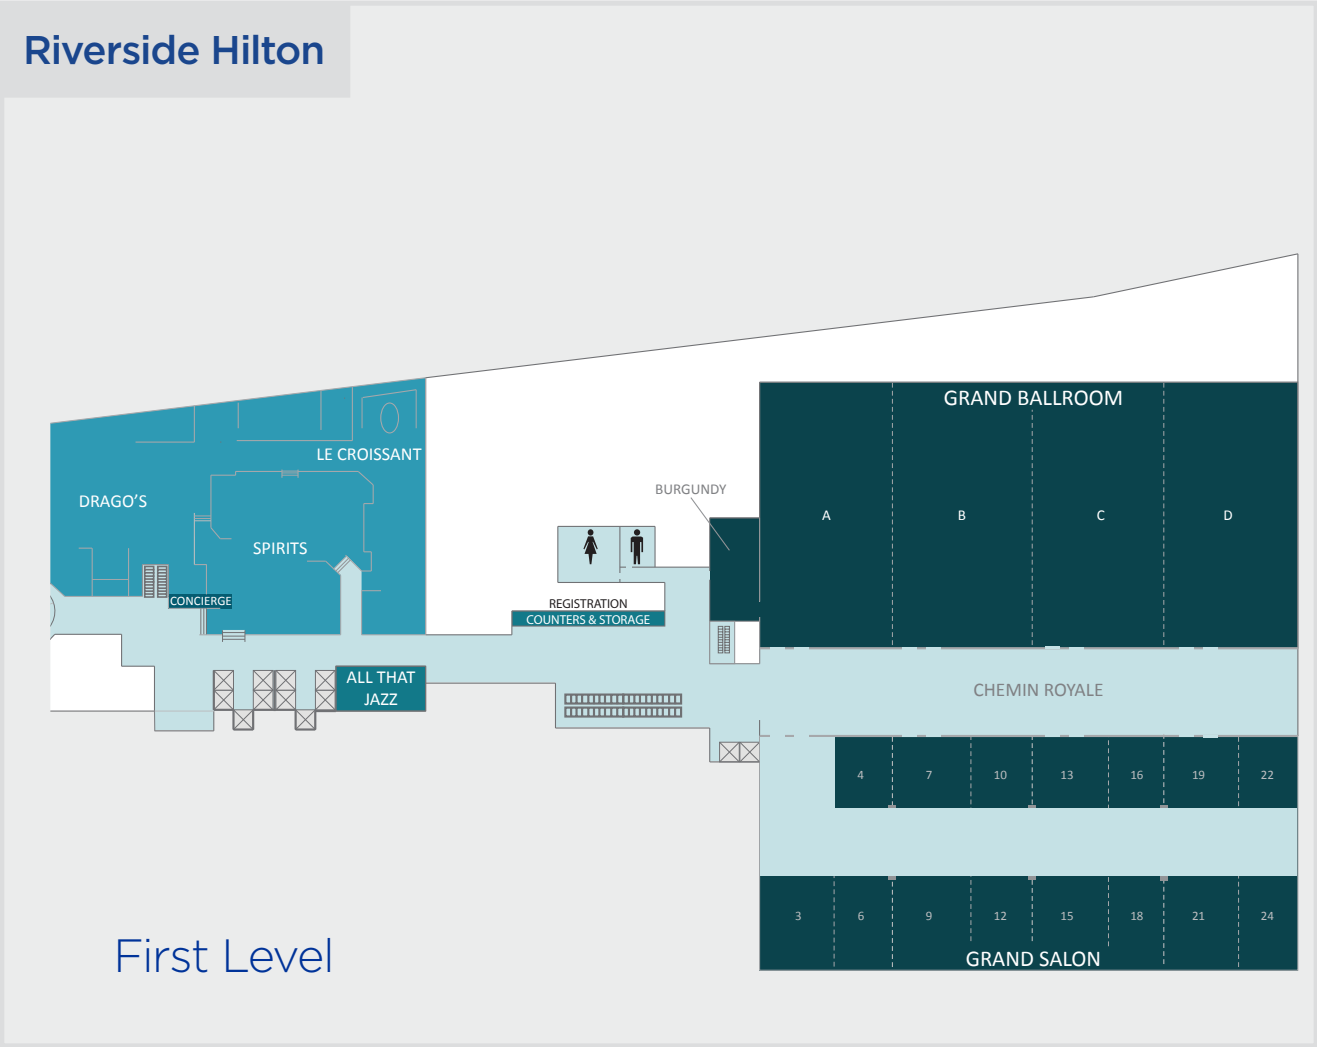

Tape Recording and Visual Reproduction Policies

Attendees are not permitted to photograph (including with cell phone cameras) or video record any session, as the intrusive nature of recording may disrupt the session. Larger, professional recorders are not permitted except for use by registered members of the working press in accordance with APA press policies.

