In this book, you will find four sections: 175th Anniversary, Program, New Research and the Exhibits Guide. Use these sections to navigate the 2019 Annual Meeting and experience all the meeting has to offer. We’re glad you’re joining us.

The special 175th Anniversary section includes an overview of activities related to the celebration at this year’s Annual Meeting and historical content about the association. The New Research section lists the posters that will be presented at this meeting, organized numerically by session/day. There is a topic index at the end of the New Research section to assist you in finding the posters most interesting to you.

Located within the Program, you will find a description of the various scientific session formats along with a log where you can record your daily attendance for the purpose of obtaining CME credit for your activities. The Program is first organized by day, then by session start time, with formats and sessions listed alphabetically under those times. Individual meeting days and program tracks are color-coded to make navigating the Program simple.

The Exhibits Guide contains an acknowledgement to exhibitors for sponsorships, a list of the exhibitors and a floor plan of the Exhibit Hall, along with information about the Product Theaters, Therapeutic Updates, Career Fair, and Publishers Book Fair. Use this guide and the included exhibitor and author/presenter indices to navigate the exhibit hall and find precisely the booth you’re looking for.

If you have any questions about this book or the scientific program, please feel free to stop by the Education Center, Upper Mezzanine, Moscone South, and a member of the APA Administration will be happy to assist you. All members of the APA Administration will wear green badges.

Welcome from the Scientific Program Committee

Dear Colleagues and Guests,

Welcome to the 2019 Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association and the celebration of the 175th Anniversary of the APA set in the exciting backdrop of San Francisco! We are thrilled that you have chosen to attend this annual meeting and hope you will embrace everything we have to offer. This year’s theme is Revitalize Psychiatry: Disrupt, Include, Engage & Innovate, and there are many ways for you to embrace this theme.

The program includes more than 650 sessions, plus invited lectures by experts in the field. Hundreds of posters in eight poster sessions allow you the opportunity to speak directly with your colleagues about topics. Thirty-eight courses, including five day-long master courses, will explore a broad array of issues in-depth. There are multiple “tracks” to encourage you to build your own learning itinerary based on your interests (Addiction, Children and Adolescents, CL, Diversity and Health Equity, Forensics, Geriatrics, NIDA, Research, Resident and ECP Leadership). You can enhance your technical skills in Mental Health Innovations and explore issues hands-on in Learning Labs. There are many opportunities for residents and fellows to meet with mentors. Participants can also take advantage of venues to connect with colleagues, including Allied Group meetings, forums, and the Exhibit Hall. Don’t miss our opening session featuring Valerie Jarrett, senior advisor to former President Barack Obama, who will speak on leadership and the responsibilities of a 21st century citizen; our Convocation speaker is La June Montgomery Tabron, CEO of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, who will speak on Racial Equality, Inclusiveness, and Innovation.

In addition to the excitement of the annual residents’ MindGames competition, we are having a historical MindGames, in honor of our celebration of the 175th Anniversary of the APA. In addition, a historical track has been added that elaborates on the evolution of psychiatry. Our celebration culminates with the 175th Anniversary gala at the San Francisco City Hall (by ticket only) with proceeds benefiting the American Psychiatric Association Foundation.

Oy, so much to do, so little time! So happy you are here, and hope your learning and networking journey fills you with excitement and energy.

Welcome from the APA President

Dear Colleagues and Guests,

Leaders in psychiatry from the U.S. and around the world gathering here for APA’s 2019 Annual Meeting are offering an educational and inspiring program for APA members and guests.

This year’s meeting will address some of the key issues facing psychiatrists today, as well as look back at our history as we celebrate APA’s 175th Anniversary. The Scientific Program features a special historical track and a special event, the 175th Anniversary Gala at San Francisco’s City Hall, which will benefit the APA Foundation.

The theme for this year’s Annual Meeting is Revitalize Psychiatry: Disrupt, Include, Engage & Innovate.

Revitalize reflects the opportunity for embracing change and our responsibility to pursue a more meaningful and compelling future for our field. Disrupt represents action and change—shaking things up, broadening our approach to the future and being unafraid to take chances on different approaches in the field of psychiatry. Include underscores the need to embrace diversity, address disparities and work actively to increase access to mental health services for all. Engage refers to identifying with those feeling disaffected and reaching out to psychiatrists, patients, trainees, and policymakers. Innovate is deliberately broad to include new ideas in research, education, care, policy, and technology.

At the Opening Session, Saturday at 4:00 p.m., Valerie Jarrett, senior advisor to former President Obama, will present an optimistic perspective on the importance of leadership and the responsibilities of citizenship in the 21st Century. Don’t miss La June Montgomery Tabron, W.K. Kellogg Foundation president and CEO, presenting the William C. Menninger Memorial Convocation Lecture on Monday at 5:30 p.m. Tabron will discuss the unique role psychiatrists have in addressing disparities and building racial reconciliation.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) will present a series of six sessions looking at issues related to opioid misuse and big data in neuroscience. NIDA Director Nora Volkow, M.D., will present on new therapies for opioid use disorder and psychiatrists’ role in addressing the opioid crisis. National Institute of Mental Health (NIMH) Director Joshua Gordon, M.D., Ph.D., and former NIMH Director and past President of the APA Herbert Pardes, M.D., will chair a panel of scientists for a discussion of current and future mental health research. The panel will focus on research in the areas of neural circuits, suicide prevention and computation/theoretical psychiatry.

I encourage you to stop by the Mental Health Innovation Zone, which explores the question of what’s next in mental health technology. It features curated educational activities of new ideas, technology, digital medicine, entrepreneurship, networking opportunities, and more. I also encourage you to visit APA Central in the Exhibit Hall to learn about APA services, programs and resources.

For the latest information and meeting updates, please download the APA Meetings App (psychiatry.org/app) and follow @APAPsychiatric on Twitter. Join the conversation and engage during the meeting using #APAAM19 and #APA175.

With the outstanding scientific program and the immense array of cultural attractions in our host city, we’re looking forward to an informative and motivating experience for attendees at the 2019 APA Annual Meeting. Welcome to San Francisco!

Welcome from the APA CEO and Medical Director

Dear Colleagues and Guests,

Welcome to San Francisco, for the 172nd APA Annual Meeting. This year’s meeting is particularly special as we celebrate our association’s 175th anniversary.

Much of the groundwork for the future of psychiatry is set at the Annual Meeting, where so much groundbreaking research and work is shared with the world. To best understand where psychiatry might go in the future, it’s important to understand the link between our shared past and the present day.

