Helping Hands Grant Awardees

The American Psychiatric Foundation annual awards Helping Hands grants to medical schools for student-run community mental health programs. Each grant cycle runs for a year from September to September, and medical students are invited to present the outcomes of their projects at the Institute on Psychiatric Services following the end of their grant cycle. The 2011–2012 grant year awardees presenting their projects are:

- Leah Katta and Gabriella Polyak from University of Miami Miller School of Medicine and their “Let’s Talk About It” program.
- Leigh Morrison from University of Cincinnati College of Medicine and her “Off the Streets” program.
- Danielle Alkov from University of California, San Francisco and her “PTSD in formerly incarcerated individuals” program.
- Tiffany Covas from Wake Forest University and her “program to expand mental health services at the student-run free clinic.”
- Travis Ladner from Vanderbilt University School of Medicine and the program “Helping Raise Awareness for Mental Illness and Improving Referral to Community Health Agencies.”

Health Services Research Track

Seventh Annual Health Services Research Track

The APA is pleased to announce the seventh annual Health Services Research Track at IPS. The purpose of this track is to highlight the contributions of health services research to the delivery of effective psychiatric services and sound policy. Through the Senior Scholar Health Services Research Award Lecture and two selected workshops, the HSR track focuses on the importance of evidence-based knowledge as an essential framework for implementing service programs and policy. In addition, the track includes the Health Services Research breakfast, open to all meeting attendees, as the venue for presenting the Health Services Senior Scholar and Health Services Early Career Awards. Of particular interest to young investigators contemplating a career in Health Services Research, the breakfast provides an opportunity to hear from established, as well as beginning researchers in the field.

Mission Statement

Vision, Mission, Values, and Goals of the Institute on Psychiatric Services

VISION

The Institute on Psychiatric Services (IPS) of the American Psychiatric Association is a yearly educational meeting which focuses on the needs of the most vulnerable, disenfranchised, and difficult-to-serve patients.

MISSION

The mission of the IPS is to train and support psychiatrists to provide quality care and leadership through study of the array of clinical innovations and services necessary to meet the needs of individuals who suffer from serious mental illness, substance abuse, or other assaults to their mental health due to trauma or adverse social circumstances, in order to assure optimal care and hope of recovery.

VALUES AND GOALS

To fulfill this mission, the IPS holds an annual meeting each fall that focuses on clinical and service programs, especially those that provide a complex array of services and clinical innovations to meet the needs of the most difficult-to-serve patients. Such programs constitute the continuum of care, from state and general hospitals to community-based drop-in centers, and attempt to meet the needs of persons living in rural communities, as well as the urban poor. The focus on more difficult-to-serve patients requires attention to the social and community contexts in which these patients are treated and reside. Contextual issues must be addressed because they operate as significant variables in the course of the psychiatric illnesses of certain patient populations such as those with severe and persistent mental illness, members of minority groups and those suffering economic hardships, most children and adolescents, the elderly, patients living in rural communities or in communities of immigrants, and patients treated in settings for physically or intellectually disabled individuals.

The IPS, therefore, fosters discussions of such issues as housing and vocational rehabilitation equally with innovative psychological treatments and pharmacotherapy. The clinical focus of the IPS is on innovations and adaptations of proven therapies as they are applied to the more difficult-to-serve populations. The IPS also serves as a forum for discussing systems of care, quality management, government policy, and social and economic factors as they have an impact on the most vulnerable patients.

The mission of the IPS is of particular significance to an important subset of APA members who are its prime constituents. This includes psychiatrists who identify themselves as in community practice, those involved in teaching community practice, those who serve in the public sector, such as staff working in state, community, and Veterans Affairs hospitals, community clinics, jails, or other community agencies, psychiatric administrators and those with a particular interest in the social issues that have an impact on patients. It is a goal of the IPS to provide a venue for relevant scientific programs that will retain such psychiatrists as valued members of the APA and attract colleagues who are not yet members. The IPS functions as a prime APA service to these important, devoted, and often isolated colleagues, many of whom are psychiatrists of color or international medical graduates. It is the goal of the IPS to reach out and encourage these psychiatrists to join the APA and attend this meeting. In turn, the APA will strive to ensure that the IPS serves as a professional home for these groups of colleagues.