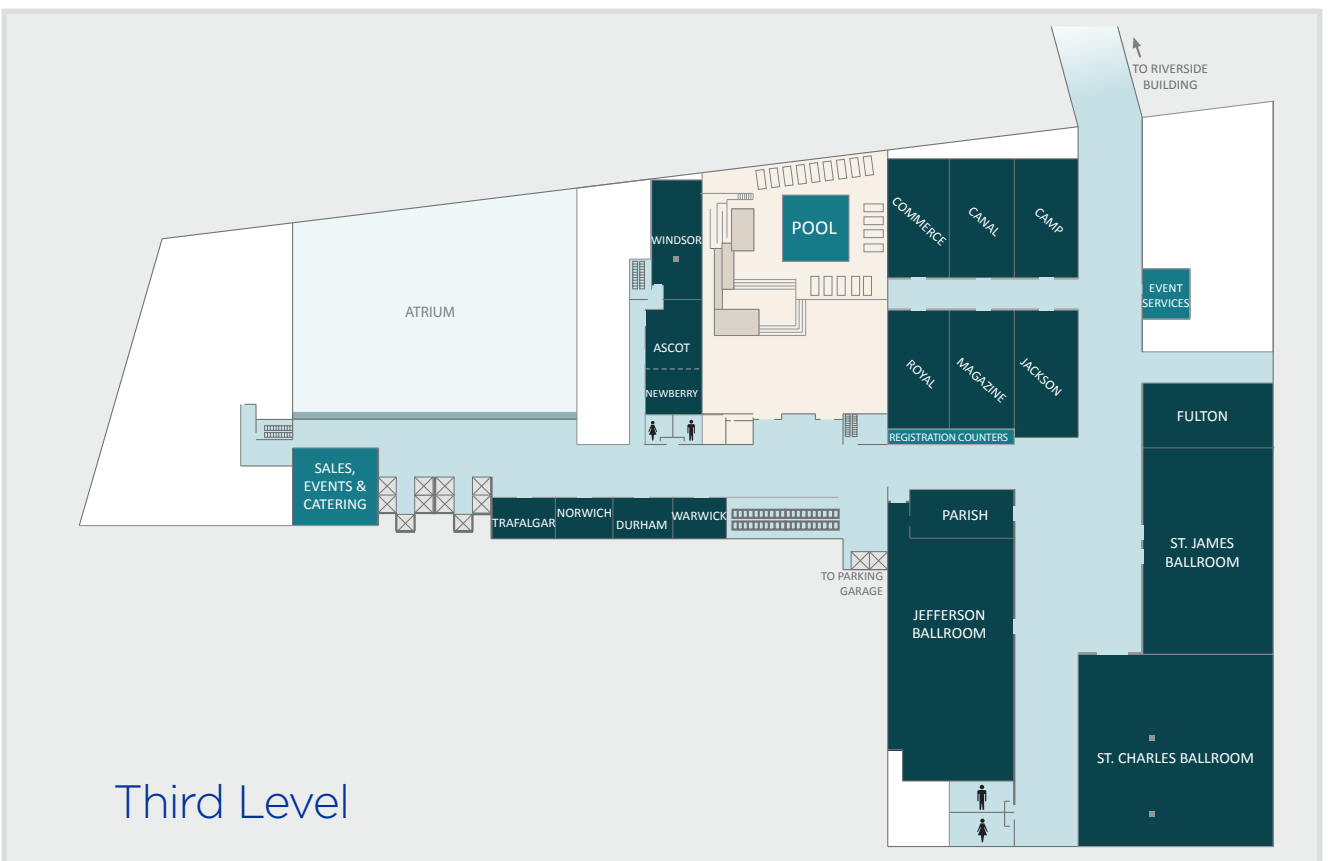

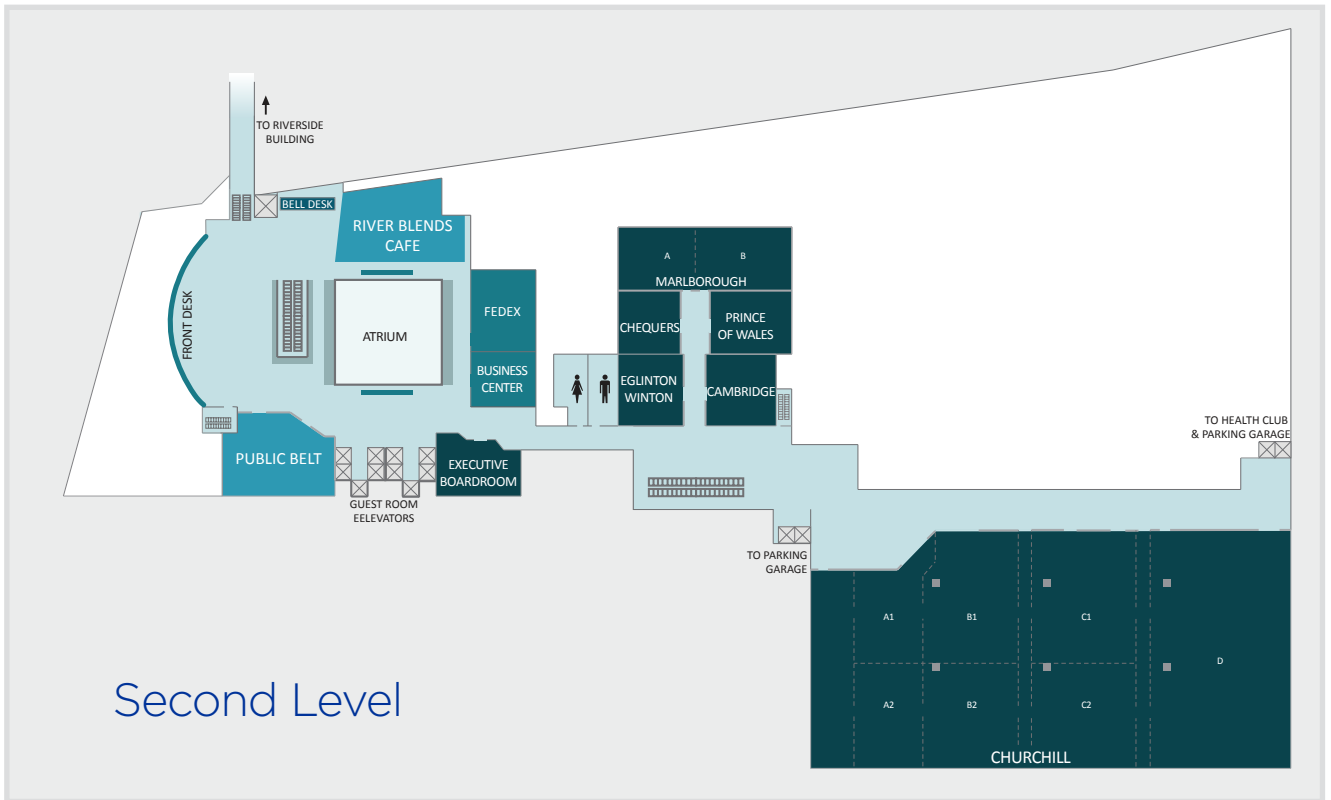

Wi-Fi

Free Wi-Fi can be found in the Connection Lounge in the Exhibit Hall, Churchill, Second Level and in the hotel lobby.

Conference Objectives

At the conclusion of IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference, participants will be able to:

1. Identify and improve mental health disparities in the community.
2. Demonstrate and apply new skills that will be useful in public psychiatry settings.
3. Examine how the current health care system affects patient care.
4. Describe how to transform systems of care.
5. Recognize how to bring new innovations into a variety of treatments to improve patient care.

Target Audience

IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference is designed for psychiatrists, primary care and other physicians, medical students and residents, nurses, physician assistants, psychologists, addiction counselors, social workers, medical educators, administrators and policy makers, public health researchers, consumers, and family members.

APA Learning Center

Education doesn't have to end with the meeting! The APA offers a wide selection of on-demand CME credit programs through the Association's online Learning Management System, and new offerings are available each month. Earn more CME credit with some of our current online offerings at education.psychiatry.org.

The American Psychiatric Association (APA) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The American Psychiatric Association designates this live activity for a maximum of 28 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Special Session Highlights

Developing a National Mental Health Registry

Thursday, October 19, 2017

8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m.

