Welcome Letter From the President

Dear APA Members and Guests,

Welcome to the American Psychiatric Association's Institute for Psychiatric Services: The Mental Health Services Conference in New York City. Over the next three days, we'll discuss the vital theme of "Improving Access through Innovation and Collaboration."

This topic reflects the reality of today's health care landscape. As physicians, I believe we have a moral and ethical imperative to help address our nation's broken mental health care system so that our patients can get the care they need to thrive. We cannot accomplish this without our colleagues in other mental health disciplines. We are all stakeholders and we need to support each other in the difficult but rewarding work of improving access to high quality care.

This year our scientific program is designed to stimulate the bold thinking that will be required to transform our health care system, and to explore ways we can better work together to more effectively serve our patients and communities.

During this meeting you will hear perspectives from across the spectrum of mental health care, including clinical experts, policy leaders, and patients. You will have access to cutting edge educational content from clinicians who work in multi-disciplinary settings, including a special symposium titled "The Role of Interdisciplinary Collaboration in the Evolving Health Care System: Past, Present, and Future." You can choose from a variety of important sessions focused on community-based topics such as systems work, health equity, and co-occurring disorders.

This year's IPS is presented in partnership with the World Psychiatric Association, and this collaboration has resulted in some special sessions covering topics with international impact like WPA's Mission, Vision, and Action Plans, as well as climate psychiatry, and physician mental health and well-being.

One of the outstanding features of IPS is how accessible you'll find the presenters to be and how inspiring it is to hear about the vital work being done in communities by mental health providers from all disciplines. I encourage you to take advantage of the opportunities offered by IPS to network with your fellow attendees who work across the spectrum of mental health care, including social workers, advanced practice psychiatric nurses, psychologists and counselors.

We are committed to ensuring that IPS is the very best meeting it can be. We are holding an interactive town hall on the 2021 IPS and beyond, because we want your input to help reshape and enhance IPS to maximize its value to the entire mental health community. I hope you'll join me and other APA leaders as we discuss ways to build on the qualities that make IPS great and develop a conference for the future that will continue to anticipate and serve this community's needs.

I hope you enjoy your time in New York, and I look forward to getting an opportunity to meet and join you as we forge lasting partnerships. Together, we'll share and develop our skills in helping those with mental illness live more healthy and rewarding lives.

Welcome Letter

From the Scientific Program Committee Chair

Dear Colleagues and Guests,

Welcome to the Empire City and IPS 2019. Although it's only been a little more than a year since APA has been to New York City, you'll probably notice the skyline has been changing and continues to edge upwards. New York has a history of tearing down old structures to make space for the bigger and better, but it also respects its past and heritage preserving those parts which make the heart of the city thrive. We hope to follow New York's example and examine the necessary and changeable parts of IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference.

Dr. Bruce Schwartz, Dr. Robert Cotes, the committee, and I have put together a program which focuses on the pillars of what has made IPS so well received in the past - community psychiatry, addiction psychiatry, training, and diversity. You'll find these core principles present throughout the conference as values we believe IPS should continue to maintain as our primary focus.

In addition to our reverence to these values, Dr. Schwartz has chosen the theme of this year's IPS to be Improving Access Through Innovation and Collaboration. Innovation will be represented in our diverse symposia and courses representing cutting edge treatments and ideas from some of APA's strongest members. Collaboration will be emphasized by the presence of the non-psychiatric members of our mental health teams. Those of us who have worked in community psychiatry know that it takes a team effort to provide the best care to our patients, and we want to see that team represented as IPS.

Take some time to review everything we have available and plan out your schedule. Don't forget to look at the courses we have to offer, as space is limited. Look for the ($) in this book and the APA Meetings App, which indicates the session is a paid course. Register in advance for courses that interest you.

Don't forget to check out the interactive learning lab, where you'll have the opportunity to 'choose your own adventure' on a unique case study, play a board game to improve physician wellness, and collaborate on intergenerational communications. This experiential learning format is tailored to provide you with new viewpoints and new insights into critical aspects of our profession.

