May 9, 1981

Dear Colleagues and Guests:

On behalf of the Scientific Program Committee, I should like to welcome you to the 134th Annual Meeting of the American Psychiatric Association. It has been a difficult year for the Committee because of the intense conflict the ERA boycott has aroused in so many of its members. We are also saddened by the events which have made it impossible for some of our colleagues to attend this meeting.

The Subcommittee on Film, after much soul-searching, decided that it could not in good conscience participate, so there will be no film program this year. Video sessions have also been cancelled this year because of our growing dissatisfaction with the way the drug company which has supported the video program continues to insist in using this format as a medium for advertising.

Despite these difficulties, we believe that the program is a most exciting one. Although there were fewer submissions than last year, their quality more than made up for the loss in numbers. In fact, so many excellent proposals were submitted that we felt compelled to increase the number of symposia we had originally planned to present. In addition, three new formats have been added to the program: the Scientific Debates, the Discussion Groups, and the New Research Poster Sessions. And the New Research format has been reorganized so that we now have one session on psychosocial research and three on biological research.

As in the past, we would like to hear your opinions about the program during the meeting; our office is located in the Cambridge Room at the New Orleans Hilton Hotel. We are particularly interested in your response to the new formats. Our ability to improve the program each year depends largely on the assistance you provide through the evaluation questionnaires and your personal comments and letters.

Sincerely yours,

Lester Grinspoon, M.D.

Thursday, May 14 — 7:30 A.M.-5:00 P.M.

Friday, May 15 — 8:00 A.M.-10:00 A.M.

EXHIBITS

Scientific and technical exhibits will be on display in the Rivergate Convention Center Monday through Wednesday, 8:30 A.M. to 4 P.M., and Thursday, 8:30 A.M. to 2 P.M.

EXHIBITORS HOSPITALITY LOUNGE

Rivergate Convention Center. This lounge is for the use of all registrants. Coffee will be served during exhibit hours through the courtesy of McNeil Laboratories.

CHILDREN'S CENTER

A Children's Center will be open Monday through Friday at the International Hotel, Room 531, 5th Floor. It will be restricted to children aged 3-12 years, on a space available basis.

MESSAGE AND LOCATOR CENTER

This center will be located in the Rivergate Convention Center and will be staffed during registration hours. Self-service message racks will be available for pick-up, deposit, and exchange of messages at all times. Extremely urgent messages will receive the personal attention of APA staff members. All registrants are requested to check the message center periodically.

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF PSYCHIATRY

The office of the American Journal of Psychiatry will be in the New Orleans Hilton, Eglington Room, 2nd Floor. The office will be open from 9 A.M. to 3 P.M. on Sunday, 8 A.M. to 5 P.M., Monday through Thursday, and on Friday until 12 Noon. Staff will be available to discuss any questions that authors who are presenting papers at the meeting may have.

The Journal will accept for review only papers that are in final form and conform to the requirements listed in "Information for Contributors" (printed in each issue). The Journal does not hold first refusal rights for papers presented at regular sessions, new research sessions, morning workshops or evening panels; however, authors may submit them for publication if they wish.

It is the policy of the Journal to publish only original material that has not been published elsewhere in any form and that is not being considered for publication elsewhere.

TO PARTICIPATE IN THE 1982 ANNUAL MEETING

To present a scientific paper, request a symposium, course, issue workshop, evening panel, video, or film at the 1982 APA Annual Meeting in Toronto, Canada, May 15-21, 1982, obtain a Form for Proposed Contributions in the publications display of the Membership Resource Center (South Hall, Rivergate Convention Center). The 1982 theme is: Science in the Service of the Ill. This form was mailed to the entire membership in May.

The form contains complete instructions. However, PLEASE NOTE NOW that all proposals for the 1982 meeting must be in the Office of the Chairperson of the Scientific Program Committee by August 14, 1981. Otherwise they cannot and will not be processed for the Committee's consideration. Also, the full text and abstract must accompany the proposed paper submission.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDIT

The official annual meeting program, with a few exceptions, meets the criteria for continuing medical education Category I credit. One hour of credit may be claimed for each hour of participation. As an organization accredited for continuing medical education activities, the American Psychiatric Association certifies that the continuing medical education activities designated Category I meet the criteria for Category I for the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association. Continuing medical education sessions are open to all meeting registrants.

All program activities are designated either Category I or Category II; these include courses, symposia, paper sessions, special lectures, panels, and issue workshops. Three two-day courses on Saturday, May 9, and Sunday, May 10, nine courses, and seven symposia on Sunday, May 10, may also be taken for additional Category I credit. Half-day courses on Monday, Wednesday, and one Thursday, will be held from 2 P.M. to 6 P.M. and on Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 A.M. to 12 Noon. Full-day courses will be offered on Sunday from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M. and on Wednesday, and Thursday from 10:15 A.M. to 5:15 P.M. Three day-and-a-half courses will be offered Thursday 10:15 A.M. to 5:15 P.M. and Friday 8 A.M. to 12 noon. All full-day courses have a 1-hour break for lunch.

TAPE RECORDING POLICY

Members and guests at the Annual Meeting and new reporters are welcome to carry their own small tape recorders to any program session they wish. Larger professional tape recorders, however, will not be admitted to any sessions other than those carried by personnel representing the professional taping firm, namely Audio Digest Foundation of Los Angeles, California. APA has arranged with this firm to tape selected continuing education courses, and symposia. Cassette recordings of these will be made available to all interested persons for continuing education purposes at a later date. The badges of personnel representing this firm will clearly identify them.

SELECTED AUDIO TAPES AVAILABLE

On a pilot basis this year, audio tapes of selected special lectures will be available within hours of the presentation. Order forms and a list of all tapes will be available in those rooms where the lectures are being taped, and in the registration area.

Orders will be taken at the special desk in the registration area at Rivergate. All tapes delivered at the meeting must be paid for by cash or check.

MEMBERSHIP RESOURCE CENTER

All of APA's services to members will be centrally located in the South Hall of the Rivergate Convention Center. At the APA Membership Resource Center, open during all registration hours, registrants may browse through APA publications, listen to audio cassettes, and discuss insurance and retirement needs with staff of the APA Office of Member Benefits and companies that underwrite APA plans. Other services include the APA Office of Education, with areas for Continuing Education and DSM-III, the APA Membership Division with a terminal for members to access their records, the APA Library demonstrating its capabilities for MEDLINE and other automated data bases, a display featuring new APA Headquarters, and an area to view AMA's CME Video Clinics, which are indepth study courses on medical tapes.

There will be information for the Institute on H&CP September 14-17, 1981, in San Diego, CA and the Regional Meeting of the World Psychiatric Association and the American Psychiatric Association, Area II, October 30-November 3, 1981, New York City.

Submission forms for the 1982 Annual Meeting in Toronto, Canada will also be available.

Educational Objective: To offer a knowledge of sexual function and dysfunction, sexual aspects of disease and disability, and treatment options. Description: This course should increase attitudinal awareness, knowledge, and clinical skills in dealing with a wide range of sexual behaviors. Content focuses on values and current lifestyles, sexual physiology and dysfunction, gender identity, sexual orientation, sex and disability and aging. Format consists of didactic presentations, audiovisual presentations, and small-group discussions. Fee $60.

COURSE 10

Dauphine Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

FAMILY PSYCHIATRY: THEORY AND PRACTICE

Dir.: John G. Howells, M.D., Ipswich, Suffolk, England

Educational Objective: To explore and discuss British developments in the family psychiatry field that may prove valuable to the clinical practice of American psychiatrists. Description: The course starts with an overview of the family psychiatry field. Three clinical aspects of the field are selected for detailed presentation and discussion: Family Diagnosis (a clear systematic account whereby the family can be evaluated as a prelude to treatment); Family Psychotherapy (its strategy, organization, and techniques); and Vector Therapy (the new, effective form of extra-interview psychotherapy). Format will be enhanced by art presentations, case illustrations, and audience participation. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 11*

Grand Room, Ground Level, Hyatt Regency

A FAMILY APPROACH TO ALCOHOLISM

Dir.: Peter Steinglass, M.D., Washington, DC

Educational Objective: To provide psychiatrists with a conceptual framework relevant to the problem of alcoholism and the family. Description: The course will describe a family approach to alcoholism. A conceptual framework that applies family systems principles and concepts of family development to the specific problem of chronic alcoholism will be presented. Emphasis will be placed on the potential usefulness of theoretical concepts in helping the psychiatrist deal with specific clinical issues, e.g., diagnosis, definitions of family level psychopathology, and the development of therapeutic strategies. Treatment implications will be addressed in general terms. Format will include didactic and videotaped presentations. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

*Hours: 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

COURSE 12

BASIC COURSE IN PSYCHODRAMA

Dir.: Neville Murray, M.D., San Antonio, TX

Faculty: Dale Richard Buchanan, M.D., Washington, DC; Sandra Garfield, Ph.D. (I), Los Angeles, CA; Joe Hart, Ph.D. (I), Little Rock, AK; Jean Wycoff, Ph.D. (I), Dallas, TX

Educational Objective: To educate participants to a level of competence that will allow them to take on auxiliary roles and assist in directing psychodrama group therapy. Description: This is a unique opportunity to learn about psychodrama under the tutelage of an internationally acclaimed faculty. Participants will be involved in both large and small group exercises. The historic development, techniques, and practical applications of the methodology will be taught in both a didactic and experiential manner. The course is designed for those who have had no previous introduction to psychodrama but who wish to update their skills with the distinguished faculty. Spouses are welcome and encouraged to participate. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

MEDICAL IMPLICATIONS OF THE NUCLEAR AGE

Helen Caldicott, M.D.