Join us as we discuss the APA's new PsychPRO mental health registry and its benefits for practicing psychiatrists. As health care delivery and reporting and billing requirements continue to change, patient registries offer a unique opportunity for clinicians to improve quality of care and patient outcomes. This workshop will show how PsychPRO fills a dire need within a health care system in which providers struggle to meet ever more complex reporting requirements and avoid payment penalties.

Supporting Medical Directors in Behavioral Health Clinics

Friday, October 20, 2017

1:30 p.m. – 3:00 p.m.

This session, open to APA members who are active medical directors in behavioral health clinics, is an opportunity to engage in a small group discussion with APA CEO and Medical Director Saul Levin, M.D., M.P.A. Medical directors will discuss challenges they face in their professional settings and brainstorm ways in which the APA might be able to assist.

Inside the APA Town Hall: A Discussion of Innovation Efforts to Improve Your Practice

Saturday, October 21, 2017

8:00 a.m. – 9:30 a.m.

Engage with members of the APA Leadership and APA Administration to discuss ways in which the APA can assist its members in improving their practices, addressing administrative burdens, and confronting issues related to physician burnout and well-being.

Disclosure Index

American Psychiatric Association Continuing Medical Education Policy on Full Disclosure

For all program planners and presenters at CME activities, the American Psychiatric Association requires disclosure of any financial or other affiliation with commercial organization(s) that may have a direct or indirect interest in the subject matter of the educational activity. A “financial interest” may include, but is not limited to, being an employee and/or shareholder in the organization, being on retainer with the organization, or having research or honoraria paid by the organization. An “affiliation” may include holding a position on an advisory committee, speakers’ bureau, or some other role or benefit to a supporting organization.

In compliance with the ACCME’s Standards for Commercial Support, the APA has a management of conflict (MCI) process for all CME activities. This process ensures that all conflicts of interest are identified, managed and resolved prior to the educational activity. Additionally, the prospective audience must be informed of the presenters’ or program planners’ affiliations with every commercial interest by an acknowledgement in the printed program and verbal or visual disclosure to participants at the session (disclosure by slide is required if audiovisual equipment is used for the presentation). Disclosing to learners the relevant financial relationships that were present and resolved assists learners in assessing the potential for bias in the information presented. The APA also requires verbal disclosure of discussion of unlabeled uses of a commercial product or investigational use of a product not yet approved for this purpose. The presenters and planners on the following pages indicated that either they or a spouse/partner have a financial interest or other affiliation with a commercial entity producing, marketing, re-selling or distributing health care goods or services consumed by or used on patients; the company name and affiliation are also listed. Providers of clinical services directly to patients are not considered to be commercial interests. The second group of presenters and planners indicated that neither they nor a spouse/partner has any relationship to disclose.

All presenters and planners must complete a disclosure in order to participate in an APA CME activity. This disclosure listing includes the presenters and planners of the scientific program and poster sessions.

Focus

The Journal of Lifelong Learning in Psychiatry

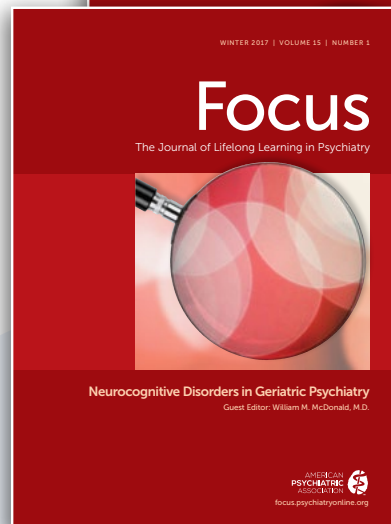

The Best Resource for

- Clinical Synthesis
- Expert Guidance
- Lifelong Learning
- Maintenance of Certification

Focus, APA's quarterly clinical review journal, is designed for practicing psychiatrists to keep abreast of significant clinical knowledge and advances in the field through self-directed lifelong learning. Four issues each year provide comprehensive reviews of major clinical areas of psychiatry. Focus also provides an organized learning and self-assessment program with 44 hours of CME each year.

An Annual Subscription to Focus Gives You:

- Reviews of core areas in psychiatry, with each issue overseen by a Guest Editor clinical expert in that area.
- Articles on new clinical developments and the current state of practice.
- Quizzes that allow you to earn up to five AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™] by completing CME questions for each issue—for a total of up to 20 CME credits per year.
- An annual 120-question self-assessment exam for an additional 24 CME credits and APBN MOC self-assessment credits that provides you with a comparison of your result against the group score of your peers.
- Online access to back issues (CME credits for issue quizzes available only for your subscription year).