Finally, you can spend a lifetime in New York City and only scratch the surface of what is available. It truly is the center of the universe representing people and cultures from all corners of the globe. A new edition near the convention is the near completion of Hudson Yards and the opening of the Vessel - a unique architectural structure which may give some the feeling of vertigo. Whatever flavor you're looking for, New York City has it.

Thank you for supporting and participating in IPS. We are very happy to have you!

Mission Statement

The mission of IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference is to train and support psychiatrists and other mental health professionals to provide quality care and leadership. Its goal is to ensure optimal care and hope of recovery for individuals who suffer from mental illness, substance abuse or other difficulties through the study of clinical innovations and services to better meet their needs.

Participation Policy

The American Psychiatric Association's policy is to promote an environment of mutual respect, well-being, and collegiality at its meetings. APA values and benefits from the diverse opinions its members hold on the issues with which the Association and the psychiatric profession are confronted. All individuals at the meeting agree to conduct themselves in a manner appropriate for health care professionals. This includes respect for the intellectual property of others, proper display and use of meeting badges, and the avoidance of aggressive or inappropriate behavior towards others. Individuals participating in APA sponsored meetings agree to listen respectfully to all views presented, be courteous to others regardless of whether you agree or disagree with the views presented, and to exhibit the professionalism and collegiality expected of psychiatrists. If an individual believes that these rules have been violated or acceptable social decorum has otherwise been breached, he or she shall contact APA staff to help with the situation. APA reserves the right to remove meeting access rights of any individual violating this policy and will not provide a refund. By registering for this meeting, you agree to abide by the Participation Policy as described above.

General Information

Scientific Session Capacity Guidelines

If a session you would like to attend is over capacity, as indicated by an official posted at the door, please find a different session to attend.

The IPS Scientific Program Committee strives to schedule each session based on prior attendance data and best estimates. In the rare instance in which a session you want to attend is already at capacity, we ask that you attend another session and accept our apology for the inconvenience. Because of room capacity limitations and fire code enforcement, we cannot guarantee each session will be available to every participant.

Please abide by the following guidelines if you are in a crowded room.

- Take a seat as close to the front of the room as possible.
- Move to the center of the row and fill all seats so that chairs are available on the aisles for additional attendees.
- Do not stand or sit in the aisles or lean against walls. Please do not block exits or crowd doorways in violation of fire safety regulations.

The Fire Marshall may shut down an overcrowded session; therefore, please either find a seat or choose another session to attend.

Sunshine Act

The Physician Payment Sunshine Act is a federal law that requires pharmaceutical and device manufacturers under certain circumstances to publicly report any complimentary gift, food, beverage, non-CME-certified education or other item of value given to physicians. Some of the food, product theaters and trinkets that may be available to you at this meeting have been sponsored by companies that may be required to report your receipt of that gift. The APA recommends that you ask the person providing the complimentary item whether your name will be reported under the Act before accepting complimentary products or food so that you can make an independent and educated decision to accept or not accept it.