Dr. Helen Caldicott is an Australian pediatrician who specializes in cystic fibrosis, and has spent the last six years at the Children's Hospital Medical Center in Boston. She is best known as the organizer and President of Physicians for Social Responsibility in which capacity she has worked energetically to educate the public about the medical hazards of nuclear radiation. Beginning with her initiation of the Australian opposition to French atmospheric atomic testing in the Pacific in 1971, she has become an international leader against what she has labeled "nuclear madness."

MENTAL HEALTH LEGISLATION BEFORE THE U.S. CONGRESS

The Honorable Lindy Boggs

Congresswoman Corrine Claiborne Boggs—universally known as "Lindy"—is serving her fourth term as U.S. Representative for the Second District of Louisiana. She was elected to the 93rd Congress to fill the vacancy caused by the disappearance of her husband, former House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, who was lost in a plane flight over Alaska in 1973. Mrs. Boggs, the first woman to have been elected to Congress from Louisiana, has served on the House Appropriations Committee since 1977. Among her legislative achievements was her leadership in the passage of the Domestic Violence Prevention and Services Act.

HYPOTHALAMIC HORMONES AND THEIR APPLICATION IN MEDICAL PRACTICE

Andrew V. Schally, M.D.

In 1955, Dr. Schally jointly achieved the first experimental demonstration of a hypothalamic hormone, corticotropin-releasing factor (CRF). Subsequently, he and his collaborators first succeeded in isolating, sequencing, and synthesizing porcine thyrotropin-releasing hormone (TRH), and then luteinizing hormone-releasing hormone (LH-RH). He has done fundamental clinical and physiological research on these hormones and others. In 1977, he was awarded the Nobel Prize in medicine and physiology.

Dr. Schally, a native of Poland, is a naturalized American citizen. He is Professor of Medicine at Tulane University and Chief of the Endocrine and Polypeptide Laboratory of the New Orleans V.A. Hospital. His bibliography includes some 1200 contributions to the literature and he has received many international awards.

PSYCHOTHERAPY AND SEXUALITY: HISTORICAL AND EPISTEMOLOGICAL CONSIDERATIONS

Léon Chertok, M.D.

Born in Russia, Dr. Chertok studied in Poland and then Czechoslovakia, where he received an M.D. in 1938. When Hitler occupied Czechoslovakia the following year, he left for France and became active in the Resistance, and later in the regular army. He received another M.D. from the University of Paris in 1948, and then began psychiatric and psychoanalytic training. He is currently Chief Physician at the Centre de Médecine Psychosomatique Dejerine and Editor-in-Chief of the Revue de Médecine Psychosomatique, Paris, France. He is the author of six books. His "hobby," he writes, is "creating bridges between East and West."

NEW RESEARCH

1. Psychosocial Session*

2:00 P.M.-5:00 P.M.

Room 15, Street Level, Rivergate

The papers presented will consist of short presentations of recently collected research data. Since every effort was made to include new and exciting data, the papers were submitted after the deadline for printing in this program. Consequently, the authors are not listed in this publication. Program leaflets containing all of the presentations are available at the registration desk. Other sessions on New Research will be presented on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

*Offers Category II.

COURSES

COURSE 13

La Galerie Room 1, 2nd Floor, Marriott

INTRODUCTION TO CRIMINAL FORENSIC PSYCHIATRY

Dir.: Emanuel Tanay, M.D., Detroit, MI

Educational Objective: To understand the functioning of the criminal justice system and its interaction with psychiatry. Description: This course offers basic concepts of clinical assessment of violent behavior. Videotaped interviews with patients and a review of criminal law relevant to psychiatric evaluation and testimony will be presented. Practical skills of evaluation and courtroom testimony will be emphasized. An exchange between the audience and instructor is encouraged. This course is designed for psychiatrists who wish to sharpen their skills in forensic psychiatry. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 14

La Galerie Room 4, 2nd Floor, Marriott

THE PSYCHOTHERAPEUTIC MANAGEMENT OF SCHIZOPHRENIA

Dir.: David F. Dawson, M.D., Hamilton, Ont., Canada

Faculty: Heather Munroe Blum, M.S.W. (I), Giampiero Bartolucci, M.D., Hamilton, Ont., Canada

Educational Objective: To provide a goal-oriented, multidimensional framework for the organization of psychotherapeutic interventions in treating and rehabilitating patients with schizophrenia. Description: Schizophrenia will be conceptualized in terms of seven relatively discrete phases of psychosis and recovery. The applicability of four conceptual models (medical, social-social breakdown, developmental, adaptational) will be discussed in relation to each phase. Interventions will be presented as specific, timely, goal-oriented psychotherapeutic and rehabilitation tasks rather than as broad therapy modalities. Special attention will be paid to the management of paranoid conditions, the interplay of drug and psychotherapeutic management, and language studies. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 15

La Galerie Room 5, 2nd Floor, Marriott

IMPROVING PSYCHIATRIC SUPERVISION

Dir.: H. James Lurie, M.D., Seattle, WA

Faculty: Carolyn B. Robinowitz, M.D., Washington, DC; Charles Boren, M.D., Hartford, CT

Educational Objective: To increase skills in dealing with problems of psychiatric supervision and to explore various strategies and alternatives in solving supervision issues. Description: Using audio-visual and cognitive materials developed by the course director and the APA Office of Education (Educational Development for Psychiatric Educators Project), participants will discuss in detail various approaches to different psychiatric supervision issues. These issues include role and responsibility; problems of residents and the "problem resident;" countertransference issues; reactions to supervision; and values conflicts between resident and supervisor. An opportunity to compare strategies with peers, examine the "structure" in which supervision occurs, and assess various options and values attached to supervision will be provided. Fee $40.

COURSE 16

Mardi Gras Ballroom A, 3rd Floor, Marriott

CHILD DEVELOPMENTAL ASPECTS OF ADULT TREATMENT

Dir.: Ruth P. Kane, M.D., Pittsburgh, PA

Faculty: Robin Woods, Ph.D. (I), Pittsburgh, PA

Educational Objective: To increase knowledge concerning the very early development of adult patients, and to measure efficacy of intervention vis-a-vis intrapsychic interpersonal measures. Description: This course is designed for psychiatrists interested in the influence of infancy and early childhood on adult psychiatric patients. The course uses developmental concepts, life-cycle aspects, psychosocial stress, psychophysiological events of pregnancy, labor, and delivery, and early infancy, toddler, and the preschool aspects of adult patients. Recollections and interactions with others, particularly the parenting aspects of adult patients, may give clues concerning early infant interaction. Knowledge of early infancy and early childhood can be used in assessing strengths and needs of adult patients. Implications for neurotic and psychotic patients will be described. Fee $40.

COURSE 17

Mardi Gras Ballroom C, 3rd Floor, Marriott

MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAMS FOR MINORITY CHILDREN

Dir.: Michael E. Fishman, M.D., Rockville, MD

Faculty: James P. Comer, M.D., New Haven, CT; Alberto Serrano, M.D., San Antonio, TX; H.C. Townsley, M.D., Albuquerque, NM; Patrick K. Okura, M.A. (I), Rockville, MD

Educational Objective: To increase awareness of mental health needs of minority children. Description: This course is designed to convey new knowledge about the mental health needs of minority children in the United States. The minority groups considered are Black Americans, Hispanic Americans, Asian and Pacific Island Americans, American Indians, and Alaska Natives. Each group's characteristics that are relevant to designing mental health services will be considered. Participants are encouraged to present examples of challenges they have encountered, and ways they have addressed them. The course also covers prevention and intervention programs, education efforts, and multisystem approaches to facilitate comprehensive care for minority children and youth. Fee $40.

COURSE 18

Mardi Gras Ballroom F, 3rd Floor, Marriott

PSYCHIATRIC REHABILITATION: PRINCIPLE AND PRACTICE

Dir.: Dennis J. McCrory, M.D., Newton Center, MA

Faculty: David E. Creasey, M.D., Boston, Thomas P. McCarthy, CRC (I), Watertown, Joan C. Rapp, CRC (I), Ashland, MA

Educational Objective: To increase understanding of psychiatrically disabled persons, skill in function assessment, effective use of rehabilitation services, and participation in the rehabilitation process. Description: This course gives the faculty an opportunity to share their enthusiasm for working in rehabilitation with chronically ill patients. Through case illustrations and exercises, participants will develop increased skills in recognizing "rehabilitation potential," performing functional assessment, and participating in rehabilitation planning. Opportunities in rehabilitation for psychiatrists will be discussed, as well as implications for training program development and research. Rehabilitation of the psychiatrically disabled person can be viewed as a services approach philosophy responding to the needs of the chronic patient in the community. Fee $40.

COURSE 19

Mardi Gras Ballroom H, 3rd Floor, Marriott

ALEXITHYMIA AND THERAPY OF PSYCHOSOMATIC DISORDERS

Dir.: William H. Rickles, M.D., Los Angeles, CA

Educational Objective: To examine the concept of Alexithymia and how it relates to the etiology of psychosomatic or stress-related disorders. Description: This course introduces Alexithymia and how it relates to psychosomatic disorders and their therapy. Theories of psychosomatic disorders will be critically reviewed. Associated ego-function and coping deficiencies that include symbolizing and fantasizing deficiencies, inhibitions in self-care, and the role of transitional objects and transitional phenomena are elaborated; the syndrome is related to addiction, narcissistic personality disorders, and Type A personality. Understanding this syndrome will help the psychiatrist understand the rationale for the use of behavior therapy, relaxation training, guided imagery and modified psychotherapy. Fee $40.