It is incredible to think of how our association began, when 13 heads of mental asylums gathered together in Philadelphia in 1844. They were united by a desire to improve the lives of people with mental illness who, at the time, were largely cared for in substandard conditions. APA members now number in the tens of thousands, and it is important that all of us honor and remember the drive and compassion of our founders, which helped their patients live better lives.

The legacy of cooperation and innovation our founders left behind helped psychiatry grow into the prestigious medical specialty it is today. I hope that same spirit carries through into a future in which the health care landscape promises to evolve rapidly, presenting new opportunities and new challenges.

Our understanding of the mind, brain and body is much greater today than when the APA was born, and though there are always challenges, psychiatrists are extremely successful in delivering effective, high-quality, evidence-based care to our patients. Many of the problems of those early days still persist, however, leaving much that still needs to be accomplished as psychiatry presses on into the future.

During this meeting, it is my hope that our special 175th Anniversary program will help our members use the lessons of the past as a platform for the foundational change needed to address the big problems that affect our patients and practice, like treatment gaps among minority/underrepresented groups, high incarceration rates for people with mental illness, access to care, the opioid crisis, and stigma.

The APA has shaped 175 years of American psychiatry, and I hope that all attendees gain a thorough and critical understanding of the events and ideas that make up our shared past, so that we can challenge and update them for the future.

Thank you for joining me in San Francisco as we honor and celebrate the legacy of those who went before us, and forge ahead in creating a new one for our patients and our profession.

If you haven’t done so already, I encourage you to download the APA Meetings App for easy access to program information and the latest updates and alerts during the meeting. The app contains a treasure trove of content in a very user-friendly package and is a great way to manage your time and connect with your colleagues during the meeting. Download the app today at psychiatry.org/app.

If you’re on Twitter or Facebook, be sure to share your thoughts and experiences on the meeting by using #APAAM19 and #APA175.

Thank you, and I look forward to seeing you in San Francisco!

Welcome from the Northern California Psychiatric Society

Dear Colleagues and Guests,

On behalf of the Northern California Psychiatric Society, welcome to San Francisco, the “City by the Bay.” I invite you to share the spirit of the Northern California Psychiatric Society’s motto “to advance the quality and effectiveness of psychiatric care through advocacy, professional education and camaraderie.” We are delighted that you are here and hope your experience of learning, networking and relaxing with colleagues is memorable.

The San Francisco Bay Area is home to renowned academic psychiatry research, treatment and training programs, a dynamic private practice community, and a large group of community based physicians. There are four, soon to be six, residency programs and multiple fellowship programs in the area, adding desperately needed health professionals to our psychiatric workforce. There are world-class universities in the Bay Area with vested interests in mental health, including the University of California San Francisco, Stanford University, University of California Berkeley, San Francisco State University and the University of San Francisco.

The first ship of discovery sailed into San Francisco Bay in 1775, and settlers followed. San Francisco became the booming entry point to the California gold rush in 1849, when over 90,000 prospectors passed through the Golden Gate in one year on their way to the Sierra foothills. San Francisco was a raucous port and Wild West frontier town when California joined the United States in 1850. The city grew until a devastating earthquake struck in 1906, followed by a three-day firestorm that consumed six square miles of the city and nearly 30,000 buildings with the loss of 3,000 lives. Yet, like the mythological phoenix, San Francisco rose from the ashes to become the center of a metropolitan area of 7 million people known today for its innovation and its cultural, ethnic and racial diversity.

There are many ways to see San Francisco. Perhaps walking gives the best view or our history, architecture and neighborhoods, as well as a view of the contrasts between wealth and poverty, and the challenging issues related to homelessness. From Moscone Center, a walk of three blocks to Market Street and a right turn brings the Ferry Building into view. There, in addition to transportation across the bay, you can find gourmet shops, restaurants and an amazing Saturday farmers market. From the Ferry Building you can walk along the Embarcadero with access to restaurants, bay cruises and trips to Alcatraz. There are several organizations that sponsor free walking tours in the city.

San Francisco has over 20 museums. Among the most visited are SFMOMA, The Asian Art Museum, The DeYoung Museum, The Legion of Honor, and the Oakland Museum of California. For families, check out the Exploratorium and the California Academy of Sciences.

For music, take a walk to San Francisco’s Civic Center and our beautiful City Hall. In the Civic Center area you will find Davies Hall, home of the San Francisco Symphony, the War Memorial Opera House, home of the San Francisco Opera and the San Francisco Ballet. A block away is SFJAZZ for jazz concerts. Or, go to North Beach and visit one of the oldest bars in San Francisco, The Saloon, for live blues. Foodies will find a delightful range of choices from the cozy and economical to sophisticated fine dining.

Our bridges are iconic. The Bay Bridge crosses to the East Bay and Oakland and Berkeley. It is also an easy, quick ride to the East Bay on BART, our subway system. From the Embarcadero at night, the Bay Bridge has a stunning light display. The Golden Gate Bridge connects north to Marin County. You can walk or bike across the Golden Gate for great views of the city. Also, don’t miss a ride on our cable cars. The best ride is the Hyde Street line from the Powel Street turntable to Fisherman’s Wharf. Be ready for the crowd in line.

Golden Gate Park and the San Francisco Presidio National Park are two urban jewels. At over 1,000 acres each they provide diverse recreational opportunities, quiet green space and panoramic vistas of the San Francisco Bay. A bit farther afield North of San Francisco is world-famous California Wine Country in Napa and Sonoma counties and beyond. Springtime is a great time to visit some of the 400 wineries in this region or to take a drive up the scenic Mendocino Coast.

Again, on behalf of the Northern California Psychiatric Society, welcome to San Francisco. We wish you a most rewarding experience at the 175th Anniversary of the American Psychiatric Association.

President, Northern California Psychiatric Society
INDICATION & USAGE
INGREZZA® (valbenazine) capsules is indicated for the treatment of adults with tardive dyskinesia.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

CONTRAINDICATIONS
INGREZZA is contraindicated in patients with a history of hypersensitivity to valbenazine or any components of INGREZZA. Rash, urticaria, and reactions consistent with angioedema (e.g., swelling of the face, lips, and mouth) have been reported.

WARNINGS & PRECAUTIONS

Somnolence
INGREZZA can cause somnolence. Patients should not perform activities requiring mental alertness such as operating a motor vehicle or operating hazardous machinery until they know how they will be affected by INGREZZA.

QT Prolongation
INGREZZA may prolong the QT interval, although the degree of QT prolongation is not clinically significant at concentrations expected with recommended dosing. INGREZZA should be avoided in patients with congenital long QT syndrome or with arrhythmias associated with a prolonged QT interval. For patients at increased risk of a prolonged QT interval, assess the QT interval before increasing the dosage.