Serving the populations that have been identified as the focus of the IPS involves collaboration with a wide variety of other professionals as well as with consumers, family members, and advocates. Therefore, an important part of the mission of the IPS is to encourage interdisciplinary and family member participation. Indeed, this mission has been an organizing principle of the IPS since its inception. Efforts will be made to further reach out to families, consumers, and allied professionals in the communities where meetings are held, and attention will be paid to ensuring their access to the IPS. The IPS is supportive of allied psychiatric organizations who share a similar vision and mission for which the IPS can serve as a scientific venue. It is part of the mission of the IPS to meet the needs of such allied groups for meeting times and space.

Format Descriptions

COURSES

Courses are designed so that the attendee will be able to master new material in depth. The courses also offer practical learning experiences that actively involve attendees and include the opportunity for informal exchange with the faculty. Offered in four- or six-hour sessions, courses either review basic concepts in a specialized subject area or offer advanced material on a circumscribed topic.

DISCUSSION GROUPS

This format provides attendees with an informal setting to share information, discuss concerns and develop possible solutions related to challenges faced in specific areas of mental health care.

INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS

These formal presentations will feature presenters who will describe creative, effective and provocative programs that work in their facilities. Each presenter is allotted 20 minutes to present a description of his/her work, followed by 10 minutes of discussion. This format is grouped, by topic, with two other proposals and presented at a 90-minute session conducted by a chairperson selected by the Scientific Program Committee.

LECTURES

This format features a small number of distinguished speakers who will make formal presentations on scientific and cultural topics, which extend our understanding beyond the usual limits. Lecturers are invited by the Scientific Program Committee.

POSTERS

These informal presentations provide presenters the opportunity to post new results, research advances, new program features or model program information.

SYMPOSIA

These three-hour or 90-minute sessions are thematically linked and focus on a specific topic relevant to clinical psychiatry or systems of care. They are designed to provide a more formal, didactic approach to the topic and present it from several points of view to stimulate discussion.

WORKSHOPS

These sessions typically involve brief presentations from individual panel members, followed by the opportunity for lively and informative discussion. This format provides for substantial audience participation and should be highly interactive.

Disclosure Index

American Psychiatric Association Continuing Medical Education Policy On Full Disclosure

The American Psychiatric Association requires disclosure, by presenters at CME activities, of any significant financial or other affiliation with commercial organization(s) that may have a direct or indirect interest in the subject matter of the scientific program. A “financial interest” may include, but is not limited to: being an employee, being a shareholder in the organization; being on retainer with the organization; or having research or honoraria paid by the organization. An “affiliation” may include holding a position on an advisory committee, speakers bureau or some other role or benefit to a supporting organization.

In compliance with the ACCME’s Standards for Commercial Support, the APA has a management of conflict (MCI) process for all CME activities. This process ensures that all potential conflicts of interest are identified, managed and resolved prior to the educational activity. The prospective audience must be informed of the presenter’s affiliation with every commercial supporter by an acknowledgement in the printed program and verbal or visual disclosure to participants at the session (disclosure by slide or overhead is required if audiovisual equipment is used for the presentation). This policy is intended to openly identify any potential conflict(s) so that members of the audience in an educational activity are able to form their own judgments about the presentation. The APA also requires verbal disclosure of discussion of unlabeled uses of a commercial product or investigational use of a product not yet approved for this purpose.

The presenters on the following pages have indicated that either they or an immediate family member has a significant interest or other affiliation with a commercial supporter of this meeting and/or with the manufacturer(s) of a commercial product(s) and/or provider of commercial services(s), and the company name is listed. The second group of presenters has indicated neither they nor an immediate family member has any significant relationship to disclose.

The Changing Face of Psychosis

Lecturer: David Healy, M.D.

Chair: David Pollack, M.D.

Co-Chair: Michael Yao, M.D., M.P.H.

David Healy, M.D., studied medicine at University College Dublin and at Cambridge University and is currently a professor of psychiatry at Bangor University. Dr. Healy is a former secretary of the British Association for Psychopharmacology, and the author of over 175 peer-reviewed articles, 200 other pieces and 20 books, including The Antidepressant Era and The Creation of Psychopharmacology, The Psychopharmacologists, Volumes 1-3: Let Them Eat Prozac, Mania, & Pharmageddon. His main areas of research are clinical trials in psychopharmacology, the history of psychopharmacology and the impact of both trials and psychotropic drugs on our culture. Additionally, Dr. Healy has been involved as an expert witness in homicide, suicide and birth defect legal actions involving psychotropic drugs, and in bringing problems with these drugs to the attention of American and British regulators, as well raising awareness of how pharmaceutical companies sell drugs by marketing diseases and co-opting academic opinion-leaders and ghost-writing their articles.