COURSE 20

Mardi Gras Ballroom-Balcony IJ, 3rd Floor, Marriott

SUPERVISION AND TEACHING OF GROUP PSYCHOTHERAPY

Dir.: David W. Brook, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: David Halperin, M.D., Robert Bross, M.D., Philip Luloff, M.D., Gail Meisel, M.D., Herman Alpert, M.D., New York, NY

Educational Objective: To examine the methods and theoretical considerations involved in instructing beginning therapists (primarily psychiatric residents) and in supervising in the techniques and theory of analytic group psychotherapy. Description: The course provides a view of the methods and theory used in teaching and supervising psychoanalytic group psychotherapy with psychiatric residents at the Mount Sinai School of Medicine. Topics include the use of residents' process groups as a teaching tool, in contrast to the use of residents' groups for psychotherapeutic purposes, individual supervision, group supervision, didactic methods, the nurturing of qualities important to an ethical and compassionate group therapist, and the integration of the residents' group psychotherapy experience into the total learning experience involved in becoming a psychiatrist. Much of the faculty contribution to the course stems from the weekly on-going Advanced Supervisory Seminars of the Group Psychotherapy Division of the Mount Sinai Department of Psychiatry. The faculty believes that sharing these experiences will lead to a creative learning experience in psychiatric education for all. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 21

Mardi Gras Ballroom-Balcony LM, 3rd Floor, Marriott

TREATMENT ISSUES IN GEROPSYCHIATRY

Dir.: Ian R. Cameron, M.D., Hartford, CT

Faculty: Alan Whanger, M.D., Durham, NC; Dennis Chapron, M.S., (I), Farmington, Sue Smolski, R.N. (I), Hartford, CT

Educational Objective: To convey details of current treatment and management of emotional and mental disorders in the elderly. Description: The course covers depression, mood cyclic disorder, schizophrenia in later life, strated with videotapes from trials. Mistakes commonly made by novice witnesses will be described. Fee $40.

MONDAY, MAY 11, 1981

other functional disturbances, psychosis with dementia, agitation and behavior problems with dementia, and treatment of partly and totally reversible dementia. The course will also include pharmacokinetics in the elderly, drug/drug interactions, use of antidepressants, neuroleptics, sedatives, minor tranquilizers, lithium, modified ECT, individual and group psychotherapies, and family interventions. There will be a presentation by each faculty member with question and discussion periods. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 22

Versailles Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

COMMUNITY TREATMENT OF THE CHRONIC PATIENT

Dir.: Leonard I. Stein, M.D., Madison, WI

Faculty: Ronald J. Diamond, M.D., William H. Knoedler, M.D. (I), Madison, WI

Educational Objective: To explicate the elements comprising a community support system necessary to help the long-term patient acquire a satisfactory community adjustment. Description: The course focuses on the principles and practice of treating the chronic psychiatric patient in the community. The goal of the treatment is to help the patient attain a stable, sustained community adjustment. The material relates to both "after-care programs" and programs designed to limit the need for inpatient psychiatric treatment. Any professional interested in community treatment of the chronic psychiatric patient may participate. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 23

Kenilworth Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

TECHNIQUES OF PSYCHIATRIC PEER REVIEW

Dir.: Henry G. Altman, M.D., Brookline, MA

Faculty: John M. Hamilton, M.D., Catonsville, MD; George Mizner, M.D., Denver, CO; William Offenkrantz, M.D., Milwaukee, WI; Gary Shephard, M.D., La Jolla, CA; William Stockton, M.D., Chevy Chase, MD

Educational Objective: To review current status of psychiatric peer review, and future use of psychiatric peer review teaching techniques. Description: This course provides an update on the status of peer review activities, some peer review principles, and actual experience in carrying out psychiatric peer review. The course begins with a talk on the current status of the APA/CHAMPUS, Aetna, and other peer review activities, followed by a demonstration review of actual cases. This will be performed by APA Peer Review Committee members. Small groups will then conduct peer review of cases which have been supplied to them. The plenary session will discuss questions and problems that arise. Fee $40.

COURSE 24

Rampart Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

THE PSYCHIATRIST AS AN EXPERT WITNESS

Dir.: Philip J. Resnick, M.D., Cleveland, OH

Faculty: Jonas R. Rappeport, M.D., Baltimore, MD

Educational Objective: To teach psychiatrists how to give expert witness testimony in civil and criminal trials. Description: Basic trial procedure and rules of evidence governing fact and expert witnesses will be reviewed. The faculty will discuss the impartial expert fallacy, preparation of legal reports, pretrial conferences, and rules of confidentiality and privilege. Participants will learn to cope with cross-examiners who attack credentials, witness bias, adequacy of examination, and the validity of the witnesses' reasoning. Power and control in the witness-cross-examiner relationship will be explored. Styles of testimony and cross-examination techniques will be illu-

JCAH CONSOLIDATED STANDARDS

Dir.: Robert E. Jones, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Faculty: Myrene McAninch, Ph.D. (I), Richard Gordon, M.D., Thomas McMullin, M.P.H. (I), George Weinstein, M.D., Chicago, IL

Educational Objective: To educate psychiatrists about JCAH standards applicable to all psychiatric facilities except community mental health programs. Description: The course interprets the intent of the JCAH Consolidated Standards and the strategies for meeting the standards. Specific instructions include development of a hospital-wide quality assurance system, including utilization review, audit, and program evaluation; patient management, treatment planning, clinical case monitoring, and special treatment procedures; and clinical staff organization, delineation of privileges, and performance-related activities. An update about standards and future directions for psychiatric facilities will be given, including forensic, intermediate care facilities, and general hospital standards. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 26

Grand Room, Ground Level, Hyatt Regency

INTRODUCTION TO HMO PSYCHIATRY

Dir.: Daniel Y. Patterson, M.D., Bethesda, MD

Educational Objective: To acquaint mental health professionals with the factors advocating HMO development, and prospective reimbursement; to instruct these professionals in determining the feasibility of prepaid mental health services; developing such services; and retaining management control over such a program. Description: With the rapid escalation of health care costs, cost-containment strategies are being formulated for national health insurance proposals. Prospective reimbursement, Health Maintenance Organizations, health care through "organized settings," and quality/cost competition are often proposed as elements of a cost-effective health-care delivery system. Substantial experiments and demonstrations in prospective reimbursement or prepaid health care have developed in a variety of settings over the past two decades. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 27

Burgundy Rooms A & B, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

THE USES OF POETRY IN PSYCHOTHERAPY

Dir.: Owen E. Heninger, M.D., Whittier, CA

Faculty: Anthony P. Pietropinto, M.D., James M. Murphy, M.D., New York, NY; Kenneth P. Gorelick, M.D., Washington, DC

Educational Objective: To explore the uses of poetry in psychotherapy and provide a unique learning experience through involvement in small groups. Description: After a brief introduction, the audience will be asked about its knowledge or use of poetry in therapy, poetry that has changed lives, critical incidents involving poetry, and course expectations. The history and theory of poetry in therapy will be outlined. Faculty members will meet with small working groups using poetry. Afterward both faculty and participants will assess the experience, with ample time for discussion. This course does not require literary sophistication. Participants are invited to bring their favorite poems or those they have written themselves. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

SPECIAL LECTURE 6

"THROUGH A LOOKING GLASS, DIMLY" **

(The William C. Menninger Memorial Convocation Lecture) †

Doris A. Howell, M.D., Chairperson, Department of Community Medicine, and Professor of Pediatrics, University of California, La Jolla, CA

Dr. Howell was Chairperson of Pediatrics at the Medical College of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, from 1963 to 1973. She is a well-known educator in the problems of dying children and their families, and was one of the founding physicians of Ars Moriendi, an organization founded to promote the formal teaching of death and dying to medical students.

Dr. Howell was instrumental in the development of a children's hospice in Philadelphia called Butterfly Hill, and has been prominent in the hospice movement nationally.

Dr. Howell is a regular speaker to health and lay groups in the greater Philadelphia community, and is an active participant in maternal and child health, and public health groups at both the local and state levels.

Her basic interest remains the education of tomorrow's physicians.

An eligible Fellow is one who attained such status prior to 1981.*

PSYCHIATRIC ASPECTS OF PHENCYCLIDINE (PCP) ABUSE

Dir.: Ferris N. Pitts, Jr., M.D., Los Angeles, CA

Faculty: Alfonso M. Baez, M.D., Orm Aniline, M.D., Robert E. Allen, M.D., Los Angeles, CA

Educational Objective: To examine the psychiatric aspects of phencyclidine use and abuse. Description: The faculty developed a sensitive method to measure PCP in bodily fluids and studied psychiatric populations with astonishing results. The ability to measure PCP in the picogram range allowed recognition of intoxicated patients in violent, bizarre, acutely psychotic, and involuntary public psychiatric populations. PCP in blood was correlated with a variety of psychiatric symptoms and signs not previously linked to PCP intoxication. Psychiatric patients intoxicated with PCP manifested at least one symptom or sign of toxic psychosis. Methods for diagnosis and treatment of inpatients and outpatients with various PCP intoxication syndromes will be taught. Fee $40.