Program Format Descriptions

Courses

Courses provide enriched learning experiences that actively involve participants and include the opportunity for informal exchange with faculty. Offered in four-hour (half-day), six-hour (full-day) and eight-hour (full-day) sessions, courses either review basic concepts in a special subject area or present advanced material on a circumscribed topic. Additional registration is required to participate in all courses.

Forums

Forums are flexible 90-minute presentations that afford participants the opportunity to highlight timely topics of interest to psychiatrists. Speakers and panel members are chosen for their expertise and leadership in the field.

Learning Lab

The Learning Lab introduces an exciting new way to learn at the IPS Conference. Each session in the Learning Lab transforms learning through collaboration, rich discussion around issues impacting psychiatry and hands-on learning.

Lectures

Lectures feature a small number of distinguished speakers discussing scientific and cultural topics, many of which will extend our understanding beyond the usual limits of clinical psychiatry. The Scientific Program Committee invites the lecturers to present as part of the scientific program.

Posters

This format highlights presentations of very recent findings. Posters are visual, self-explanatory presentations. See the Poster Sessions section (page 52) of this book for a complete schedule of poster presentations. Poster sessions are not offered for CME credit.

Rapid-Fire Talks

These 90-minute sessions contain two to three separate oral presentations grouped by topic, with audience discussion at the end of the session. Attendees are encouraged to participate in each presentation during a session, even if they come to see one talk in particular.

Symposia

Symposia are three-hour sessions consisting of four to six presentations that are thematically linked and focus on a specific topic relevant to clinical psychiatry. This format is designed to provide comprehensive treatment of a topic or discussion of the topic from several points of view and stimulate discussion with the audience.

Workshops

Workshops are 90-minute sessions that typically involve brief presentations from individual panel members, followed by the opportunity for lively and informative discussion. This format provides for substantial audience participation and is highly interactive.

LECTURER BIOS

Lt. Gen. Mark Hertling (Ret.)

Leaving his beloved U.S. Army in January 2013, Lt. Gen. Mark Hertling (Ret.) is now leading programs for global partnering, leadership development, and health performance strategies at the innovative Florida Hospital in Orlando.

Prior to joining Florida Hospital, Mark served for almost four decades in the U.S. Army. At the time of his retirement, he was commanding general of U.S. Army Europe, where he led over 50,000 soldiers, cared for over 100,000 family members, and partnered with the armies of 50 countries in the European theater. During his military career, Lt. Gen. Hertling commanded training organizations at the Army's National Training Center (Ft. Irwin, California) and the Joint Multi-National Training Center (Grafenwoehr, Germany). He was an assistant division commander in Baghdad in 2003-4 and later commanded the Army's 1st Armored Division (1AD) in Germany and in Northern Iraq during the surge. Hertling spent over 36 months in combat.

Receiving a Bachelor of Science from the U.S. Military Academy in 1975, Lt. Gen. Hertling is a graduate of the Army's Staff College, the School of Advanced Military Studies, and the National War College. He also holds master's degrees in history and international relations from these institutions, and he also earned a master's degree in exercise physiology from Indiana University. He is currently pursuing an executive doctorate in business administration from the Crummer School at Rollins College.

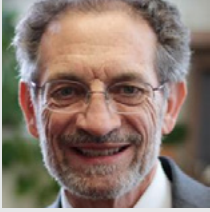

During his time in the Army, Mark received many military honors, including three awards of the Distinguished Service Medal, six awards of the Legion of Merit, five Bronze Stars, a Purple Heart, and the Army Commendation Medal for Valor. He also received the Gold Cross of Honor of the German Army, the Romanian Land Forces Emblem of Honor, and the Polish Soldier's Medal of Honor. He is a life member of the Purple Heart Association, Phi Kappa Phi, and he is a Distinguished Eagle Scout. In 2015, he received the Dwight D. Eisenhower Award from the U.S. Sports Academy.

In addition to working with Florida Hospital, Mark was appointed by President Obama and served for four years as one of 25 members of the President's Council on Fitness, Sport, and Nutrition. He is an adjunct scholar at West Point's Modern War Institute, and he also serves as a military analyst for CNN. Mark speaks and acts passionately on the subjects of leadership, national security, and health trends. His book, Growing Physician Leaders, was published in May 2016.