Tape Recording and Visual Reproduction Policies

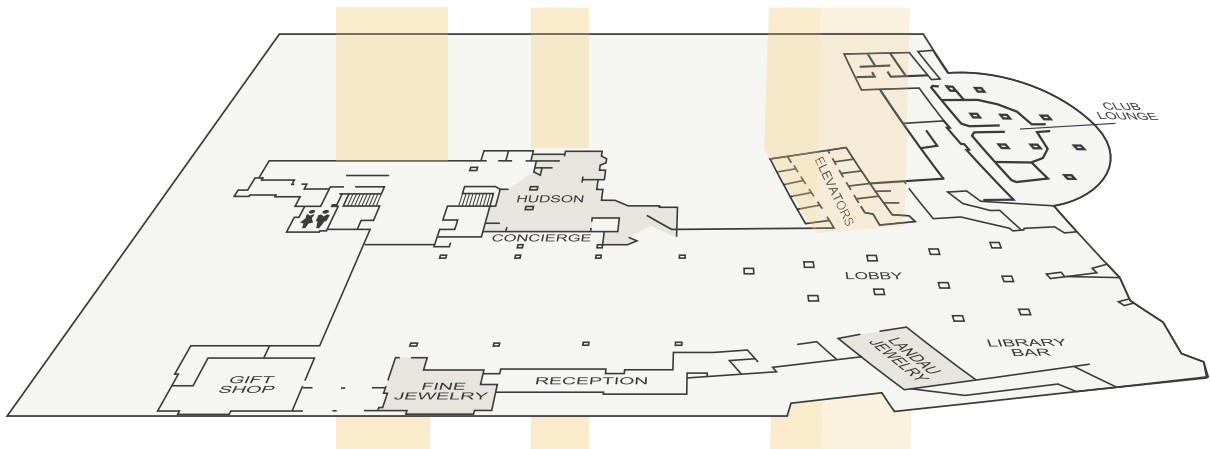

Attendees are not permitted to photograph (including with cell phone cameras) or video record any session, including presentation slides, as the intrusive nature of recording may disrupt the session including presentation slides. Larger, professional recorders are not permitted except for use by registered members of the working press in accordance with APA press policies.

Wi-Fi

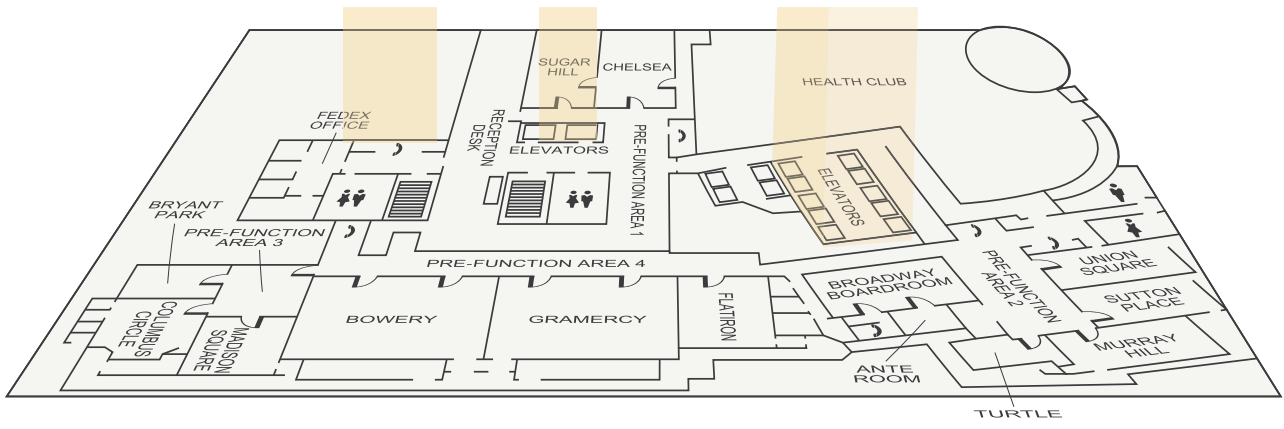

Complimentary Wi-Fi is available throughout the meeting space. Select the Sheraton Meeting Wi-Fi network and use the code: NY2019IPS.

Continuing Medical Education for Physicians

Accreditation/Designation:

- The American Psychiatric Association (APA) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.
- The APA designates this live activity for a maximum of 26 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
- CME credit is earned on an hour-for-hour basis for sessions in the Scientific Program. All sessions provide AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™ with the exception of the opening session, poster sessions and where otherwise specified.

Conference Objectives

At the conclusion of IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference, participants will be able to:

1. Integrate new research and treatment strategies into clinical practice;
2. Identify and improve mental health disparities in the community;
3. Recognize how to bring new innovations into a variety of treatments to improve patient care; and
4. Advance and update skills in community psychiatry treatment.

Target Audience

IPS: The Mental Health Services Conference is designed for psychiatrists, primary care and other physicians, medical students and residents, nurses, physician assistants, psychologists, addiction counselors, social workers, medical educators, administrators and policy makers, public health researchers, consumers, and family members.

APA Learning Center

Education doesn't have to end with the meeting! The APA offers a wide selection of on-demand CME credit programs through the Association's online Learning Management System, and new offerings are available each month. Riverside Ballroom, Third Level, Sheraton New York Times Square

Presenter: Kenneth Bryan Ashley, M.D.