ADVERSE REACTIONS

The most common adverse reaction (≥5% and twice the rate of placebo) is somnolence. Other adverse reactions (≥2% and >Placebo) include: anticholinergic effects, balance disorders/falls, headache, akathisia, vomiting, nausea, and arthralgia.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit MedWatch at www.fda.gov/medwatch or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see adjacent page for INGREZZA brief summary or visit www.INGREZZAHCP.com/PI for full Prescribing Information.

Brief Summary: for full Prescribing Information and Patient Information, refer to package insert.

INDICATIONS AND USAGE
INGREZZA® is indicated for the treatment of adults with tardive dyskinesia.

CONTRAINDICATIONS
INGREZZA is contraindicated in patients with a history of hypersensitivity to valbenzine or any component of INGREZZA, Rash, urticaria, and reactions consistent with angioedema (e.g., swelling of the face, lips, and mouth) have been reported.

WARNINGS AND PRECAUTIONS
Somnolence
INGREZZA can cause somnolence. Patients should not perform activities requiring mental alertness such as operating a motor vehicle or operating hazardous machinery until they know how they will be affected by INGREZZA.

QT Prolongation
INGREZZA may prolong the QT interval, although the degree of QT prolongation is not clinically significant at concentrations expected with recommended dosing. In patients taking a strong CYP2D6 or CYP3A4 inhibitor, or who are CYP2D6 poor metabolizers, INGREZZA concentrations may be higher and QT prolongation clinically significant. For patients who are CYP2D6 poor metabolizers or are taking a strong CYP2D6 inhibitor, dose reduction may be necessary. For patients taking a strong CYP3A4 inhibitor, reduce the dose of INGREZZA to 40 mg once daily.

ADVERSE REACTIONS
The following adverse reactions are discussed in more detail in other sections of the labeling:
- Hypersensitivity
- Somnolence
- QT Prolongation

Clinical Trials Experience
Because clinical trials are conducted under widely varying conditions, adverse reaction rates observed in the clinical trials of a drug cannot be directly compared to rates in the clinical trials of another drug and may not reflect the rates observed in practice.

Variable and Fixed Dose Placebo-Controlled Trial Experience
The safety of INGREZZA was evaluated in 3 placebo-controlled studies, each 6 weeks in duration (fixed dose, dose escalation, dose reduction), including 445 patients. Patients were 26 to 84 years of age with moderate to severe tardive dyskinesia and had concurrent diagnoses of mood disorder (27%) or schizophrenia/schizoaffective disorder (72%). The mean age was 56 years. Patients were 57% Caucasian, 39% African-American, and 4% other. With respect to ethnicity, 28% were Hispanic or Latino. All subjects continued previous stable regimens of antipsychotics; 92% had a diagnosis of schizophrenia, 13% had a diagnosis of schizoaffective disorder (27%) or schizophrenia/schizoaffective disorder (28%). The mean age was 56 years. All subjects continued previous stable regimens of antipsychotics; 92% had a diagnosis of schizophrenia, 13% had a diagnosis of schizoaffective disorder (27%) or schizophrenia/schizoaffective disorder (28%). The mean age was 56 years.

Adverse Reactions Leading to Discontinuation of Treatment
A total of 3% of INGREZZA treated patients and 2% of placebo-treated patients discontinued because of adverse reactions.

Common Adverse Reactions
Adverse reactions that occurred in the 3 placebo-controlled studies at an incidence of ≥2% and greater than placebo are presented in Table 1.

Guidelines for Social Media Companies and Tech Innovators
Speakers: Nina Vasan, M.D., Neha Chaudhary, M.D., Gowri Aragam, M.D.
Psychiatrists are helping social media companies design for health by defining what they have a responsibility to do versus guiding what they might opt to do to better address the needs of the general population. With the increasing use of technology in day-to-day life, existing social media companies have leveraged their strengths to more strongly engage users on their platforms. This has allowed for several advantageous phenomena, including rapid spread of educational information or easy recruitment of peer support. However, without any safeguards, the same strengths that allow social media companies to flourish and help users also have the potential to do a lot of harm, and very quickly. Given these serious events and the escalating nature of the problem, psychiatrists and tech companies alike can agree on one thing: there is a clear need to urgently make changes so that the environment online is safe and protective for all users. Just as it is the responsibility of schools and workplaces to ensure the safety of their students and employees, it is the social media company’s responsibility to ensure the safety of its users. How do tech companies ensure their platform is a safe environment? As psychiatrists, we are uniquely poised to weigh in on what that safety means and what it might look like.

Social Media: A Tool for Psychiatrists to Educate and Advocate
Speaker: Jessica Ann Clemons, M.D.
In the Age of Social Media, with over 2.77 billion users globally, there has been a marked change in how an individual forms and identifies social networks, consumes and engages with information, as well as interacts with groups. While the overall impact of social media on an individual remains complex and unknown, it is understood that there are possible benefits and detriments to one’s mental health. Social media’s impact on modern culture, with respect to dissemination of information and effects on mental health, creates an opportunity for psychiatrists to engage on its various platforms by contributing meaningful and useful information as both experts and mental health advocates. We will examine my use of social media, particularly...

Enhancing Patient Care Through an AI Chat Service
Speaker: Angie Joerin, M.S., Nancy Spangler, Ph.D.
The development and use of mental health focused digital solutions, including artificial intelligence (AI), has grown considerably in recent years in response to the global demand for affordable and accessible care. How can AI-based solutions support patient care? In this presentation, we will discuss how one AI-based solution, called Tess, is demonstrating efficacy in delivering mental health support using an integrative therapeutic model. This low-cost, user-friendly, and highly customizable service provides support to thousands of people on their timeframe. We will examine clinical implications, research outcomes, and case studies that demonstrate this digital solution’s potential to meaningfully engage patients and improve quality of care with on-demand conversations, skill building, and health-related check-ins.