Mark is married to his best friend, Sue. They have two sons, and four grandsons. He loves being with family, reading history, bicycling, and any form of athletic activity.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

LECTURER BIOS

James L. Griffith, M.D., is Leon M. Yochelson professor and chair in the department of psychiatry and behavioral sciences at the George Washington University School of Medicine and Health Sciences. As a psychiatric educator, Dr. Griffith developed a psychiatry residency program at George Washington University that has been distinguished for its curriculum in cross-cultural psychiatry, global mental health, mental health policy, and psychosocial care for medically ill patients. In his clinical research, Dr. Griffith has published extensively on family-centered treatment of psychosomatic disorders and chronic medical illnesses, including the book The Body Speaks: Therapeutic Dialogues for Mind-Body Problems. His most recent book, Religion that Heals, Religion that Harms, addressed destructive uses of religion and ideology in clinical settings and received the Creative Scholarship Award from the Society for the Study of Psychiatry and Culture. Currently, Dr. Griffith provides psychiatric treatment for immigrants, refugees, and survivors of political torture at Northern Virginia Family Services in Falls Church, VA.

Becky Stoll, L.C.S.W., is responsible for the overall operation of Centerstone's crisis and disaster management services. Ms. Stoll graduated from Tennessee State University in Nashville, Tennessee, with a BS in psychology. She received her Master's in the science of social work from the University of Tennessee in Nashville, Tennessee. Ms. Stoll is a licensed clinical social worker with 20 years of behavioral health experience. She is a recognized leader in the areas of crisis services, disaster mental health, and suicide prevention. She is a member of the National Action Alliance's "Zero Suicides in Healthcare" advisory group, as well as serves as faculty and a mentor. Ms. Stoll has provided training, consultation, and response nationally and internationally to aviation, banking, educational institutions, emergency response organizations, and professional sports. Ms. Stoll is a Board-certified expert in traumatic stress and a diplomate of the American Association of Experts in Traumatic Stress. She is a certified employee assistance professional.

LECTURER BIOS

Michael T. Compton,
M.D., M.P.H.,

is professor of clinical psychiatry at Columbia University and medical director for adult services at the New York State Office of Mental Health. He conducts research on a number of topics, including the crisis intervention team model of collaboration between the police and mental health. He is the editor of several American Psychiatric Association books, including Clinical Manual of Prevention in Mental Health and The Social Determinants of Mental Health.

Benjamin Druss,
M.D., M.P.H.,

as the first Rosalynn Carter chair in mental health at Emory University, is working to build linkages between mental health, physical health, and public health. Dr. Druss serves on the editorial boards of JAMA Psychiatry, the American Journal of Psychiatry, and General Hospital Psychiatry, edits Psychiatric Services' integrated care column, and is a member of the APA's integrated care workgroup. He is a member of the NIMH's national advisory mental health council.

Patrice Harris,
M.D., M.A.,

a psychiatrist from Atlanta, is immediate past chair of the American Medical Association's (AMA) board of trustees. She has held many leadership positions at both the national and state levels. She previously served as chair of the AMA's Council on Legislation and on the boards of the American Psychiatric Association and the Georgia Psychiatric Physicians Association. As past director of health services for Fulton County, Georgia, she oversaw all county health-related programs and functions. Currently, a key focus for Dr. Harris is developing solutions to end the nation's opioid epidemic. She is chair of the AMA's Opioid Task Force, which brings together specialty and state medical societies and other health care associations to move swiftly to implement best practices to combat the opioid epidemic and save lives.

LECTURER BIOS

Ann Marie T. Sullivan, M.D.,

Dr. Ann Marie T. Sullivan was confirmed by the New York State Senate as Commissioner for the New York State Office of Mental Health on June 20, 2014. New York State has a large, multi-faceted mental health system that serves more than 700,000 individuals each year. The Office of Mental Health (OMH) operates psychiatric centers across the State, and also oversees more than 4,500 community programs, including inpatient and outpatient programs, emergency, community support, residential and family care programs. As Commissioner, she has guided the transformation of the state hospital system in its emphasis on recovery and expansion of community based treatment, reinvesting over 60 million dollars in community services. Working closely with all mental health providers and health plans, she is responsible for the movement of the health benefit for the seriously mentally ill into managed care beginning October 2015. This new Health and Recovery Plan (HARP) benefit will embed in the Medicaid benefit critical recovery services such as crisis respite, peer, educational and employment supports. She has also been instrumental in expanding services for the mentally ill in prisons and in expanding the much needed community based continuum of care for the seriously mentally ill leaving prison and returning to their community.