Disclosure Index

American Psychiatric Association Continuing Medical Education Policy on Full Disclosure

For all program planners and presenters at CME activities, the American Psychiatric Association requires disclosure of any financial or other affiliation with commercial organization(s) that may have a direct or indirect interest in the subject matter of the educational activity. Financial relationships may include, but are not limited to, receiving a consulting fee, honoraria, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options, excluding diversified mutual funds) or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, independent contractor (including contracted research), consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees, and other activities from which remuneration is received or expected. ACCME considers relationships of the person involved in the CME activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner.

In compliance with the ACCME's Standards for Commercial Support, the APA has a management of conflict (MCI) process for all CME activities. This process ensures that all conflicts of interest are identified, managed and resolved prior to the educational activity. Additionally, the prospective audience must be informed of the presenters' or program planners' affiliations with every commercial interest by an acknowledgement in the printed program and verbal or visual disclosure to participants at the session (disclosure by slide is required if audiovisual equipment is used for the presentation). Disclosing to learners the relevant financial relationships that were present and resolved assists learners in assessing the potential for bias in the information presented. The APA also requires verbal disclosure of discussion of unlabeled uses of a commercial product or investigational use of a product not yet approved for this purpose.

The presenters and planners listed in section A of the online disclosure index indicated that either they or a spouse/partner have a financial interest or other affiliation with a commercial entity producing, marketing, re-selling or distributing health care goods or services consumed by or used on patients; the company name and affiliation are also listed. Providers of clinical services directly to patients are not considered to be commercial interests. The second group of presenters and planners, listed in section B, indicated that neither they nor a spouse/partner has any relationship to disclose.

All presenters and planners must complete a disclosure in order to participate in an APA CME activity. This disclosure listing includes the presenters and planners of the scientific program and poster sessions.

Focus

The Journal of Lifelong Learning in Psychiatry

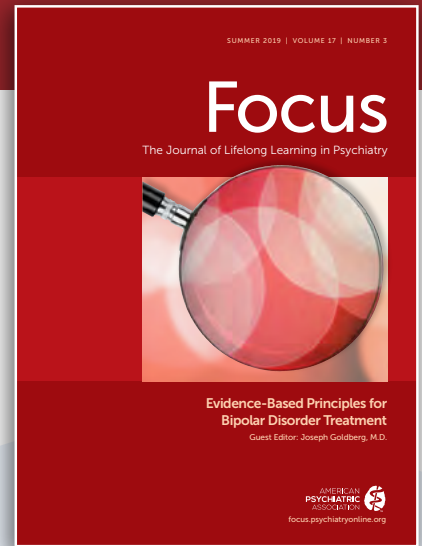

The Best Resource for

- Clinical Synthesis
- Expert Guidance
- Lifelong Learning
- Maintenance of Certification

Focus, APA's quarterly clinical review journal, is designed for practicing psychiatrists to keep abreast of significant clinical knowledge and advances in the field through self-directed lifelong learning. Four issues each year provide comprehensive reviews of major clinical areas of psychiatry. Focus also provides an organized learning and self-assessment program with 44 hours of CME each year.

An Annual Subscription to Focus Gives You:

- Reviews of core areas in psychiatry, with each issue overseen by a Guest Editor clinical expert in that area.
- Articles on best practices, new developments and the current state of practice.
- Quizzes that allow you to earn up to five AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™] by completing CME questions for each issue—for a total of up to 20 CME credits per year.
- An annual 120-question self-assessment exam for an additional 24 CME credits and APBN MOC self-assessment credits that provides you with a comparison of your result against the group score of your peers.
- Online access to back issues (CME credits for issue quizzes available only for your subscription year).

Program Format Descriptions

Courses

Courses provide enriched learning experiences that actively involve participants and include the opportunity for informal exchange with faculty. Offered in four-hour (half-day), six-hour (full-day) and eight-hour (full-day) sessions, courses either review basic concepts in a special subject area or present advanced material on a circumscribed topic. Participation in courses requires advance registration and an additional registration fee.