11:00 a.m. – Noon
Commercialization of Precision Psychiatry Tools: Promise, Pitfalls, and Realities
Speakers: Harris Eyre, M.D., Ph.D., Mark Heinemeyer, Nina Vasan, M.D., Scott Kaiser, M.D.
Precision psychiatry is shifting screening, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention practices away from a ‘one size fits all’ approach to one tailored to a patients’ unique clinical, biological and environmental profiles. As the science of precision psychiatry develops, so do opportunities for the commercialization of novel clinical tools. Such opportunities include tools based on the collection of sensor, keyboard, voice and speech data from smartphones, which have been correlated to behaviour, cognition and mood. These may be used to navigate the onset, course and outcome of a psychiatric illness. Pharmacogenetics, the study of genetics in relation to psychotropic pharmacodynamics and pharmacokinetics, is also increasingly used to tailor pharmacologic therapy to individual patients. Neuroimaging is showing promise to help guide treatments based on unique neural signatures. This panel will discuss the commercialization of precision psychiatry tools from various perspectives, including executives, researchers, health administrators, marketing and sales experts and clinicians. Viewpoints will be couched in terms of promise, pitfalls and realities.

A New Collaboration Model and Opportunity for Digital Medicine Research
Speaker: Jonathan Knights, Ph.D.
Digital medicine is a sub-discipline within the broader ‘digital health’ movement: It refers to the combination of active pharmaceutical products with digital technologies in the form of wearable and ingestible sensors that operate in conjunction with web- and/or mobile-based applications. These products primarily seek to improve the availability of data around disease management and medication ingestion patterns. Recently, the FDA approved the first ever digital medicine for tracking medication ingestions in patients with serious mental illness. Collaborative and innovative research will be an integral part of fully realizing the potential of this emerging space: Evaluating new technologies and digital solutions alongside digital medicine systems will be imperative. In order to facilitate such research, Otsuka has been grooming an internal accelerator lab that is now available as an externally facing resource for funding collaborative research in digital medicine. This presentation will discuss the digital medicine landscape in serious mental illness, highlight current research being conducted in our digital medicine accelerator lab, as well as outline potential collaborative research funding and partnership opportunities.

Noon – 5:00 p.m.
2019 Psychiatry Innovation Lab Presented by Otsuka America Pharmaceutical, Inc.
Speaker: Nina Vasan, M.D.
The Psychiatry Innovation Lab is an incubator at the APA that aims to catalyze the formation of innovative ventures to transform mental health care. Seven finalists will pitch their ideas to a panel of judges as they compete for the $10,000 grand prize. During the event, the audience will participate by workshopping and brainstorming with the finalists to evaluate, enhance, and improve their ideas prior to their final pitch.

Prescription Digital Therapeutics: A New Addition to Standard of Care?
Speakers: John M. Santopietro, M.D., Yuri Maricich, M.D., M.B.A., Frances Thorndike, Ph.D., Tim Campellone, Ph.D., Ken Weingardt, Ph.D.
What is a medicine? What is a "prescription digital therapeutic"? How is this part of a new standard of care? Novel modalities of medicine and therapeutics, gene editing, cell therapies and now digital therapeutics are delivering new classes of treatments for patients with unmet needs. The medical world is embracing innovative technology, and digital is no exception. But what is the difference between health and wellness apps, and clinically validated prescription digital therapeutics? Are they clinically-validated? How are they regulated? And how do you best evaluate them? In this presentation we aim to answer those questions, and to discuss the application of Prescription Digital Therapeutics (PDTs) to neuropsychiatric medicine. Pear Therapeutics is redefining medicine by discovering, developing, and delivering clinically validated software-based therapeutics to provide enhanced outcomes for patients, increased engagement, decision-making and management.

1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.
Innovating With Design Thinking
Speakers: Mark Yoon, Laurel Hechanova, Sam Gensburg
Have you ever gone deep on a project, only to find out that it doesn’t really solve what you hoped? Design thinking combines empathy and inclusive facilitation to expand both the problem and solution space for a given challenge. We know that disruptive innovation requires creativity — making something that has never existed before, but how? Design thinking asks us to take a step back, challenge our biases, and discover the core issue before we ever discuss the solution. This workshop will present a four-part framework for design thinking and will walk participants through many of the actual exercises used to uncover unmet needs and generate innovative solutions. Participants will have an opportunity to gain hands-on practice in discovery, synthesis, ideation, and validation. This session is an introduction to design thinking and the exercises that make it possible. It will give you the tools to start implementing this process in your own work. You’ll walk away from this workshop with the skills you need to confidently develop innovative products or services. No prior knowledge is required.

Expanding Access to Care With Technology and a Human Touch
Speakers: Connie Chen, M.D., Smita Das, M.D., Ph.D., M.P.H.
Lyra has built an innovative, new approach to delivering that treatment, blending technology and provider-led care to expand access to providers, scale mental health care for large employers and their employees, and enhance the member experience and their speed to recovery. Hear how this novel approach is expanding access and helping more people feel better faster. The integrated platform powers a data-driven care journey for both patient and provider, utilizing digital lessons and exercises, ongoing clinical assessments, 1-1 messaging with providers in between sessions, in conjunction with regular live video sessions with a licensed therapist. The program is designed to help patients improve and recover more quickly with opportunities to build and practice skills in between sessions with their therapist. Early results indicate high engagement and adherence from the patient population, positive feedback from patients and providers, positive trend on patient progress and outcomes, and high rate of graduation from care.

11:00 a.m. - Noon
Can an App Improve Mental Well-Being?
Speakers: David Brudó, Niels Eék
Remente was born out of a personal need, when Remente co-founder David Brudó was burning out and realized that all efforts directed to his mental health were focused on healthcare rather than well-being. With this hard earned insight, David and a team of experts in psychology, mental training and brain training focused on how methods that improve mental well-being could be made available to everyone through digital tools. This resulted in Remente, an app for personal and organizational development that organically has been download more than 1 million times and grows with thousands of new users every day. Together with fellow co-founder and psychologist Niels Eék, David will go through their learnings from changing behavior without human intervention, how their app can help everyone from business leaders to students and people with mental health conditions, and how digital tools can support therapeutic treatments.

PBA symptoms may be making a major impact on patients

Patients diagnosed with neurologic conditions or brain injury may also be suffering from involuntary, sudden, frequent episodes of laughing and/or crying caused by pseudobulbar affect (PBA)\(^1\)\(^-\)\(^3\)

IN A SURVEY OF 280 PATIENTS AND CAREGIVERS\(^t\)

- 58% strongly agreed or somewhat agreed that they/their patient feel(s) withdrawn from those around them in relation to their laughing and/or crying episodes
- 42% said laughing and/or crying episodes contributed to the patient becoming housebound\(^a\)

To learn more about PBA and hear real patients share their personal stories about the impact of PBA, come see Dr. Caplan’s presentation at the Hilton San Francisco Union Square (Continental Ballroom 4-6 on the Ballroom Level in Tower 3) on May 20, and visit us at Booth #1743.