Previously, she was the Senior Vice President for the Queens Health Network of the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation. As Senior Vice President, she was responsible for Elmhurst and Queens Hospital Centers, two public hospitals which serve a community of over 2 million New York City residents. Along with ensuring the seamless integration and coordination of services across the Network, Dr. Sullivan aligned and helped to implement key corporate programs such as the Care Management Initiative on the inpatient units and in the emergency services; the launching of best practices to improve patient safety; and the integration of behavioral health and medical services. Dr. Sullivan grew up in Queens, New York City. She graduated from NYU and its School of Medicine and completed her Psychiatric Residency at New York University/Bellevue Hospital in 1978. She has served as Associate Director of Psychiatry and Medical Director of Ambulatory Care at the Gouverneur Diagnostic and Treatment Center and joined the Queens Health Network as Regional Director of Psychiatry in 1990, overseeing the administrative, budgetary, and clinical aspects of the psychiatric services of both Network hospitals. She has enjoyed an extensive career in public psychiatry and has lectured and published on best practices in community care.

Dr. Sullivan is an active advocate for her patients and her profession, is a Distinguished Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and has served as the Speaker of the American Psychiatric Association's Assembly and on its Board of Trustees. She is a fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, a member of the American College of Psychiatrists and the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

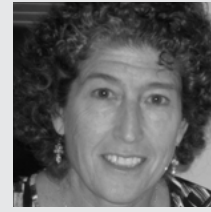

LECTURER BIOS

Jean-Marie Bradford, M.D., is the director of the Washington Heights Community Service at the New York State Psychiatric Institute and an assistant clinical professor of psychiatry in the department of psychiatry of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University. As WHCS director, she manages an inpatient unit, two community outpatient clinics, and a first-episode psychosis treatment program, OnTrackNY/WHCS. Dr. Bradford is currently working on expanding integrated care on WHCS. Dr. Bradford also serves as the training director for the Columbia University Global Mental Health T32 Research Fellowship and the co-chair for the Columbia University Department of Psychiatry Committee for Diversity and Inclusion and enjoys teaching and supervising trainees. She co-teaches the course "Models of Integrating Systems of Care," serves as a mentor and clinical supervisor for medical students and Columbia psychiatry residents in supportive psychotherapy and public psychiatry. Dr. Bradford's professional interests include improving psychiatric care for the severely mentally ill in underserved communities in the U.S. and abroad, teaching, faculty development, and issues of diversity and inclusion.

Nancy Byatt, D.O., M.B.A., M.S., is a psychiatrist, physician-scientist, and perinatal mental health expert focused on improving health care systems to promote maternal mental health. She is an associate professor of psychiatry and obstetrics and gynecology at the University of Massachusetts Medical School. She is the inaugural statewide medical director of MCPAP for Moms, a statewide program that addresses perinatal mental health and substance use disorders in Massachusetts by providing mental health consultation and care coordination for medical providers serving pregnant and postpartum women. She has been awarded several federal grants for her research, which aims to ensure that pregnant and postpartum women with depression receive optimal mental health treatment. She frequently serves on national advisory boards and expert work groups focused on improving perinatal mental health. Her academic achievements have led to over 60 peer-reviewed publications and national presentations and numerous national awards.

Nancy Harvey, L.M.S.W., has served as the chief executive officer of Service Program for Older People (SPOP) in New York City since 1990. During her tenure, SPOP has grown from a neighborhood-based mental health agency serving older adults to a borough-wide resource for affordable behavioral health care for adults age 55 and older. A graduate of the State University of New York system, she holds a B.A. from SUNY New Paltz and an M.S.W. from SUNY Albany. She has been an advocate for increasing access to geriatric mental health care in the region and has worked in partnership with the NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, NYC Department for the Aging, Mount Sinai Hospital, SAGE/Services and Advocacy for GLBT Elders, VISIONS/Services for the Blind and Visually Impaired, and dozens of other organizations. She is currently a member of the board of directors of The Coalition of for Behavioral Health in New York City and has served on numerous other nonprofit boards over the years. Her entire career has been committed to serving older adults.