Elyn Saks, J.D., Ph.D.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 2012

Program changes are posted on the bulletin board in the foyer outside Metropolitan Ballroom, Second Floor

Elyn R. Saks, J.D., Ph.D., is Orrin B. Evans Professor of Law, Psychology, and Psychiatry and the Behavioral Sciences at the University of Southern California Gould School of Law; Adjunct Professor of Psychiatry at the University of California, San Diego, School of Medicine; and Faculty at the New Center for Psychoanalysis. Professor Saks received her B.A. from Vanderbilt University, where she was class Valedictorian; an M.Litt. in philosophy from Oxford University, where she was on a Marshall Scholarship; a J.D. from Yale Law School, where she was an editor on the Yale Law Journal; and a Ph.D in Psychoanalytic Science from the New Center for Psychoanalysis, where she was awarded the Jaque Brien Prize. Saks writes extensively in the area of law and mental health, having published four books (with a fifth in press) and more than forty articles and book chapters. Her most recent book, The Center Cannot Hold: My Journey Through Madness, is a departure from her academic writing. Her memoir describes her struggles with schizophrenia and her managing to craft a good life for herself in the face of a dire prognosis. Saks is also a 2009 recipient of a John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Fellowship (the so-called “Genius Grant”). Saks has taken part of that grant to found the Saks Institute for Mental Health Law, Policy, and Ethics at USC, a think tank studying the intersection of law, mental health, and ethics. Saks hopes the institute will become the go-to place for policy makers facing hard decisions in mental health law.

Co-Chair: Milos Starovic, M.D.

Mark Ragins, M.D., is the medical director at the MHA Village Integrated Service Agency in Long Beach, California, an award winning model of recovery-based mental health services, where he has worked, since its beginning in 1990, as a psychiatrist for the adult service coordination teams, the Homeless Assistance Program, the Transition Age Youth Academy, and the Welcoming Team. His practice and vision have been grounded in more than 20 years of clinical work with some of the most underserved and difficult to engage people in the community. Dr. Ragins has given hundreds of presentations and lectures to wide-ranging audiences both nationally and internationally and has become one of the true pioneers and leaders of recovery-based psychiatry. His writings include a short book, A Road to Recovery, which has been translated into Japanese and Korean. Further, he was featured in Steven Lopez's book, The Soloist. Dr. Ragins has won a number of awards including the APA's Van Amerigan Award and USpra's John Beard Award for his outstanding lifetime contribution to psychiatric rehabilitation. He is also a distinguished fellow of the American Psychiatric Association.

Preparing for the New Healthcare Ecosystem: Integrating Behavioral & Physical Health

Lecturer: Linda Rosenberg, M.S.W.

Chair: Lori Raney, M.D.

Co-Chair: Abigail Hawkins, M.D.

Linda Rosenberg, M.S.W., has over 30 years of mental health policy and practice experience, focusing on the design, financing, and management of behavioral health services. Since 2004, Ms. Rosenberg has been president and CEO of the National Council for Community Behavioral Healthcare, a not-for-profit advocacy and educational association of almost 1,800 organizations that provide treatment and support services to 6 million adults and children with mental illnesses and addictions. Under her leadership, the National Council has more than doubled its membership, helped to secure the passage of the federal mental health and addiction parity law, expanded financing for integrated behavioral health/primary care services, was instrumental in bringing behavioral health to the table in federal healthcare reform and played a key role in introducing the Mental Health First Aid public education program in the United States. Prior to joining the National Council, Ms. Rosenberg served as the senior deputy commissioner for the New York State Office of Mental Health, where she strengthened the voice of consumers and families in the policy-making process, promoted the adoption of evidence-based practices including tripling New York's assertive community treatment capacity, expanded children's services, developed housing options for people with mental illnesses and addictions and implemented a network of jail diversion programs including New York's first mental health court. A certified social worker, family therapist, and psychiatric rehabilitation practitioner, Ms. Rosenberg has held faculty appointments at a number of schools of social work and serves on many agency and editorial boards.

Recovery Oriented Prescribing: Increasing the Effectiveness of Psychiatric Medications

Lecturer: Ronald J. Diamond, M.D.

Chair: Omar Mirza, M.D.

Co-Chair: Rajiv Loungani, M.D.