\(^a\) Percentage is a sum of the patients who answered “was the main cause of, contributed a great deal, contributed somewhat” when asked, “To what extent have involuntary episodes of laughing and/or crying contributed to the following life situations?”

Study Design\(^t\): The 1052 participants in the online survey were previously diagnosed with stroke, MS, PD, AD, TBI, or ALS, or were primary caregivers for patients too debilitated to participate. Patients were not required to be clinically diagnosed with PBA. Respondents with a CNS-LS score of \(\geq 13\) were assigned to the PBA group (\(n=399\)); respondents with a CNS-LS score \(<13\) were assigned to the control group (\(n=653\)). The custom questionnaire included only participants in the PBA group who said they had experienced involuntary episodes of laughing or crying that were exaggerated or contrary to how they felt at the time (\(n=280\)).

Disclosure Information

American Psychiatric Association Continuing Medical Education Policy on Full Disclosure

For all program planners and presenters at CME activities, the American Psychiatric Association requires disclosure of all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest in any amount occurring within the past 12 months, including those of spouse/partner. A commercial interest is an entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients. Financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria for promotional speakers’ bureau, ownership interest, or other financial benefit. An “affiliation” may include holding a position on an advisory committee, speakers’ bureau or some other role or benefit to a supporting organization.

In compliance with the ACCME’s Standards for Commercial Support, the APA has a management of conflict (MCI) process for all CME activities. This process ensures that all conflicts of interest are identified, managed and resolved prior to the educational activity. Additionally, the prospective audience must be informed of the presenters’ or program planners’ affiliations with every commercial interest by an acknowledgment in the online disclosure index and verbal or visual disclosure to participants at the session (disclosure by slide is required if audiovisual equipment is used for the presentation). Disclosing to learners the relevant financial relationships that were present and resolved assists learners in assessing the potential for bias in the information that is presented. The APA also requires verbal disclosure of discussion of unlabeled uses of a commercial product or investigational use of a product not yet approved for this purpose.

The presenters and planners listed in section A of the online disclosure index indicated that either they or a spouse/partner have a financial interest or other affiliation with a commercial entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by or used on patients; the company name and affiliation is also listed. Providers of clinical service directly to patients are not considered to be commercial interests. The second group of presenters and planners, listed in section B, indicated neither they nor a spouse/partner have any relationship to disclose.

All presenters and planners must complete a disclosure in order to participate in an APA CME activity. The online disclosure listing includes both the presenters and planners of the Scientific Program and New Research Poster Sessions.

About the APA Library and Archives ........ 58
Story Booths .................................. 59
APA’s members lead the way in advancing psychiatry and mental health. Through psychiatric practice, research and academia, our membership represents the needs and diversity of our patients.

As the foremost psychiatric organization in the world, APA now encompasses members practicing in more than 100 countries.
In 1844, 13 superintendents of our young country’s institutions for people with mental illness came together for the purpose of improving the lives of the individuals under their care. The founders of what they named the Association of Medical Superintendents of American Institutions for the Insane were proponents of moral treatment—the idea that society should provide psychosocial care in a humane environment. One of the founders, Dr. Thomas Kirkbride, devised an architectural plan used in the building of many asylums for decades to come that featured natural light and abundant fresh air surrounded by spacious landscapes.

One hundred and seventy-five years later, the American Psychiatric Association—the flower of that first meeting in 1844—is marking a milestone in its remarkable history. A high point of the year will be the gala at San Francisco City Hall during the meeting.

The celebration in San Francisco means a lot to me—and not just because it marks the culmination of my presidential year. Remembering our roots is dear to me because I trained in Philadelphia and spent a career doing the kind of work in public mental health systems originally envisioned by the founders of what became APA. Today, there is a renewed emphasis on the social determinants of health—which I have tried to underscore during my presidency—and an understanding that real recovery depends on understanding the social context in which a person lives. I like to think that Thomas Kirkbride would smile on this development.

But owning our history also means owning the fact that sometimes we have fallen short of our ideals. “Not everything that is faced can be changed,” James Baldwin famously wrote, “But nothing can be changed that is not faced.” We need to face the fact that racism mars our country’s history from its colonial beginnings and even the history of our profession. One of APA’s founders, Dr. Francis Stribling, insisted there be a Committee on Asylums for Colored Persons, assuring the segregation of treatment by race. In addition, there is no publicly available evidence that in the 1950s APA supported overturning school segregation in the case Brown v. Board of Education. In response to a request by a prominent African-American member, Dr. Charles Prudhomme, to file an amicus brief in the case, he was told to “withdraw from involvement in the case and remain aloof from such a political issue.” Dr. Prudhomme went on to become APA vice president in the 1970s. In May 1969, a group of black psychiatrists led by Dr. Chester Pierce came to a meeting of the APA Board of Trustees demanding that APA acknowledge racism as a mental health problem and work to desegregate all public and private mental health facilities in the United States.

Understanding and facing our past can help us shape the future. We have an exciting opportunity to learn more about our history at the Annual Meeting in San Francisco, where APA and the APA Foundation will be sponsoring a special historical scientific program track. The track will include sessions on the history of psychiatry divided into four separate eras. Here are the four historical eras and their faculty chairs:

- The advent of organized medicine in caring for people with mental illness (colonial times-1844): John Oldham, M.D.
- The dawn of the modern era: reforms in care and treatment (1844-1944): Jeffrey Geller, M.D., M.P.H.
- Advancing diagnosis, treatment and education (1944-present): Carolyn Bauer Robinowitz, M.D.
- Shaping the future of psychiatry: breakthroughs in research and delivery of clinical care (looking ahead): Josh Gordon, M.D., director of the National Institute of Mental Health.

Additionally, the history track will include a session on the history of global psychiatry chaired by Dr. Tsuyoshi Akiyama and sessions on the history of psychiatry as related to our minority and underrepresented groups.

“Medical science must deal not only with the intrinsic problem in an illness but also with the patient as a social unit, and as psychiatrists we are expected to provide the leadership and counsel to the family, the community, the state, welfare workers, educators, industrialists, religious leaders and others.”

WILLIAM MENNINGER, M.D.
President Address, American Psychiatric Association
105th Annual Meeting, 1949

As the first medical society in the U.S., the APA and its members have worked for almost two centuries to promote the highest quality of care for individuals with mental illness and substance use disorders both here and around the world.
Those groups are American Indian, Alaska Native and Native Hawaiian psychiatrists; Asian American psychiatrists; black psychiatrists; Hispanic psychiatrists; IMG psychiatrists; LGBTQ psychiatrists; and women psychiatrists. Look for detailed information in upcoming issues of Psychiatric News.