COURSE 30

La Galerie Room 4, 2nd Floor, Marriott

MANAGING PSYCHIATRIC FACILITIES: A SYSTEMS APPROACH

Dir.: Boris M. Astrachan, M.D., New Haven, CT

Faculty: Gary L. Tischler, M.D., New Haven, CT

Educational Objective: To teach a systems approach to understanding psychiatric organizations. Emphasis will be placed on differentiating among committees, regulatory structures, and skill pools, and on the organizational location of the medical staff. Description: Participants will learn the ways in which organizational goals and structure are related, and to examine the congruence of goals and structure. Entry systems in psychiatric institutions and the influence of entry processes on therapeutic structures will be emphasized. Managing the boundaries between the organization and its environment, between sectors of the organization, and between organizational work requirements and the needs of individuals will be discussed. Organizational committees, and the medical staff's role within the organization will be discussed. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

MANIPULATION, NARCISSISM, AND SOCIOPATHY

Dir.: Ben Bursten, M.D., Memphis, TN

Educational Objective: To explore the psychological aspects of manipulation, understand this behavior within a framework of narcissism, and develop the ability of recognizing the phenomenology exhibited by chronic manipulators. Description: The concept of manipulation and its psychological meaning to the manipulator will be discussed. The narcissistic underpinnings of manipulation will be reviewed. The chronic manipulator, as a narcissistic personality type, will be described and related to current concepts of the "sociopath" and "anti-social personality." Emphasis will be placed on recognizing the phenomenology of this personality type. A videotape of a person with a manipulative personality who has had no trouble with the law will be shown as a vehicle for focusing on the mental status aspects of manipulative people. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 31

La Galerie Room 6, 2nd Floor, Marriott

CHRONIC PAIN THERAPY: MULTIDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

Dir.: William W. Lukensmeyer, M.D., Campbell, CA

Faculty: Philipp M. Lippe, M.D., San Jose, Mary Anne Norfleet, Ph.D. (I), Janet Mansfield, R.N. (I), Brenda Sakamoto, O.T.R. (I), Benjamin Hammett, Ph.D. (I), Louis Icaza, Pharm.D. (I), Campbell, CA

Educational Objective: To understand the evaluation and treatment of chronic pain patients in multidisciplinary settings. Description: This course is designed for psychiatrists interested in assessing and treating patients with chronic pain. Liaison psychiatrists who consult with pain centers may be particularly interested. Participants will discuss evaluation and treatment methods with the pain treatment team from a multidisciplinary pain center. Topics include diagnostic classification of pain syndromes; psychiatric disorders in pain patients; treatment techniques; drug therapy; and interface with pain centers. Course materials include an annotated bibliography, case material in self-assessment form, and a detailed course syllabus. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

Mardi Gras Ballroom H, 3rd Floor, Marriott

PSYCHIATRIC CONSULTATION TO POLICE DEPARTMENTS

Dir.: Neal A. Kline, M.D., La Jolla, CA

Educational Objective: To review basic considerations of emotional dysfunction applicable to police work, and to prepare psychiatrists to educate police officers at both the training academy and senior field levels. Description: Local law enforcement agencies are often required to evaluate mentally ill or emotionally disabled persons on the street. Dangerousness to self or others is a primary concern and application for involuntary hospitalization a frequent procedure. Police academy senior training officers can benefit from an increased understanding of emotional dysfunction, including stress overload reactions, in their trainees as well as the general public. Psychiatric consultation to police departments can influence the public through better police recognition of persons needing referral to the mental health network. Fee $40.

COURSE 32

Mardi Gras Ballroom A, 3rd Floor, Marriott

PSYCHOTHERAPEUTIC ASPECTS OF CHILDREN'S LITERATURE

Dir.: Anthony A. Bottone, M.D., Olympia, WA

Educational Objective: To introduce literature sources for locating appropriate works and to show how these works may be employed psychotherapeutically; to discuss themes in children's literature, emphasizing children's literature of the past 20 years; and to familiarize both the psychiatrist and the spouse with literature that their own children may be reading. Description: This course examines the new realism of children's literature which has emerged during the past 20 years. Representative authors and their works will be discussed as well as their relevance to psychotherapy or to helping children cope with stresses on their own. Fantasy versus realism in literature will be examined. Fee $40.

RIGHT TO REFUSE TREATMENT

Dir.: Louis E. Kopolow, M.D., Potomac, MD

Faculty: Robert Sadoff, M.D., Jenkintown, PA; Mary Cazales, J.D. (I), New Orleans, LA; Reed Martin, J.D. (I), Houston, TX; Judi Chamberlin, B.A. (I), Somerville, MA

Educational Objective: To explore clinical implications of the right to refuse treatment, and to assist clinicians in assuring that such a right can be balanced with the patient's clinical and human rights. Description: Traditionally, decisions about mental health treatments have been made by the caregivers. Recently, however, courts and legal/mental health writers have discussed whether the patient has a constitutionally based right to refuse treatment. Some writers contend that refusal of treatment undercuts the right to adequate treatment for mentally ill patients. Other issues include the patient's competency to decide and the definition of informed consent, as well as the possible implications of administering or withholding treatment. Fee $40.

ART AS A FACILITATOR IN TEACHING GROUP PROCESS

Dir.: Peter F. Goyer, M.D., Portsmouth, VA

Faculty: Robert M. Dorn, M.D., Virginia Beach, Cynthia A. Wolf, M.A. (I), Ralph J. Coppola, M.D., Norfolk, VA

Educational Objective: To demonstrate how art productions can be used as a didactic and experiential technique to facilitate the teaching of group process. Description: Verbal groups use the verbalized free associations of their members to examine latent content and group movement. Art groups use artistic creations to examine unconscious material and clarify conscious material. The faculty have found a combination of the two modalities to be extremely useful in teaching group process. This course will be a didactic and experiential presentation of the concept. Fee $40.

COURSE 37

Mardi Gras Ballroom-Balcony LM, 3rd Floor, Marriott

AVOIDING PSYCHIATRIC LIABILITY

Dir.: Howard V. Zonana, M.D., New Haven, CT

Faculty: Lansing E. Crane, J.D. (I), Theodore Zanker, M.D., New Haven, CT

Educational Objective: To reduce exposure to successful liability claims by teaching participants how to recognize liability issues; maintain records; respond to disclosure requests; respond to communications from patients, attorneys, insurance companies, and public agencies; select insurance coverage; reduce liability exposure from prescription practices, assessment of harmfulness, disclosure of information, and informed consent practices; and prepare for courtroom testimony. Description: With theoretical and practical material, the course teaches practices designed to reduce liability exposure and promote informed conduct in relationships with the legal system. Developments in psychiatric liability, role of expert witnesses and peer review, and insurance coverage will be reviewed. Fee $40.

COURSE 34

Mardi Gras Ballroom F, 3rd Floor, Marriott

THE GROUP PRACTICE OF PSYCHIATRY: MAKING IT WORK

Dir.: Sheldon D. Glass, M.D., Baltimore, MD

Faculty: John Jeffreys, Ed.D. (I), Ned E. Rubin, M.S.W. (I), Baltimore, MD

Educational Objective: To explore predictable phases of development of group practice; professional and managerial issues in group practice; similarities and differences in two major types of group psychiatric practice, i.e., the all-psychiatric group practice and the multidisciplinary mental health professional group headed by a psychiatrist. Description: This course is designed for those contemplating a group practice, and for the psychiatrist who has recently started a group practice. We will review the development, maintenance, and refinement of a group practice. Predictable benefits and problems of the group practice will be discussed from a professional (clinical), managerial, and financial perspective. Delineation of responsibilities, and supervision and liability issues will also be discussed. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 38

THE 1ST STAGE OF FAMILY THERAPY: 10 KEY QUESTIONS

Dir.: Roy O. Resnikoff, M.D., La Jolla, CA

Educational Objective: To provide a "family mental status" to be used as a starting point for family understanding and change. Description: Questions include: What is the outward appearance of the family? How operationally (and developmentally) functional is the family? What is the cognitive functioning of the family? What repetitive, nonproductive sequences do you notice? What is the basic feeling state? How is the family's reluctance to participate manifested? Are dyads predominant or are triangular arrangements predominant? Who determines the rules and myths of the family? What are the subgroup boundaries? What are the evaluator's own reactions to the family? In a simulated or natural family interview, the staging of family therapy will also be discussed. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

YOU CAN BE A BETTER SUPERVISOR

Dir.: Frank M. Kline, M.D., Long Beach, CA

Faculty: Marcia Goin, M.D., Sherwyn A. Woods, M.D., Rodney W. Burgoyne, M.D., Los Angeles, CA

Educational Objective: To help psychiatrists clarify goals and responsibilities of supervising residents' psychotherapy. Description: This course reviews the principles and provides supervision guidelines. The supervisors' attention to transference, countertransferences, discussion of psychiatric principles, and activity during the teaching of psychotherapy will be discussed. Format consists of didactic presentations, reviewing past experiences, videotapes of supervision, and active discussion about the methods shown, lectures, and small group discussions to show how supervisors can improve their skills in ongoing case supervision of psychiatric residents. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

COURSE 40

PSYCHIATRIC EMERGENCY CARE ADMINISTRATION

Dir.: Stephen M. Soreff, M.D., Portland, ME

Faculty: Beverly J. Fauman, M.D., Michael Fauman, M.D., Detroit, MI

Educational Objective: To provide basic administrative concepts involved with an emergency psychiatric service and furnish practical suggestions for implementing these ideas. Description: This course focuses on the key administrative issues in developing and continuing an emergency psychiatric service. It addresses staffing, relationships between the service and Emergency Department personnel, EMTs, its own Department of Psychiatry, and the entire community's mental health treatment network, economics, architecture, chart maintenance, and legal responsibilities. The course presents program concepts but emphasizes practical ideas by which to provide an effective quality service. Fee $40.