Ronald J. Diamond, M.D., is professor in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and is medical director of the Mental Health Center of Dane County. Dr. Diamond also serves as a Consultant to the Wisconsin Bureau of Mental Health and Substance Abuse. He received his M.S. and medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania, completed his residency at Stanford University and completed a Social Science post-doctoral fellowship at the University of Wisconsin. For more than 30 years, Dr. Diamond has been involved in the community-based treatment of persons with severe and persistent mental illness and has taught and written on issues of staff training, ethics, staff roles, decreasing coercion, medication compliance, psychiatric administration and system design. For more than a decade, he has been interested in how to integrate concepts of recovery and cultural competence into day-to-day clinical practice. Dr. Diamond has written two books on psychopharmacology designed for non-medical clinicians, consumers, and family members — Instant Psychopharmacology, in 2009 and Treatment Collaboration: Improving the Therapist, Prescriber, Client Relationship, in 2007. His most recent book, The Medication Question: Weighing Your Mental Health Treatment Options was published in 2011.

Comparative Effectiveness of Collaborative Chronic Care Models for Mental Health Conditions Across Primary, Specialty and Behavioral Health Care Settings: Systematic Review and Meta-Analysis

American Journal of Psychiatry's Editors' Choice Award

Lecturer: Mark Bauer, M.D.

Chair: Hassan Fathy, M.D.

Co-Chair: Daniel Roman, M.D.

Mark Bauer, M.D., is a professor of psychiatry at Harvard Medical School and on staff at the VA Boston Healthcare System, where he also serves as associate director of the Center for Organization, Leadership, and Management Research (COLMR), a national VA Health Services Research and Development Center of Excellence. Dr. Bauer's dual research foci have been on testing and implementing care models for the seriously mentally ill in flexible formats that respond to the needs of real-world clinical settings, and assessing, designing, and executing large multidisciplinary database studies to guide intervention development. Notably, he has concurrent, extensive experience as a healthcare administrator having served as psychiatry service chief, mental health service chief, and acting chief of staff in the VA healthcare system. Dr. Bauer is also the developer and director of the VA National Bipolar Disorders TeleHealth Program, a novel strategy for implementing care management for this disorder across a national healthcare system. He has won regional or national awards for clinical care, teaching, research, and healthcare administration, including the Irma Bland Award for Teaching Residents from American Psychiatric Association and the Gerald

R. Klerman Senior Investigator Award from the Depression and Bipolar Support Alliance. Dr. Bauer has published over 100 peer-reviewed scientific articles and six books.

Co-Chair: Rachel Zinns, M.D., Ed.M.

Maxine Golub, M.P.H., is senior vice president, planning and development, and is responsible for grant development and the oversight of grant-funded programs. She also provides leadership for organizational development, public relations and communications activities. She serves as a liaison to the Institute's funders and community partners, and has served as a trainer for the Institute's organizational diversity committee and faculty development programs. Ms. Golub is also an active participant in Bronx Health REACH, a community based participatory research project aimed at eliminating racial disparities in health. She also serves as the project director for the Metropolitan Region of the New York State Area Health Education Center (AHEC) System. Ms. Golub has more than twenty-five years experience administering primary care programs and addressing the challenges faced by providers and consumers within New York's complex urban health care system. Before joining the Institute in 1989, she served as executive director of the Bronx Committee for the Community's Health, a coalition of community health centers. She plays an active role in advocating for more rational health policy in New York, and in 2003, she received the Rosemarie Forstner Award "for outstanding dedication to making health care more accessible to the medically underserved" from the Community Health Care Association of New York State. Ms. Golub holds a master of public health degree from the Hunter College School of Health Science and a bachelor of science in human development and family studies from Cornell University, and has published in several peer-reviewed journals.

APA's John Fryer Award

Lecturer: Marjorie J. Hill, Ph.D.

Chair(s): Mary Barber, M.D., Philip Bialer, M.D.

Co-Chair: Laura Erickson-Shroth, M.D.

