

Benjamin Rush Award Lecturers
By Year
1967-2016

The Benjamin Rush Award Lecture was established in 1967 to honor an individual who has achieved renown for his/her contribution to the history of psychiatry from that field or other fields such as medical history, anthropology, or sociology. This award is selected by the Committee on History and Library.

YEAR	TITLE	LECTURER
1967	Affect and Sensibility in Ages of Anxiety - A Comparative Historical View	George Rosen, M.D.
1968	The Dreams of Benjamin Rush	Carl Binger, M.D.
1969	Emotional Disturbance and American Social Change, 1944-1969	H. Stuart Hughes, Ph.D., L.H.D.
1970	The Continuing Search for Meaning	Roy R. Grinker, M.D.
1971	The Origins of Modern Irrationalism in the Last Two Centuries	Sir Isaiah Berlin
1972	Between History and Psychology: Reflections on Psychobiography	David Herbert Donald, Ph.D.
1973	The Use of Stills in the Study of Gender Display	Erving Goffman, Ph.D.
1974	What Became of the Nineteen-Sixties?	C. Vann Woodward, Ph.D.
1975	The Madness of Art	Joseph Leon Edel, Ph.D.
1976	The Significance of Boundaries in Early American History	David Brion Davis, Ph.D.
1977	The Etiquette of Grief: A Literary Generation's Response to Death	Daniel Aaron
1978	Narcissism and Modern Society	Christopher Lasch, Ph.D.
1979	Reductionism: On Psychoanalytic Explanation in History	Peter Gay
1980	Medical Evangelism and Psychiatry: The Case of Psychosomatic Medicine	Dr. Nathan Hale, Jr.

YEAR	TITLE	LECTURER
1981	Dilemmas of Academic Leadership in an Age of Self-Realization	David Reisman
1982	Utopia and Education	Dr. Hannah Gray
1983	The Function of Intermediate Association	Robert Nisbet, Ph.D.
1984	What has Held America Together	Carl N. Degler, Ph.D.
1985	Critics and Dissenters: Anti-Psychiatry in the United States	Norman Dain, Ph.D.
1986	Prelude to Deinstitutionalization	Gerald N. Grob, Ph.D.
1987	Benjamin Rush: Psychiatrist, Physician, and Social Reformer	Ilza Veith, M.D.
1988	Body and Mind in Nineteenth Century Medical Practice: A Clinical Context for Constructing the Neuroses	Charles E. Rosenberg, Ph.D.
1989	The Great Neurosis: Clinical Constructions of Hysteria, 1876-1895	Guenter B. Risse, M.D.
1990	Seeing the Hysteric: Race and Gender in Fin-de-Siecle Psychiatry	Sander L. Gilman, Ph.D.
1991	The Listening Healer in the History of Psychological Healing	Stanley W. Jackson, M.D.
1992	Shame and Humiliation in the Clinical Encounter	Aaron Lazare, M.D.
1993	Gender, Empathy and the New Science: Medicine and Professionalization in Late 19th Century America	Regina Morantz-Sanchez, Ph.D.
1994	Thomas Story Kirkbride and the Art of Asylum-Keeping: Some Sesquicentennial Reflections	Nancy J. Tomes, Ph.D.
1995	What Is Psychiatry All About?	Leston L. Havens, M.D.
1996	Sullivan's Legacy for Achieving Enduring Peace and Social Progress	Helen Swick Perry

Endowed by a grant from Roche Laboratories, a member of the Roche Group.

YEAR	TITLE	LECTURER
1997	For Better or Worse: Interpersonal Relationships and Individual Outcome	Jerry M. Lewis, M.D.
1998	The Empty Self: BPD in Historical Perspective	Elizabeth Lunbeck, Ph.D.
1999	Social and Neurobiological Dimensions of the Compulsion to Forget and Repeat Trauma	Bessel A. van der Kolk, M.D.
2000	Millennial Madness: Religion and Insanity in American History	Ronald L. Numbers, Ph.D.
2001	None Given
2002	Problems Facing Inner-City School Educators and the Role of Psychiatry in Addressing Them	James P. Comer, M.D.
2003	None Given
2004	The Changing Face of Mental Health Services	David Mechanic, Ph.D.
2005	None Given
2006	None Given
2007	None Given
2008	Psychological Trauma and the Lessons of History	Mark S. Micale, M.D.
2009	None Given
2010	None Given
2011	Spies and Lies: Cold War Psychiatry and the CIA	Andrea Tone, Ph.D.
2012	None Given
2013	The Bad Mother in American Psychiatry: Where She Came From, Where She Went, Why Her Story Matters	Anne Harrington, Ph.D.
2014	None Given
2015	None Given
2016	None Given	