ASSESSMENT OF THE VIOLENT JUVENILE OFFENDER

Dir.: C. Robert Showalter, M.D., Harrisonburg, VA

Faculty: Charles H. Whitebread, J.D. (I), Gary B. Melton, Ph.D. (I), Charlottesville, VA

Educational Objective: To teach new concepts of evaluating and assessing violent juvenile behavior and its psychodynamic precursors, not as diagnostic entities per se but rather as elements for determining amenability to treatment and rehabilitation. Description: The course explores legal and clinical issues involved in assessing violent juvenile offenders. The legal perspective will briefly review the history of the juvenile court, and discuss the reform movement in juvenile law. The social and family context will be developed using systems theory and social learning theory. The psychiatric perspective focuses on evaluating potential biological substrates of juvenile violence as well as specific assessments of intrapsychic development, the interpersonal socialization process, and a review of dispositional alternatives. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

BIOLOGICAL, PSYCHOLOGICAL, AND SOCIAL BONDING

Charles A. Pinderhughes, M.D.

For 32 years, Dr. Charles Pinderhughes has functioned as a psychiatrist, clinician and teacher in the Boston area. Psychoanalysis has been predominant in his training and clinical approach, and he has applied this orientation, along with biomedical and psychosocial orientations, in the consultation-liaison psychiatry, inpatient psychiatry, administrative psychiatry, private practice, social psychiatry, and research aspects of his career.

Dr. Pinderhughes developed the theory of group-related, non-pathological paranoid and the theory of differential bonding based on psychophysiological concepts. He is Professor of Psychiatry at Boston University School of Medicine and is in charge of training Boston University psychiatry residents at the Rogers Memorial VA Hospital in Bedford, Massachusetts.

SEXUAL WELLNESS AT VARIOUS LIFE CYCLE STAGES

Mary S. Calderone, M.D.

Dr. Mary Calderone has devoted her professional life to increasing public understanding and acceptance of human sexuality. She was Medical Director of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America for eleven years, 1953-1964, during which time she was instrumental in the adoption of positive positions toward family planning by the American Public Health Association and by the American Medical Association. In 1964 she co-founded the Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S. (SIECUS), then became its Executive Director and, since 1975, its President. In addition to being a tireless educator, author, editor, and public speaker, she is a great-grandmother.

DILEMMAS OF ACADEMIC LEADERSHIP IN AN AGE OF SELF-REALIZATION

Professor David Riesman

After an undergraduate major in biochemistry, David Riesman attended Harvard Law School and clerked for Justice Brandeis at the Supreme Court. Subsequently, he taught law and social science, with particular interest in civil liberties, social psychology, and the relationship of social structure and personality. He studied psychoanalysis with Erich Fromm and Harry Stack Sullivan at the William Alanson White Institute. Among numerous published papers and books is the classic study, The Lonely Crowd. Since 1958, as the Henry Ford II Professor of Social Science at Harvard, Professor Riesman's primary research focus has been the development and current state of American higher education, which is the topic of his recently published book, On Higher Education.

FORUM *

8:00 A.M.-10:30 A.M.

Napoleon Ballroom, 3rd Floor, Hilton

Chp.: John E. Mack, M.D., Chestnut Hill, MA

THE UNCONSCIOUS IN THE USSR: THE MEANING OF TBILISI

Participants: Léon Chertok, M.D., Paris, France; Thomas F. Main, M.B. (I), London, England; George H. Pollock, M.D., Chicago, IL; Rita R. Rogers, M.D., Torrance, CA; Professor V.S. Rotenberg (I), Moscow, USSR; Professor A.E. Sherozia (I), Tbilisi, Georgia, USSR; Howard Shevrin, Ph.D. (I), Ann Arbor, MI

In October, 1979 an International Symposium was held in Tbilisi, USSR, on "The Problem of Unconscious Mental Activity." This conference was the outgrowth of the work of the Georgian Academy of Science and the Tbilisi University in collaboration with French psychiatrist Léon Chertok, M.D. Several years of work and planning went into the conference and 3 volumes of scientific papers were published in advance of the symposium and the 4th volume is in progress. The theory of "set" or ustanovka developed by D.N. Uznadze (1886-1950) provided a scientific bridge between Soviet scientific traditions and psychology, and Freudian or psychoanalytic conceptions of the unconscious. Many aspects of the problem of the unconscious were explored at the symposium, which was attended by large numbers of Western and Eastern European psychologists and psychiatrists.

The Symposium was an important event in the development of Soviet psychology and the scientific relations between the Soviet Union and Western schools of psychology. There has been a desire expressed on all sides to continue the exchange of ideas initiated in Tbilisi, and this forum was developed to further that purpose. We will be joined by Professor A.E. Sherozia, one of the Georgian architects of the conference. The forum will include the following presentations by the American participants: 1) an overview of the conference and its background; 2) a discussion of the emotional climate surrounding the symposium; 3) a history of psychoanalysis in the USSR; 4) a presentation on the Uznadze school and its significance for Soviet psychology and Western concepts; 5) a discussion of Soviet and Western approaches to the understanding of the unconscious.

THE THERAPEUTIC DILEMMA IN CHRONIC ILLNESS

Dir.: Harold D. Udelman, M.D., Phoenix, AZ

Faculty: Donna Lou Udelman, Ph.D. (I), Phoenix, AZ; Louis A. Gottschalk, M.D., Irvine, CA; Donald L. Dudley, M.D., Seattle, WA

Educational Objective: To identify the natural history of illness, differentiating acuteness from chronicity, to clarify the impact of therapeutic interventions as to both cause and effect in remission and/or exacerbation. Description: Illness and chronicity will be discussed relative to varied diagnostic entities, including psychiatric, gastrointestinal, rheumatologic, cardiovascular, pulmonary, and oncologic. Treatment modalities and patient education programs will be presented, and family involvement in the therapeutic plan examined. We will attempt to define the narrow line that often exists between therapy and genesis of chronicity in the use of various potent agents or regimens. The aim is to enhance favorable interventions, while clarifying risks inherent in many. Fee $40.

THE LEGAL REGULATION OF PSYCHIATRIC PRACTICE

Dir.: Robert L. Sadoff, M.D., Jenkintown, PA

Faculty: Park Elliott Dietz, M.D., Boston, MA; Richard G. Lonsdorf, M.D., Philadelphia, PA; Michael L. Perlin, J.D. (I), Trenton, NJ; Jonas R. Rappeport, M.D., Baltimore, MD

Educational Objective: The course is designed to teach basic elements of forensic psychiatry, primarily those involving the laws, holdings, and cases that affect and regulate the practice of psychiatry. Description: This course presents practical issues on law and psychiatry. It covers the issues of the doctor-patient relationship, elements of confidentiality, privileged communications, informed consent, and malpractice. The course covers patients' rights, the right to treatment, the right to refuse treatment, and involuntary hospitalization. The faculty consists of experienced forensic psychiatrists and one attorney who has worked in the area of mental health advocacy. The course will inform participants about changes in mental health law and cover the current cases that affect psychiatric practice. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

SYMPTOM REMOVAL VIA STRATEGIC PSYCHOTHERAPY

Dir.: Richard Rabkin, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: Leslie M. Forman, M.D., Mt. Kisco, Allen Fay, M.D., New York, NY

Educational Objective: To develop an eclectic symptom removal practice. Description: The morning will be devoted to understanding the use of various nonspecific contextual influences on the patient. Changes in the context of the symptom will be discussed. Placebos, hypnosis, paradoxical instructions, family therapy, and other approaches will be investigated for their common influences on the therapeutic process. A movie illustrating a family handling a problem in two different ways, with filmed comment by Gregory Bateson, will be shown. The afternoon will be devoted to specific protocols for dealing with particular symptoms and/or conditions. Anxiety states, depression, and weight loss of 50 or more pounds will be used as illustrative problems. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 44

La Galerie Room 2, 2nd Floor, Marriott

PSYCHOSOMATIC DISORDERS: STRUCTURAL FAMILY THERAPY

Dir.: Gordon R. Hodas, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Faculty: John Sargent, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Educational Objective: To teach participants how to use structural family therapy in treating psychosomatic disorders, and how to evaluate the role of the family in the maintenance and exacerbation of childhood and adolescent psychosomatic disorders. Description: This course deals with the use of structural family therapy in bringing about desired outcomes in childhood and adolescent psychosomatic disorders. Special attention will be given to anticipating potential problems in the treatment of psychosomatic families; establishing collaboration with the referring pediatrician; and transforming dysfunctional patterns in the family and medical network into a growth-promoting healing matrix for child and family. Illustrative videotape material and clinical anecdotes will be presented. Fee $60.