Marjorie J. Hill, Ph.D., is the chief executive officer of Gay Men's Health Crisis (GMHC), the oldest AIDS service and advocacy organization in the world. GMHC provides a continuum of services to 12,000 persons annually, paired with robust public policy advocacy. Dr. Hill previously served as HIV/AIDS Assistant Commissioner for the New York City Department of Health, providing administrative oversight for a $300 million budget, covering HIV prevention, treatment, research and AIDS housing programs. In this capacity, Dr. Hill was the principle HIV/AIDS policy spokesperson for the city of New York. Former positions also include commissioner for the NYS Workers' Compensation Board and director of the Mayor Dinkins' office for the Lesbian and Gay Community. During her tenure in these positions, Dr. Hill implemented successful initiatives in public safety, citywide EEO, HIV/AIDS public education and the NYC Domestic Partnership policy. A licensed clinical psychologist, she has expertise in cultural diversity, HIV/AIDS in communities of color, organizational development and homophobia. Prior faculty appointments include Yeshiva University, New York Medical College and the College of New Rochelle. With a firm foundation in grass roots organizing, Dr. Hill has provided leadership to scores of community-based organizations and has received numerous awards and citations for outstanding service.

Research on Socially-Assigned Race Health and Mental Health

Lecturer: Camara P. Jones, M.D., M.P.H., Ph.D.

Chair: Annelle Primm, M.D., M.P.H.

Co-Chair: Dawn Sung, M.D.

Camara P. Jones, M.D., M.P.H., Ph.D., is a family physician and epidemiologist whose work focuses on the impacts of racism on the health and well-being of the nation. She seeks to broaden the national health debate to include not only universal access to high quality health care, but attention to the social determinants of health (including poverty) and the social determinants of equity (including racism). She currently conducts research on social determinants of health and equity in the Epidemiology and Analysis Program Office at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. As a methodologist, she has developed new methods for comparing full distributions of data, rather than simply comparing means or proportions, in order to investigate population-level risk factors and propose population-level interventions. As a social epidemiologist, her work on race-associated differences in health outcomes goes beyond documenting those differences to vigorously investigating the structural causes of the differences. As a teacher, her allegories on race and racism illuminate topics that are otherwise difficult for many Americans to understand or discuss. She hopes through her work to initiate a national conversation on racism that will eventually lead to a National Campaign Against Racism. Dr. Jones was an assistant professor at the Harvard School of Public Health and is currently an adjunct professor at the Rollins School of Public Health and an adjunct associate professor at the Morehouse School of Medicine.

Visit the APA Member Center

Get answers to your questions.
Learn more about APA programs.

Here is a sample of what you will find in the APA Member Center:

- Update your online APA member profile, pick up the new APA Member Advantage, your guide to navigating the many programs and services offered by the APA, or if you are not currently a member stop by to complete an application form for membership and to learn more about the cost-saving benefits of membership, including the APA-endorsed malpractice insurance program, free financial consultations, discounts on credit card payment processing programs, personal discounts on auto and home insurance, and much more.
- Search APA JobCentral for the most comprehensive listings of psychiatric positions, post your career opportunities online, and ask a JobCentral representative for a demonstration of some new enhancements available for both employers and job-seekers. Both will also be able to flag their job positions or resume to show they are in attendance at the Institute to connect for an on-site interview.
- Sign up to receive daily Psychiatric News Alerts.
- Pick up newsletters such as Mental HealthWorks and Psychiatric Research Report.
- Learn about APA's efforts to eliminate disparities in mental health care through OMNA on Tour.
- Take home information about the APA Practice Guidelines.
- Learn about fellowships and scholarships for residents and medical students.
- Pick up information on electronic health records and performance measures.
- Discover how the American Psychiatric Foundation's grants and programs raise public awareness that mental illnesses are real and treatable.
- Learn about educational and clinical resources for the treatment of psychiatric complications in patients with HIV/AIDS.
- Obtain the latest on the CPT coding changes for psychiatric services for 2013, Medicare, practice management, and managed care.
- Learn how to join the member dialogue on integrated care.
- Learn about APA's CME journal, FOCUS: The Journal of Lifelong Learning in Psychiatry, and about how the FOCUS self-assessment program can help you prepare for recertification.
- Explore APA CME online, including 2012 Annual Meeting On Demand and the new Practice Guidelines courses.
- Discover ways to fulfill your MOC requirements.

The ONLY APA-endorsed Medical Malpractice Program

Join your colleagues who have chosen to be represented by our professional team and our program which is endorsed by the most prominent association in your profession — the American Psychiatric Association.

As an Allied World policyholder you will benefit from the experience of an internationally recognized Risk Management Team who will guide you through the ever-changing exposures that you may encounter in your psychiatric practice. Our Team is available to our policyholders 24 hours a day, seven days a week through our hotline.