Finally, I would like to suggest that all of us have a stake in the history of our profession and can participate in its preservation. Last year, APA and the APA Foundation opened the Melvin Sabshin, M.D. Library and Archives at APA’s new headquarters in Washington, D.C. I invite you to search your personal archives for historical documents, books and artifacts that might be worthy of preservation. Information about the library’s acquisition policy can be obtained by emailing library@psych.org. You can also help support the library through its Adopt-a-Book program (apafdn.org/adoptabook).

The history of our profession belongs to all of us. I look forward to celebrating it with you!

MINDGAMES: 175TH ANNIVERSARY EDITION

Room 21, Exhibition Level, Moscone North
Saturday, May 18, 1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.

MindGames is APA’s competition to test participants’ knowledge on patient care, medical knowledge and psychiatric history.

This year, two back-to-back MindGames competitions will take place at the Annual Meeting in San Francisco. The special anniversary edition will focus on the history of APA and related topics and will feature three teams of prominent APA members and leaders.

The teams will compete by answering questions about APA history, notable psychiatrists, movies, and other media throughout history that have involved psychiatry or psychiatrists and important events in psychiatric history. As in the television game show Jeopardy, each test of knowledge is posed as an answer for which the first team that provides the correct question earns points.

There will be two rounds of game play, followed by a final question.

The 175th Anniversary Edition will take place on Saturday, May 18, from 1:00 p.m. to 2:00 p.m. It will be followed at 2:30 p.m. in the same location by the traditional game.
Menninger & Baylor College of Medicine Salute the American Psychiatric Association's 175th Year

American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian Mental Health: The Issues, The History, The Status

8:00 a.m. - 9:30 a.m.

The mental health of the indigenous peoples of North America and the Pacific has been impacted by 400 years of dominance by advancing Euro-Americans under their belief in manifest destiny and dominion by colonization and control. While early psychiatric efforts focused on social reform, geographic control and boarding school approaches, little effort was made to understand the specific issues of native mental health. Presenters will cover this history and provide “how-to” information when providing psychiatric care to indigenous peoples individually and in both urban and rural communities. The importance of APA’s proactive efforts to promote health care will also be discussed.

Latinos’ participation in APA started in the 1960s in an atmosphere of activism for better representation, more recognition and equality and more awareness of civil rights. Demographic growth trends in the 1980s indicated that Latinos would become a major force in the country, especially in states like California and Texas. Today Latinos are leaders in academia, clinical practice, professional institutions and APA. Presenters will elaborate on the lessons learned to date to assure a better future.

Eras of Psychiatry in America

Caring for People with Mental Illness: The Advent of Organized Medicine

The history of the treatment of people with mental illness in the United States can be traced back to Colonial times. Some historians believe that many of the victims of the witchcraft trials (who were thought to be possessed by devils) were afflicted with mental illness. Society in the 17th and 18th centuries did little to care for people with mental illness. Most were jailed, hidden away or left to the streets. In the late 18th century, during the Age of Enlightenment, the first hospitals to provide institutional care for people with mental illness were founded.

BACKGROUND: Title page of Dr. Benjamin Rush's Medical Inquiries and Observations Upon the Diseases of the Mind (1812)

COLONIAL ERA
People who exhibited disordered behavior were considered to be bewitched, reflecting traditional Western European beliefs.

BENJAMIN RUSH, M.D. (1746 - 1813)
A signer of the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Rush was on the medical staff of the Pennsylvania Hospital in 1812 when he wrote the first medical treatise on the treatment of mental illness: Medical Inquiries and Observations Upon the Diseases of the Mind. In this book, Dr. Rush advocates for the humane treatment of people with mental illness, thus earning him the informal title: “father of American psychiatry.”

THE PUBLIK HOSPITAL FOR PERSONS OF INSANE & DISORDERED MINDS
The first hospital in North America built solely for the treatment of people with mental illness opened in Williamsburg, Va., in 1773.
19TH CENTURY THEORIES

Various methods to diagnose and treat mental illness were developed. Among them was phrenology, a popular fad treatment in 19th-century psychiatry based on notions that observing and feeling a person’s skull could determine an individual’s psychological attributes, including personality and character.

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF INSANITY

Founded in July 1844 by Amariah Brigham, M.D., superintendent of the New York State Lunatic Asylum for the Insane in Utica, N.Y., the journal was renamed the American Journal of Psychiatry in 1921, and it is still published by APA today.

The Founding of the American Psychiatric Association (APA)

In 1844, there were twenty-six mental hospitals in the United States, most of which were founded as public hospitals. As these hospitals proliferated, the superintendents decided that they needed to meet to discuss common problems in the care of people with mental illness and devise practical solutions to improving patient care.

The Association of Medical Superintendents of American Institutions for the Insane was founded at a meeting of thirteen superintendents of mental hospitals on October 16, 1844 in Philadelphia. In 1892, the Association’s name was changed to the American Medico-Psychological Association, and in 1921, it was changed again to the American Psychiatric Association.

One outcome of the meeting was the issuance of design criteria for mental hospitals in a book titled: On the Construction, Organization and General Arrangements of the Hospitals for the Insane (also known as the Kirkbride Plan), written by Thomas S. Kirkbride, M.D., the first secretary of the APA. This book influenced the architecture and management of state hospitals for over fifty years.

“There is no reason why an individual, who has the misfortune to become insane, should, on that account, be deprived of any comfort or even luxury.”

THOMAS S. KIRKBRIDE, M.D.

The Dawn of the Modern Era: Reforms in Care & Treatment

By the time the APA was celebrating its 50th anniversary in 1894, there had been significant advances and expansion in institutionalized psychiatric care and treatment.

DOROTHEA DIX (1802 – 1887)
A Boston school teacher and daughter of a preacher, Dix was visiting a jail to conduct religious services when she found that people with mental illness were confined there under inhumane conditions. For the next fifty years, she successfully persuaded several state legislatures to appropriate funds to build mental hospitals. More than 32 state hospitals are credited to her advocacy efforts.

CLIFFORD BEERS (1876 – 1943)
Hospitalized three times for mental illness, Beers published an autobiographical account of his experience called A Mind That Found Itself in 1908. The book served as the beginning of the “mental hygiene movement”—the precursor to the patient advocate movement to reform treatment and reduce stigma of those with mental illness.

TREATMENTS

Advent of Psychotherapy: Freud and Jung
Austrian neurologist Sigmund Freud, M.D. (1856-1939) launched a new approach and treatment called psychoanalysis, which became a leading therapy throughout much of the 20th century in the United States. Carl Gustav Jung, M.D., (1875-1961) was a Swiss psychiatrist and psychoanalyst who founded analytical psychology.