COURSE 45

La Galerie Room 3, 2nd Floor, Marriott

MEDICAL SYNDROMES, MEDICATION: THE PSYCHIATRIST

Dir.: P. Evans Adams, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Faculty: Robert Berkow, M.D. (I), Lansdale, Kevin Hails, M.D., Burton Weiss, M.D., Bradley H. Sevin, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Educational Objective: To cull from various sources medical and drug issues relevant to psychiatrists, and to examine divergent opinions on the usefulness and/or hazards of common procedures and therapies. Description: Drug-drug interactions, psychotropic medication effects on the patient with medical illness or age-related medical problems, iatrogenic psychotropic or medical drug-induced disorders or syndromes, and psychopharmacologic advances will be reviewed. The CAT scan, ultrasound, the Gallium scan, and metabolic studies necessary in initial diagnostic evaluations and in monitoring patients on medications will be presented. Medical illnesses that simulate or confound psychiatric disorders and psychiatric disorders that mimic or complicate physical entities will be reviewed. Fee $60.

COURSE 46

La Galerie Room 4, 2nd Floor, Marriott

MANAGEMENT OF ALLERGY-INDUCED MENTAL ILLNESS

Dir.: Thomas L. Stone, M.D., Rolling Meadows, IL

Faculty: William H. Philpott, M.D., Oklahoma City, OK; Donald L. Kerste, M.D., Des Plaines, IL

Educational Objective: To introduce the concept of cerebral allergy; to demonstrate a variety of central nervous system hypersensitivity responses to common substances, the principles and practice of CNS allergy diagnosis, and a variety of therapeutic modalities that help manage cerebral allergy. Description: This course examines common manifestations of cerebral hypersensitivity and will provide instruction in basic diagnostic techniques. There will be a brief review of basic allergy concepts and an extended presentation of cerebral allergy. Diagnostic methods such as the RAST; cytotoxic, sublingual, and intradermal testing and provocative food challenge with multiple parameter assessment will be discussed. The final presentation addresses the issue of integrating psychotherapy into a system that focuses on treating hypersensitivity-related symptoms. Fee $60.

COURSE 47

PSYCHIATRIC SYNDROMES INDUCED
BY MEDICATION

Dir.: Robert J. Salinger, M.D., Madison, WI

Faculty: Chester A. Bond, Pharm.D. (I), James W. Jefferson, M.D., Carl J. Getto, M.D., Madison, WI

Educational Objective: To increase skills in the differential diagnosis and treatment of psychiatric syndromes caused by psychotropic and other medications. Description: The psychiatric syndromes caused by medications, the differential diagnosis of these syndromes from functional psychiatric illness and the basic principles of treatment will be presented, along with detailed consideration of medications that can cause psychiatric syndromes. Clinical material will be presented through videotape and case histories. There will be ample opportunity for audience participation in case discussions. Special attention will be given to psychotropic medications and to the problems of geriatric patients. Although the major thrust will be clinical, relevant pharmacological issues will be considered. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 48

La Galerie Room 6, 2nd Floor, Marriott

THE CHILD: DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT PLANNING

Dir.: Rita W. Patton, M.D., Houston, TX

Faculty: Patricia Butler, M.D. (I), Arthur J. Farley, M.D., Sarah Howell, M.D., James Robinson, M.D., Houston, TX

Educational Objective: To develop diagnostic and treatment planning skills as related to children aged 3-12 years. Description: Format includes lectures with ample discussion time between audience and faculty. Specific diagnostic areas to be examined include the child with neurotic behavior; behavior problems; physical illness, the treatment of which is complicated by emotional problems; mental retardation; or psychotic behavior. Case presentations will give participants an opportunity to compare their assessment and treatment plan with that of the faculty. A unique aspect of the course will be the varied theoretical backgrounds of the faculty. This will allow the participants to observe how problems may be approached differently depending on the theoretical orientation of the faculty member. Fee $60.

COURSE 49

Mardi Gras Ballroom A, 3rd Floor, Marriott

MASKED DEPRESSION

Dir.: Stanley Lesse, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: Kurt Glaser, M.D., Baltimore, MD; James M. Toolan, M.D., Old Bennington, VT

Educational Objective: The subject of masked depression represents one of the more common clinical syndromes seen in Western medicine. Depression may be masked by hypochondriacal and psychosomatic disorders or acting-out behavior. This course offers an understanding of the multivariant masks of depression occurring in children, adolescents, and adults. Therapy will also be stressed. Description: Topics include the multivariant masks of depression, masked depression in children, masked depression in adolescents, hypochondriasis and psychosomatic disorders masking depression, and combined psychotherapy-antidepressant drug therapy. Brief discussions with the audience will follow each presentation. A panel discussion will be held between the faculty and the audience. Fee $60.

COURSE 50

ADMINISTRATIVE COMPETENCE FOR THE PSYCHIATRIST

Dir.: Yoosuf A. Haveliwala, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: Stuart L. Keill, M.D., Buffalo, Stephen Rachlin, M.D., East Meadow, Alan Kraft, M.D., Alan A. Lipton, M.D., Albany, NY; Anthony A. Arce, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Educational Objective: To provide basic information about skills needed in administration, to teach new methods and strategies required in administration, especially at times of diminishing resources, and to increase the efficiency of psychiatrists who act as administrators. Description: This course is designed for psychiatrists who administer psychiatric programs in general hospitals, community mental health centers, or public hospitals. The course gives information and elicits discussion in the areas of organizational theory, personnel practices, budget and financing, evaluation, medical care administration, community mental health theory and practice, forensic psychiatry, and public relations and politics of mental health. Fee $60.

GERIATRIC PSYCHIATRY: DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT

Dir.: William J. Gershell, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: Raymond Vickers, M.D., Albany, Charles A. Murkofsky, M.D.,
New York, NY

Educational Objective: To enhance the diagnostic and treatment skills of psychiatrists with the elderly patient. Description: This course presents the geriatric patient within a holistic framework, viewing the aging process as a developmental life task with its own vicissitudes, dynamics, and special requirements. Problems of diagnosis will be discussed, especially the distinction between reversible and nonreversible disorders. Topics include new perspectives on depressive, paranoid, and organic states; treatment modalities such as pharmacokinetics, psychopharmacology, and ECT; drug reactions with consideration of cardiovascular and CNS effects; lithium use in the elderly; criteria for hospitalization; individual and family psychodynamic factors and psychotherapy. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

THERAPY AND THEORYHilde Bruch, M.D.

Hilde Bruch graduated from the University of Freiburg, Germany in 1928 with an M.D. degree. She trained in physiology at the University of Kiel and in pediatrics in Leipzig. She left Germany in 1933 and came to the United States in 1934 after one year in London. She began her studies of childhood obesity while working at the Babies Hospital in New York. This work led to her seeking psychiatric training at Johns Hopkins Hospital and psychoanalytic training at the Baltimore-D.C. Psychoanalytic Institute. After her return to New York she practiced psychoanalysis until 1964 and worked as Psychotherapeutic Supervisor at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. She continued to be interested in obesity and became involved in the study of anorexia nervosa. In 1964 she moved to Houston as Professor of Psychiatry at Baylor College of Medicine, where she still works as Professor Emeritus. She has published more than 200 papers in scientific and professional journals, and six books, of which Eating Disorders (1973), Learning Psychotherapy (1974), and The Golden Cage: The Enigma of Anorexia Nervosa (1978) are the most recent.

THE FUTURE OF PSYCHIATRIC EDUCATION

Daniel X. Freedman, M.D.

Dr. Freedman, both a psychiatrist and pharmacologist, is Professor and Chairman of the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Chicago. Formerly he was at Yale School of Medicine for 20 years, where he elucidated the link of hallucinogens and of stress with brain neurohormones, and where his psychopharmacology laboratory and training programs stimulated many who today are leading psychiatric investigators. He currently studies the role of brain function in peripheral amino acid and amine metabolism in neuropsychiatric disorders. He is chief editor of the Archives of General Psychiatry, prolific author, and the President-Elect of the American Psychiatric Association.

The development of clonidine treatment for the opiate withdrawal syndrome rests on several lines of basic research and illustrates rational pharmacotherapeutics, simultaneously providing a new treatment, a possible mechanism of action, and a new understanding of the nature of the disorder. Clonidine's development also illustrates the interplay between and integration of a number of areas of current research which can provide psychiatrists with exposure to techniques and methods being used to develop tomorrow's psychopharmacology. Basic research studies in neuroanatomy, neuropharmacology, and neurophysiology will reveal actions of opiates and clonidine from the molecular-biochemical level to the behavior of intact nonhuman primates. The speakers will describe where opiates, norepinephrine (NE), and clonidine act in the brain, the effects of activation of the locus coeruleus (LC) in higher primates, description of the opiate withdrawal syndrome and the first demonstration of its suppression by clonidine, and evidence for noradrenergic mediation of opiate withdrawal syndrome in humans using a gas-chromatography-mass spectroscopy technique to measure the NE metabolite, MHPG, in plasma.

This symposium uses the development of a new clinical treatment for opiate addiction to describe current basic research techniques and neuropharmacological strategies which are also being applied to the study of anxiety, Tourette's syndrome, depression and schizophrenia. The presentations should also increase understanding of brain endorphin and norepinephrine systems in emotion and behavior.