General Sessions

General Sessions emphasize learning through audience interaction, such as role playing and small group discussion. These 90-minute sessions compose the majority of the scientific program.

Learning Lab

The Learning Lab introduces exciting, innovative ways to learn at the IPS Conference. Each session in the Learning Lab transforms learning through collaboration, rich discussion around issues impacting psychiatry and hands-on learning.

Media Sessions

Media Sessions are three-hour sessions in which a feature-length film is shown and discussed.

Posters Sessions

This format highlights presentations of very recent findings. Posters are visual, self-explanatory presentations. See the Poster Sessions section (page 52) of this guide for a complete schedule of poster presentations. Poster sessions are not offered for CME credit.

Presidential Sessions

Presidential Sessions are prestigious 90-minute presentations by experts in their respective fields, specially invited by the APA President to speak at the meeting. These sessions feature the most prestigious speakers and will cover topics of the greatest relevance to psychiatry today.

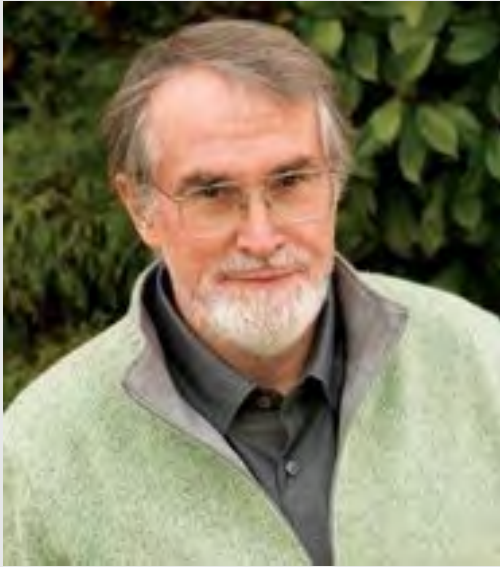

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

OPENING SESSION PRESENTER

Dr. E. Fuller Torrey is a research psychiatrist specializing in schizophrenia and bipolar disorder (also known as manic-depressive illness). He is founder of the Treatment Advocacy Center and associate director for Research of the Stanley Medical Research Institute, which supports research on schizophrenia and bipolar disorder. He is also a professor of psychiatry at the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences.

From 1976 to 1985, Dr. Torrey was on the clinical staff of St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington, D.C., where he specialized in the treatment of severe psychiatric disorders. From 1988 to 1992, Dr. Torrey directed a study of identical twins with schizophrenia and severe bipolar disorder. His work at the Stanley Medical Research Institute currently includes participating in ongoing collaborative research on viruses and other infectious agents as a cause of these diseases. He has also carried out research in Ireland and Papua New Guinea.

Dr. Torrey was educated at Princeton University (B.A., Magna Cum Laude), McGill University (M.D.), and Stanford University (M.A. in anthropology). He trained in psychiatry at Stanford University School of Medicine. He practiced general medicine in Ethiopia for two years as a Peace Corps physician, in the South Bronx in an O.E.O. Health Center, and in Alaska in the Indian Health Service. From 1970 to 1975, he was a special assistant to the Director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Dr. Torrey is a frequent expert guest on national radio and television and has written innumerable guest opinions for national and regional newspapers and magazines. He received two Commendation Medals from the U.S. Public Health Service; a 1984 Special Families Award from the National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI); a 1991 National Caring Award; a research award from the International Congress of Schizophrenia Research; a humanitarian award from NARSAD; a 2005 tribute included in NAMI's 25th Anniversary Celebratory Donor Wall; a 2014 Special Presidential Commendation from the American Psychiatric Association; the 2016 Thomas W. Salmon award from the New York Academy of Medicine; and a 2016 Honorary Degree from McGill University. Born in Utica, New York, in 1937, he is married with two children.

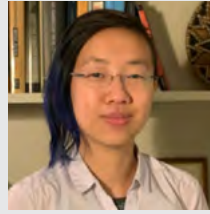

Dr. Torrey has authored 20 books and more than 200 lay and professional papers. His work has been translated into Italian, Japanese, Polish, Russian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, German and Chinese.