Electroconvulsive therapy (EST/ECT)
Once commonly called “shock treatment,” this technique was introduced in the United States after its development in Italy by Ugo Cerletti, M.D. and Lucio Bini, M.D. in 1938.
In 1917 the American Medico-Psychological Association—working with the National Committee for Mental Hygiene—created a formal system for classifying mental illnesses. This system was the precursor to the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders.

Advancing Diagnosis, Treatment & Education

During the period between APA’s 100th anniversary in 1944 and today, there have been significant advances in diagnosis, treatment, education and stigma reduction.

PSYCHIATRIC NEWS

In 1966, the APA replaced the monthly APA Newsletter with Psychiatric News as the news service of the APA.

EVOLUTION OF DSM

To quantify the rapid developments in psychiatric understanding, the original classification standards from 1917 were revised and organized into the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, first published in 1952. Further revisions over the years reflect the huge scientific advances made in understanding and diagnosing mental illness.

ADVENT OF PSYCHOPHARMACOLOGY & DEINSTITUTIONALIZATION

In the 1950s, new psychoactive medications were introduced in the United States, enabling many people with serious mental illness to be discharged from state public mental hospitals into community-based care settings. This movement called “deinstitutionalization.” However, funding was not adequately allocated to community mental health services, leaving many without the care they needed. This situation is still true today, and the APA has continued the battle to provide access to care for all Americans.
Among the many research-based changes made to DSM through the years have been the removal of homosexuality as a mental disorder and the addition of PTSD and autism spectrum disorder.

In 1993, the APA begins publishing a series of treatment guidelines. The first Practice Guideline published by APA was on Major Depressive Disorder in Adults.

Several key federal laws have made treatment of mental illness possible for thousands of people who otherwise might have gone untreated.

Community Mental Health Centers Act 1963
Signed by President John F. Kennedy, the Act provided federal funding for community mental health centers.

Mental Health Parity and Equity Addiction Act of 2008
This federal law requires insurers to offer coverage for psychiatric illnesses on par with other illnesses.

In 1981, the APA creates a publishing company to produce and distribute books, journals and multimedia on psychiatry, mental health and behavioral science.

In 1992, the APA creates a foundation to advance mental health through public education programs, investing in the future leaders of psychiatry and supporting research and clinical training.
We are proud to support the APA Foundation in its mission to achieve a mentally healthy nation for all.

Shaping the Future of Psychiatry
Breakthroughs in Research & Delivery of Clinical Care

PSYCHPRO
PsychPRO, APA’s Mental Health Registry, is a secure computerized system that will change research and clinical care in psychiatry. It collects consistent data in real-time from diverse clinicians and patients as well as information from health records. The collected data will help psychiatrists in making decisions about patient care, as well as help to decrease burdens to the patient and clinician. By generating patient and progress reports, PsychPRO will help busy psychiatrists track patient outcomes and provide clinical decision support tools to inform evidence-based care.

APA’s Advocacy Day brings together psychiatrists from around the country for face-to-face meetings with members of Congress to discuss mental health and substance use issues and advocate for their patients and psychiatry.
The APA Today
The APA is an organization of psychiatrists working together to ensure humane care and effective treatment for people with mental illness, including substance use disorders. The APA is the voice and conscience of modern psychiatry. Its vision is a society that has accessible, quality psychiatric diagnosis and treatment.

APA Is...
Advocating for Improved Access to Care & Quality of Psychiatric Services
Meeting the Educational Needs of Members Throughout Their Careers
Supporting & Increasing Diversity & Building a Culturally Competent Workforce
Publishing the Most Trusted & Respected Journals, Textbooks & Other Resources in the Field of Psychiatry

TELEPSYCHIATRY & REMOTE MEDICINE
Providing psychiatric treatment via videoconferencing and other mobile methods facilitates access to care and overcomes geographical obstacles. Telepsychiatry compares successfully to in-person care in diagnostic accuracy, treatment effectiveness and patient satisfaction; it saves time, money and other resources. Its application to many cultures and international venues has been successful, and the APA provides information and resources to national stakeholders.

OPTOGENETICS & CLARITY
APA member Karl Deisseroth, M.D., Ph.D., and his team of researchers at Stanford University are refining the latest cutting-edge tools in brain imaging and research. Using Optogenetics and CLARITY, Dr. Deisseroth helps advance treatments for patients with severe mental illnesses and brain diseases.
Melvin Sabshin, M.D.
Library & Archives

The American Psychiatric Association houses a library with an assortment of important texts, documents, images and oral histories to the profession.

Long held in storage, the Melvin Sabshin, M.D. Library & Archives recently found a beautiful, permanent home, complete with the Logan and Daniel Blain Reading Lounge and the Marion Kenworthy Learning Center, in the APA’s new headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Expertly designed, the library provides an environmentally-controlled space to maintain the collection for future generations and a long-awaited opportunity to share it with APA members and the world.

The Melvin Sabshin, M.D. Library & Archives became a significant repository of information for all of us through the past generosity of individuals who were dedicated to the field of psychiatry and the preservation of history.

Now we invite you, our members of today, to join us in maintaining this collection for the future by participating in an exciting new adopt-a-book program. For more information, visit apafdn.org/adoptabook.
What’s Your Story?

Story Booths at the Annual Meeting

Every psychiatrist’s story is part of the legacy of the American Psychiatric Association’s 175 years.

To celebrate 175 years of history, APA is hosting story booths throughout the Moscone Center for Annual Meeting attendees. These booths will allow participants to self-record responses to the following prompts or speak freely about their experiences. Individuals or groups of two or three can record together.

Each participant will receive a copy of their video they can share on social media, and APA receives the footage to hold as part of the permanent collection of the Melvin Sabshin, M.D. Library and Archives.

QUESTIONS

1. Why did you choose a career in psychiatry? What’s been most rewarding about it?
2. What are you most excited about regarding the future of psychiatry?
3. How has your involvement with APA been supportive to your career?
4. Has APA addressed an issue over the years (social or professional) that has had an impact on you personally?
5. Free Response – Tell a story that’s meaningful to you.

Fireside Chat With Valerie Jarrett

Valerie Jarrett is an American lawyer, businesswoman and politician who was a senior adviser (2009–17) to U.S. President Barack Obama.

Jarrett was born in Iran and spent much of her childhood traveling abroad, as her father was a physician who assisted developing countries in establishing health care systems. In 1963 her family settled in Chicago.