LECTURER BIOS

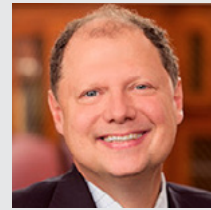

David Kaye, M.D.,

is professor of psychiatry and vice chair for academic affairs at the University at Buffalo (UB) Jacobs School of Medicine and Biomedical Sciences. He established the residency training program in child/adolescent psychiatry at UB and served as director of training from 1986 to 2014. Since 2010, he has led the Child and Adolescent Psychiatry for Primary Care (CAP PC) program, providing education and consultation support for primary care providers. He is a distinguished fellow of AACAP, a distinguished life fellow of the American Psychiatric Association, and a past president of the American Association of Directors of Psychiatric Residency Training. His work and writing has focused on psychiatric education, and he is first author on a book for primary care physicians: Child and Adolescent Mental Health. CAP PC represents a lifetime of working toward the integration of physical and mental health, in his heart from the beginning of medical school.

Charles H. Kellner, M.D.,

is professor of psychiatry and director of the division of geriatric psychiatry at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine and director of the ECT service at the Mount Sinai Hospital. Dr. Kellner received his M.D. from Cornell University Medical College. He did his internship at Los Angeles County Medical Center and his psychiatry residency at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center. He did a fellowship in biological psychiatry at the National Institute of Mental Health in Bethesda, Maryland. He was on the faculty of the Medical University of South Carolina in Charleston from 1984 to 2002, where he directed the ECT service. He was chair of the department of psychiatry at New Jersey Medical School from 2002 to 2008 and director of the ECT service at University Hospital in Newark. He has dedicated his career to the study of ECT and is editor emeritus of the Journal of ECT. He has led the collaborative ECT research group CORE (Consortium for Research in ECT) for the past decade in the performance of NIMH-sponsored multisite research protocols. He has over 150 publications, most related to ECT and mood disorders. He has authored the APA published text, Handbook of ECT. He is a member of the APA task force on ECT, currently revising the APA recommendations on ECT.

Kerry J. Ressler, M.D., Ph.D.,

is chief scientific officer at McLean Hospital and professor of psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School. He received his undergraduate degree from MIT and his M.D./Ph.D. from Harvard Medical School. Dr. Ressler began at McLean Hospital in August 2015 after 18 years at Emory University in Atlanta, where he studied epigenetic mechanisms and the neural basis of trauma exposure in at-risk, low socioeconomic populations in inner-city Atlanta. There, he led a team to understand mechanisms of trauma and to identify new ways to improve interventions and awareness for at-risk civilians. Dr. Ressler is a former Howard Hughes Medical Institute Investigator, a member of the National Academy of Medicine, and the 2017 president of the Society for Biological Psychiatry. His work focuses on translational research bridging molecular neurobiology with genetic research on emotion, particularly fear and anxiety disorders.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

LECTURER BIOS

Elissa P. Benedek, M.D., is adjunct clinical professor, department of psychiatry, at the University of Michigan School of Medicine. Dr. Benedek's career in the field of forensic psychiatry has spanned 50 years, with a focus on research and policies impacting child abuse, trauma and neglect, and ethics in psychiatry. She has been an active member of the American Psychiatric Association, becoming the second woman president in 1990. Dr. Benedek also served on the APA Board of Trustees. For these and other contributions to the field of psychiatry, Dr. Benedek was recognized as a 50-year Distinguished Life Fellow of the APA in 2015. Dr. Benedek was also the 2013 recipient of the Alexandra Symonds Award, given by the APA and the Association of Women Psychiatrists, and the 2003 APA Guttmacher Award for her published works on forensic psychiatry.

Helena Hansen, M.D., Ph.D., is assistant professor in the departments of anthropology and psychiatry at NYU and a research scientist at Nathan Kline Institute for Psychiatric Research. She has published widely in clinical and social science journals ranging from JAMA to Social Science and Medicine on faith healing of addiction in Puerto Rico, psychiatric disability under welfare reform, addiction pharmaceuticals and race, and ethnic marketing of pharmaceuticals. She has received major funding from NIDA, the Mellon Foundation, and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

Thomas Smith, M.D., is associate medical director, New York State Office of Mental Health (NYS OMH), and special lecturer in the department of psychiatry at Columbia University. He oversees clinical and quality aspects of the New York State public mental health system with a focus on improving access to prevention, recovery, and rehabilitation services for persons with serious mental illness (SMI). He has directed NIMH, foundation, and state-supported projects focusing on engagement strategies for high-need persons with SMI, services for persons with first-episode psychosis, and inpatient psychiatry discharge planning and care transition practices. Dr. Smith earned his M.D. at Wayne State University School of Medicine and completed his psychiatry residency at the University of Chicago. He is the recipient of the NARSAD Young Investigator Award, the Jacob and Valeria Langeloth Foundation Award, and the NIMH Academic Career Award and is a fellow at the American Psychiatric Association.