LECTURER BIOS

Patrick J. Kennedy

During his 16 years in the U.S. House of Representatives serving Rhode Island's First Congressional District, Patrick J. Kennedy fought to end discrimination against mental illness, addiction, and other brain diseases. He is best known as the lead sponsor of the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act (Federal Parity Law), which requires insurers to cover treatment for mental health and substance use disorders no more restrictively than treatment for illnesses of the body, such as diabetes and cancer. In 2013, Kennedy founded The Kennedy Forum, a think tank focused on advancing evidence-based practices, policies, and programming in mental health and addiction care by uniting mental health advocates, business leaders, and government agencies around a common set of principles, including full implementation and enforcement of the Federal Parity Law. He is also the founder of DontDenyMe.org, a website that empowers consumers and providers to stand up for patient rights under the Federal Parity Law and connects them with essential appeals guidance and resources. Kennedy is co-founder of One Mind, a global leader in open science collaboration for brain research, and Psych Hub, an online repository of educational videos about mental health. In 2015, he co-authored the New York Times Bestseller, "A Common Struggle: A Personal Journey Through the Past and Future of Mental Illness and Addiction." The narrative details his personal struggles, as well as his bold plan for the future of mental health care in America. Kennedy lives in New Jersey with his wife, Amy, and their five children.

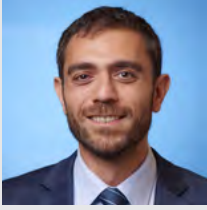

Adrienne Kennedy, M.A.,

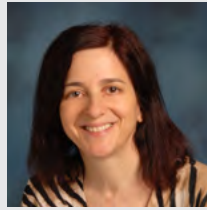

is president of the board, NAMI (National Alliance on Mental Illness). In addition to her NAMI leadership, Adrienne is one of 30 Commissioners named to the Texas Judicial Commission on Mental Health, a permanent commission established in 2018 by the Texas Supreme Court and the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. A retired educator/researcher, Adrienne devotes herself to mental health education and advocacy, after decades of life-changing experiences and the impact of mental health issues on four generations of her family. From earliest years of her teaching career, Adrienne has advocated for keen attention to children's mental health. Spurred by family events –excellent care mixed with systemic missteps and tragedies, her advocacy now focuses on building robust partnerships and Calls to Action across major sectors. Adrienne champions forefront medical research, early identification and intervention, integrated and person-centered healthcare, cultural competence and effective redress of disparities across all areas, especially in the justice system.

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM

LECTURER BIOS

Elie G. Aoun, M.D., is a psychiatrist in general, addiction and forensic practice in New York on faculty at NYU as an emergency psychiatrist. He completed his general psychiatry residency at Brown University, an addiction psychiatry fellowship at UCSF and a forensic psychiatry fellowship at Columbia University. He is the vice chair of the APA's Council on Addiction Psychiatry. Dr. Aoun's work focuses on examining the intersection of Substance Use Disorders (SUD) and the law. Specifically, he works on program development and implementation in reentry models for individuals with SUD.

Lisa Dixon, M.D., M.P.H., is the Edna L. Edison Professor of Psychiatry at the Columbia University Vagelos College of Physicians and Surgeons where she directs the Division of Behavioral Health Services and Policy Research and the Center for Practice Innovations (CPI) at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. Dr. Dixon is an internationally recognized health services researcher with over 25 years of continuous external research funding. She leads OnTrackNY, a statewide initiative designed to improve outcomes and reduce disability for young individuals experiencing psychosis..

Charles B. Nemeroff, M.D., Ph.D., is Professor and Associate Chair for Research, Dept. of Psychiatry at the University of Texas Dell Medical School in Austin, TX. He received his M.D. and Ph.D. degrees from UNC. He serves as the Chief Medical Officer for the ADAA. He is a member of the APA Council of Research. He is a member of the National Academy of Medicine. He has published more than 1100 scientific reports. His research has focused on the pathophysiology of mood and anxiety disorders with a focus on the role of child abuse and neglect as a major risk factor. His research is supported by the NIH.