Jarrett served as the finance chair of Obama’s 2004 Senate campaign and was treasurer of his political action committee. During Obama’s presidential campaign, Jarrett mediated between Obama and members of the African-American community who were concerned about the implications of his candidacy, and she also served as an envoy to those who had supported Obama’s primary rival for the Democratic nomination, Hillary Clinton. After Obama’s election in November 2008, she served as co-chair of his transition team. Later that month it was announced that Jarrett had been appointed senior adviser to Obama.

Jarrett became a highly influential member of Obama’s inner circle and a forceful advocate of the president’s agenda. She was also known for advancing progressive measures, such as the inclusion of free birth control in the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (2010). Jarrett helped Obama win reelection in 2012, and she continued to serve as senior adviser until his second term ended in 2017.

The William C. Menninger Memorial Convocation Lecture
“Psychiatric Leadership to Expand Equity & Well-Being”

Established in 1972, this lecture honors the late William C. Menninger, M.D., President of APA 1948–49, who brought to the association a formalized Convocation of Fellows, first held in 1956.

La June Montgomery Tabron

La June Montgomery Tabron is the president and CEO of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation (WKKF) in Battle Creek, Michigan, one of the largest private foundations in the United States.

As a champion for vulnerable children and for creating the conditions necessary for them to thrive, Tabron leads the Kellogg Foundation and its work to support thriving children, working families and equitable communities. The Kellogg Foundation works to heal the profound racial inequities in communities, cultivate community leaders and foster community engagement on behalf of children.

Prior to becoming the first African American president and CEO to lead the foundation in its history, she served in a variety of positions at the Kellogg Foundation after joining the organization as the controller in 1987. Most recently, she was the executive vice president of operations and treasurer, which included oversight of all financial plans, policies and relationships within the financial community and WKKF’s Technology, Human Resources and Administration, Finance, Program Services and Quality & Organizational Effectiveness functions. In this role, she was pivotal in connecting and integrating WKKF’s leadership committees: the Executive Council, Program Leadership Council, Talent Board and Organizational Advisory Team, ensuring unified execution of the organization’s mission and strategic framework across all programmatic and priority place areas. She also provided leadership for WKKF’s place-based grantmaking in Mississippi and New Orleans since 2011, launching a significant effort to help set young males of color on the path to success in 2013.

Tabron has played an active leadership role in the Kellogg Foundation’s racial equity, diversity and inclusion work for more than two decades – both internally through work with its board and staff, and externally through its work with grantees, partners and vendors.

Other earlier positions at WKKF included: chief operating officer and treasurer; senior vice president/chief financial officer and treasurer; vice president – finance and treasurer; and assistant vice president for finance and assistant treasurer. Prior to joining WKKF, she was an auditor for Plante & Moran CPAs.

Throughout her more than 30 years in philanthropy, Tabron has participated in numerous sector efforts to enhance philanthropy, including: the policy and annual conference committees for the Council on Foundations and the board development and transparency committees for Independent Sector.

As a community and civic leader, Tabron serves on Detroit Workforce Development Board, the Alumni Association of the University of Michigan Board and is a member of the Kalamazoo Chapter of the Links, Incorporated. She also serves on the boards of Battle Creek Community Health Partners, Bronson Healthcare Group and the Kellogg Company. Tabron is also the chair of the W.K. Kellogg Foundation Trust.

Tabron holds a bachelor’s degree in business administration from the University of Michigan – Ann Arbor and a master’s degree in business administration from the Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University. She also received an honorary doctorate of humane letters from Marygrove College in Detroit and an honorary doctorate from Union Institute & University. She is a certified public accountant and certified management accountant licensed in Michigan. She is also a graduate of the inaugural class of the Council on Foundations’ Career Pathways Program.

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation (WKKF), founded in 1930 as an independent, private foundation by breakfast cereal pioneer Will Keith Kellogg, is among the largest philanthropic foundations in the United States. Guided by the belief that all children should have an equal opportunity to thrive, WKKF works with communities to create conditions for vulnerable children so they can realize their full potential in school, work and life.

The Kellogg Foundation is based in Battle Creek, Michigan, and works throughout the United States and internationally, as well as with sovereign tribes. Special emphasis is paid to priority places where there are high concentrations of poverty and where children face significant barriers to success. WKKF priority places in the U.S. are in Michigan, Mississippi, New Mexico and New Orleans; and internationally, are in Mexico and Haiti. For more information, visit www.wkkf.org.

Alvaro Camacho In Memoriam

A longstanding member of the Annual Meeting Scientific Program Committee, Alvaro Camacho, M.D., took his own life in September 2018. Dr. Camacho worked tirelessly on the Annual Meeting scientific program for many years, including the current meeting, reviewing submissions and advocating for the highest quality speakers and content at the meeting.

Dr. Camacho was Voluntary Associate Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at the University of California, San Diego, and during his career worked with rural underserved communities in addressing health disparities and studied the influence of environmental factors on mood and anxiety disorders.

He leaves behind numerous patients, colleagues, mentees, and friends whose lives he touched in immeasurable ways. He embodied the spirit of curiosity, had limitless energy, and expressed infectious enthusiasm in everything that he did. He is survived by his two sons.

The Scientific Program Committee would like to recognize Dr. Camacho for his contributions to the Annual Meeting and to the field of psychiatry. The psychiatric community is diminished by his loss, but the passion he put into every aspect of his work has left a legacy of quality mental health care that will not be forgotten.

The Sunshine Act and How It Affects You
The Physician Payment Sunshine Act is a federal law that requires pharmaceutical and device manufacturers under certain circumstances to publicly report any complimentary gift, food, beverage, non-CME certified education or other item of value given to physicians. Some of the food, product theaters and trinkets that may be available to you at this meeting have been sponsored by companies that may be required to report your receipt of that gift. The APA recommends that you ask the person providing the complimentary item whether your name will be reported under the Act before accepting complimentary products or food so that you can make an independent and educated decision to accept or not accept it.

Your voice is needed.

APA Congressional Advocacy Network (CAN)
Mental health is in the headlines every day—but when policymakers don’t understand psychiatry’s role and importance, they risk passing laws and regulations that hurt your patients and your practice.

APA CAN empowers member psychiatrists to connect with members of Congress and speak on behalf of the APA on mental health issues.

You are psychiatry’s best advocate for parity enforcement, fair reimbursement, and a health care system that values mental health. Your voice is needed in these debates. You’ll be provided the resources and guidance you need to be effective.

Are you in?
APA Members can visit us at our booth in APA Central in the Exhibit Hall, and at psychiatry.org/advocacy.