CULTURAL ISSUES IN PSYCHIATRIC TRAINING AND PRACTICE

Dir.: Satish C. Varma, M.D., Jamaica, NY

Faculty: Mark Zussman, M.D., San Francisco, CA; R. Ramsey Mellette, M.D., Charleston, SC; Armando Favazza, M.D., Columbia, MO

Educational Objective: To teach certain cultural factors that are helpful to psychiatrists who deal with patients from alien cultures; to teach psychiatrists from alien cultures to become aware of those factors which interfere in their joining the mainstream of psychiatry; and to teach therapy-psychiatric educators how to incorporate transcultural psychiatry into training programs. Description: This course teaches psychiatrists how to become aware of certain cultural issues which will facilitate the therapeutic process. Psychiatrists from other cultures will learn about their problems in practicing in the U.S. and how to cope with them. Examples of U.S.-trained psychiatrists practicing in developing countries will be presented. Fee $40.

COURSE 66

Dauphine Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

GETTING INTO PRINT IN PSYCHIATRIC JOURNALS

Dir.: Evelyn S. Myers, M.A. (I), Washington, DC

Faculty: Sandra M. Hass, B.A. (I), Laura M. Little, B.A. (I), Lee Gurel, Ph.D. (I), Zing Jung, M.L.S. (I), Washington, DC; Nancy C. Andreasen, M.D., Iowa City, IA; John C. Nemiah, M.D., Boston, MA; Discussants: Daniel X. Freedman, M.D., Chicago, IL; Melvin Lewis, M.D., New Haven, CT; Morris A. Lipton, M.D., Chapel Hill, NC

Educational Objective: To provide basic knowledge regarding manuscript and book review preparation and to provide an opportunity to question the editors of leading psychiatric journals. Description: The course emphasizes skills to attain the clarity of expression, of literature search, and excellence of research design and tabular and statistical presentation that psychiatric journals require. The referee system of the American Journal of Psychiatry will be explained. Topics include submitting to the appropriate journal, writing a good title and abstract, appropriate use of tables and figures, research design, statistical analysis, literature searches, case reports, overviews and other special articles, book reviews, and writing style. Format consists of lectures and discussion periods. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

THE USE OF THE NIMH DIAGNOSTIC INTERVIEW SCHEDULE

Co-Dirs.: John E. Helzer, M.D., St. Louis, MO; Philip J. Leaf, Ph.D. (I),
New Haven, CT

Faculty: Lee N. Robins, Ph.D. (I), Jack L. Croughan, M.D., Kathryn S.
Ratcliff, Ph.D. (I), St. Louis, MO; Helen Orvaschel, Ph.D. (I), Charles E.
Holzer III, Ph.D. (I), New Haven, CT

Educational Objective: To introduce the NIMH Diagnostic Interview Schedule (DIS), to familiarize potential users of the DIS with available training material, and to describe the application of the DIS in research settings. Description: The NIMH Diagnostic Interview Schedule is a structured diagnostic interview that can be used by either clinicians or nonclinicians in clinical or research settings. The interview schedule allows for the use of DSM-III, RDC, and Feighner selection criteria. The course describes the overall structure of the DIS, reviews the use of the instrument in research and clinical settings, explains how the various subsections of the instrument are organized, and familiarizes potential users with existing training materials, i.e., instructional manuals, videotapes, and written exercises. Fee $60.

PSYCHIATRIC CONSULTATION TO CRITICAL-CARE UNITS

Dir.: Stuart J. Eisendrath, M.D., San Francisco, CA

Faculty: Thomas P. Hackett, M.D., Boston, MA; Troy L. Thompson II,
M.D., Denver, CO

Educational Objective: To develop skills in performing psychiatric consultation-liaison services within a critical-care setting. Description: As a consultant, the psychiatrist may be able to provide specific and important interventions for the patients of units such as surgical and medical intensive care units as well as coronary care units. The course explores the problems that arise within the critical-care setting, psychological interventions, and some of the psychological hazards that may develop. Problems of staff

COURSE 68

PSYCHIATRIC LIAISON IN AMBULATORY PEDIATRICS

Dir.: Gordon R. Hodas, M.D., Philadelphia, PA

Faculty: Paul Honig, M.D. (I), Lydia Linan-Gervacio, M.D. (I), William
Sharrar, M.D. (I), Philadelphia, PA

Educational Objective: To understand how to develop and maintain a psychiatric liaison teaching program in ambulatory pediatrics in a pediatrics residency program. Description: Drawing from the collaborative liaison program of the Philadelphia Child Guidance Clinic and the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, faculty will discuss these areas: the prerequisites of a successful pediatric-psychiatric liaison program for ambulatory pediatrics, using the pediatric physical examination and the interpersonal behavior of the pediatrician to foster competence and health during routine well child visits, and establishing a behavior clinic to help senior residents in pediatrics learn how to screen, manage, and refer selected behavioral problems of childhood and adolescence. The role of the liaison psychiatrist will also be discussed. Fee $60.

COURSE 69

La Galerie Room 4, 2nd Floor, Marriott

VISUALIZATION AND MENTAL IMAGERY IN PSYCHOTHERAPY

Dir.: Lewis E. Mehl, M.D., Berkeley, CA

Faculty: Gail H. Peterson, M.S.W. (I), Berkeley, CA

Educational Objective: To introduce the use of visualization and mental imagery techniques in psychotherapy and to give participants a sense of how to approach a variety of clinical problems using these techniques. Description: The use of visual imagery is a new and exciting method of psychotherapy. Use of visual imagery in the face of anxiety, obsession, psychosis, depression, borderline syndrome, and in psychophysiological disorders is discussed. The neurophysiological basis of the efficacy of these techniques is considered. Participants will experience a visualization themselves and will have the opportunity to lead each other in a visualization. There will be tapes of case examples to provide concrete experiential data. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 70

Mardi Gras Ballroom F, 3rd Floor, Marriott

INFORMATION AND PROCESS FOR SELF-DISCOVERY

Dir.: Curtis A. Steele, M.D., Baton Rouge, LA

Faculty: Nancy Porter, Ph.D. (I), Baton Rouge, LA

Educational Objective: To teach some elements of a humanistic approach to psychiatry and have participants experience themselves in multiple dimensions, so that they will be less vulnerable to "burnout" and more aware of options in their treatment approaches. Description: Beginning with basic concepts of Transactional Analysis and other disciplines, faculty will lead participants into exploring themselves in relation to their world. This will happen in a structured sequence of activities so that participants will have the opportunity to assess themselves in multiple dimensions. This workshop intends to expand self-awareness through self-discovery, a fundamental characteristic of the process of a humanistic approach to psychiatry. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 71

FAMILY ASSESSMENT AND FAMILY THERAPY

Dir.: W. Robert Beavers, M.D., Dallas, TX

Faculty: W. Lawrence Campbell, M.D., William T. Moore, M.D., Mark N. Voeller, Ph.D. (I), Beverly G. Bonnheim, M.S.S.W. (I), Dallas, TX

Educational Objective: To teach specifics of assessing a family and relating assessment to the planning of family intervention strategies; and to relate different types of interventions to different types of families. Description: The course focuses on specific methods of assessing family patterns, styles and pathologies. A coherent framework for family diagnosis will be presented with illustrations. Assessment methodology will be followed by presentation of specific techniques for intervention in families. It will be demonstrated how intervention is planned from assessment and how different types of intervention are appropriate for different types of families. Fee $60.

COURSE 72

CARDIOPULMONARY RESUSCITATION

Dir.: Rodrigo A. Munroz, M.D., San Diego, CA

Faculty: William A. Forkner, M.D. (I), Sheboygan, WI; Charles L. Rich, M.D., San Diego, William Summers, M.D., Los Angeles, CA; Margaret Read, M.D., Vermillion, OH; Ferris N. Pitts, M.D., Los Angeles, Robert Budetti, M.D., La Mesa, CA

Educational Objective: To fully train participants in CPR, providing certification by the American Heart Association. Description: An American Heart Association master instructor will provide techniques to recognize early signs of heart attack, information to prevent early complications, and reassure the victim and move her/him to life-support units without delay. Participants will be shown how to provide immediate basic life-support at the scene, transport a stable victim for continued cardiac care, open and maintain a patent airway, provide artificial respiration by means of rescue breathing, and give artificial circulation by means of external cardiac compression. Successful performance will lead to CPR certification. This Is A Repeat Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 73

Mardi Gras Ballroom E, 3rd Floor, Marriott

SHORT-TERM DYNAMIC PSYCHOTHERAPY TECHNIQUE

Dir.: Habib Davanloo, M.D., Montreal, Que., Canada

Educational Objective: To provide knowledge of short-term dynamic psychotherapy based on psychoanalytic principles and to demonstrate the psychotherapeutic process. Description: The course focuses particularly on the technique and process of short-term dynamic psychotherapy for patients suffering from long-standing psychoneurotic disorders and characterological problems. The format consists of a didactic presentation and audiovisually recorded segments of the 3rd, 7th, 10th, 13th and 16th psychotherapy sessions of one patient. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

Dir.: John M. Dusay, M.D., San Francisco, CA

Faculty: Katherine Dusay, M.F.C.C. (I), San Francisco, CA

Educational Objective: To present the principles and techniques of Transactional Analysis. Description: This course offers a didactic overview of Transactional Analysis, with emphasis on the unique Transactional Analysis approach to both in-depth individual psychotherapy and marital and family therapy. A review of recent research and its practical implication for therapist and program administrators will be included. Transactional Analysis will be compared with other new and traditional psychologies. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

COURSE 75

Mardi Gras Ballroom-Balcony LM, 3rd Floor, Marriott

THEORY, PRACTICE, AND ETHICS OF PARADOX THERAPY

Dir.: Stanley A. Terman, M.D., Irvine, CA

Educational Objective: To introduce the strategic potential for change using paradoxical techniques in psychotherapy. Description: This course covers symptoms as a pathological means to communicate. Theories of problem development and resolution will be considered in the system context. Concepts, such as "double-bind" and "paradox," will be defined and illustrated with short clinical vignettes. The explicit and implicit communication aspects of paradoxical directives, including describing the symptom, positive relabeling, and predicting relapse, will be presented in detail. Ethical questions will include the issues of manipulation, dependency, and paradox as a very accepting form of therapy. Paradoxical techniques of couple therapy, and the goals of promoting individuation or improving communication will be emphasized. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

INFANT ASSESSMENT: ITS ROLE IN TRAINING

Dir.: Elsie R. Broussard, M.D., Pittsburgh, PA

Faculty: Cleon L. Cornes, M.D. (I), Deborah W. Dickey, M.S. (I), Margaret I. Gillick, M.D. (I), Pittsburgh, PA

Educational Objective: To acquire specific techniques of assessing social and emotional functioning in infancy and to consider the relevance of infant assessments for clinical work. Description: This course trains psychiatrists to assess psychosocial development in infancy. Such training has not generally been available within psychiatric educational programs. This course provides an opportunity for participants to gain skills in assessing the functioning of mother-infant systems. Specific instruments for screening and assessing mother-infant pairs will be presented. Participants will view and discuss videotapes of actual mother-infant interaction. Application of assessment findings to clinical work with infants and their families will be examined through case studies. Fee $60.

WORKING WITH COMPUTERS

Dir.: Zebulon Taintor, M.D., Rockville, MD

Faculty: Thomas Craig, M.D., James Johnson, M.A. (I), Orangeburg, NJ; James Hedlund, Ph.D. (I), St. Louis, MO; Mark Schwartz, M.D., New Haven, CT; James Robinson, Ph.D. (I), Chicago, IL; Thomas Conklin, M.D., Hartford, CT

Educational Objective: To teach basic components of a computer system, data-base management systems, evaluation of computer programs, and to discuss problems in installation, maintenance, use of computer programs, and impact on patient care. Description: Participants will meet with faculty who have no commercial motives and many years of experience developing, installing, and using computer applications and large-scale computers, minicomputers, and microcomputers. There will be presentations on computer capabilities, data-base management systems, developing, installing, maintaining, and using a computer system, discussion of reports that can be generated, improvement of patient care through the use of automated systems, and prices of various applications. Fee $60.

COURSE 78

Rampart Room, 4th Floor, Hyatt Regency

OCCUPATIONAL STRESS AND THE EMPLOYED PATIENT

Dir.: Stuart Rosenthal, M.D., Weston, MA

Educational Objective: To explore the ways that individual vulnerability interacts with organizational structure and practices to produce stress. Description: The course presents an application of psychodynamic concepts to an understanding of occupational stress. It integrates life-cycle issues with job tasks, relates these tasks to the way a person handles affection, aggression, dependency, and the ego ideal, and delineates the nature of the "psychological contracts" that people forge with organizations to maintain psychological balance. The format is lecture-discussion, with participants having the option of submitting cases for group discussion. A guide for case preparation will be forwarded before the meeting, and used to help participants structure their approach to issues of occupational stress. Fee $60.

COURSE 79

CLASSICAL EUROPEAN ACADEMIC PSYCHIATRY

Dir.: Michael A. Schwartz, M.D., New York, NY

Faculty: Marshal Folstein, M.D., Paul R. McHugh, M.D., Susan Folstein, M.D., Neil E. Pauker, M.D., Phillip R. Slavney, M.D., Baltimore, MD

Educational Objective: To present a comprehensive framework of classical concepts in European academic psychiatry. Description: A protracted process of development for DSM-III involves an incorporation of traditional concepts from the European mainland. Yet, the work of individuals such as Kraepelin, Wernicke, Jaspers, Schneider, Langfeldt, Bonhoffer, Kretschmer, Birnbaum, Kleist, and Leonard is relatively unknown in America. The course presents a comprehensive review of fundamental concepts developed by these academicians. Concepts include tenets underlying nosological issues in psychotic illness and in disorders of personality. The course explores basic dichotomies developed by this group, such as explanation/understandings, form/content, pathoplastic/pathogenic, and phenomenology/psychopathology. Format consists of lectures and small group discussions. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

EPILEPSY FOR THE PSYCHIATRIST

Dir.: Dietrich P. Blumer, M.D., Detroit, MI

Faculty: Ernst A. Rodin, M.D. (I), Detroit, MI; Shirley Ferguson, M.D., Toledo, OH

Educational Objective: To instruct psychiatrists about epilepsy (emphasizing temporal lobe epilepsy) and the psychiatric complications of the epilepsies. Description: This is an overview of the epilepsies and their psychiatric complications. Topics include classification, diagnosis, and principles of epilepsy treatment, with emphasis on temporal lobe epilepsy (complex partial seizures); the personality and behavior profile associated with temporal lobe epilepsy and the distinct psychopathological complications of epilepsy (psychoses, mood changes, pseudoseizures, fugue states); violence and epilepsy; treatment of psychiatric complications; videotape demonstrations of seizures and patient interviews. With each presentation there will be faculty interaction and subsequent faculty/audience interchanges. This course is designed for clinical psychiatrists. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.

O'Hare Room, Ground Level, Hyatt RegencyTHE ADULT LIFE CYCLEDir.:* Stefan Stein, M.D., White Plains, NY*Faculty:* Stephen Holzman, M.D., Gail Jaffe, M.S.W. (I), Michael Sacks, M.D., Charles A. Shamoian, M.D., Valery W. Yandow, M.D., White Plains, NY*Educational Objective:* To introduce basic concepts and models of adult development, and to understand the vicissitudes of normal and pathological adult development in relation to adult psychopathology. Description: This course presents biological, psychological, family, and sociological aspects of the adult life cycle, emphasizing special life-cycle issues for women, including the problem of leisure activity in the adult years. During the lunch break, participants will complete a personal Life-Cycle Inventory in preparation for the afternoon small discussion groups. The goal of this activity will be to apply the more theoretical presentations utilizing personal and clinical experience. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $60.COURSES 85, 86 ON PAGE 00*COURSE 81*Poydras B, Ground Level, Hyatt Regency*BASIC CLINICAL HYPNOSIS WITH ADULTS AND CHILDRENDir.:* Daniel T. Williams, M.D., New York, NY*Faculty:* Stuart Yudofsky, M.D., New York, NY; David Spiegel, M.D., Palo Alto, CA*Educational Objective:* To introduce hypnosis and its clinical applications. Description: This course presents an overview of appropriate clinical applications of hypnosis which will provide the participant with a starting point for developing skills in hypnosis. Content includes discussions of techniques for measuring hypnotizability, with special emphasis on the Hypnotic Induction Profile. Clinical application of hypnosis for pain control, habit control (smoking and overeating), psychosomatic disorders, conversion reactions, phobias, and for children and adolescents will be addressed. The importance of recognizing clinical indications and contraindications to the clinical use of hypnosis will be emphasized. Format includes didactic presentations, videotaped demonstrations of hypnotic induction methods, and question and answer periods. Fee $60.COURSE 82*Peachtree Room, Ground Level, Hyatt Regency*CURRENT CONCEPTS IN CLINICAL PSYCHOPHARMACOLOGY: IIDir.:* Steven Lipper, M.D., Ann Arbor, MI*Faculty:* C. DEALING EFFECTIVELY WITH THE MEDIA

Dir.: Shervert H. Frazier, M.D., Belmont, MA

Faculty: John Blamphin (I), Washington, DC; Lois Timnick (I), Los Angeles, CA; Mort Enright (I), Chicago, IL

Educational Objective: To familiarize psychiatrists with the working practices of the media so that they may more effectively communicate with the public. Description: Participants will be shown specific techniques for dealing with the objective science writer, the investigative reporter, and the hostile writer. Ways to correct errors or biased reporting will also be discussed. Specific applications of communications skills and practices to create positive public relations will be presented. The faculty for this course will consist entirely of nonpsychiatrist public relations and media experts. This Is A Revision Of A Course Given Last Year. Fee $40.

NEUROSCIENCE IN THE FUTURE OF PSYCHIATRY: PROMISE AND LIMITATIONS

Seymour S. Kety, M.D.

Dr. Seymour Kety is Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School and Director of the Laboratories for Psychiatric Research at the Mailman Research Center of McLean Hospital. Before that, he was the first Scientific Director and the Director of the Laboratory of Clinical Science at the National Institute of Mental Health. After pioneering work in the treatment of lead poisoning, he turned to fundamental studies of cerebral circulation and metabolism, and then to biologic aspects of mental illness. Dr. Kety's adoption studies demonstrated the role of genetic factors in schizophrenia. He is a prolific author and recipient of innumerable awards.

FRIDAY, MAY 15, 1981

An experiential workshop aimed to enhance awareness of one's values, attitudes and knowledge about normal processes of sexuality and the broad range of human sexual behaviour. The SAR (Sexual Attitude Restructuring) format will be followed. This consists of viewing one or more films followed by small group discussion led by experienced clinicians. Spouses and psychiatrists will form separate groups. This is a modification of last year's workshop.
