OMNA ON TOUR IN THE BIG APPLE

Getting to the Core: Solutions for the Mental Health of Diverse Populations in the Big Apple

OMNA on Tour in the Big Apple is a two-day conference that focuses on mental health disparities among diverse populations in New York. This track focuses on solutions to mental health challenges by featuring successful programs and informative lectures that address disparities and promote cultural competence.

OMNA on Tour is a track designed to inform communities around the nation about the significance of disparities in mental health care among diverse and underserved populations and to encourage collaborative action among those who can invoke change.

Dr. Annelle Primm and her staff have designed an informative and thorough program that captures the essence of New York, the diversity of its inhabitants and the issues and challenges that it faces in the area of mental health.

Through a mixture of five innovative programs, two lectures and one workshop, OMNA on Tour in the Big Apple covers comorbidities; homosexuality and HIV; gentrification, homelessness and displacement; and the criminalization of people of color with mental illnesses in the criminal justice system. The needs of children with incarcerated parents and the generational effects of incarceration will also be discussed during this two-day track.

The curriculum also explores the role of the church in the identification, support and education of the mentally ill. Other underserved groups are also addressed, including the mental health needs of college students, as well as those attending historically black colleges and universities who've been impacted by trauma and psychological distress.

The presenters represent the many faces of those involved in mental health. They include psychiatrists, clergy, an addiction specialist, psychologists, consumer advocates and a filmmaker. Listed below are the scientific sessions in this track.

AMERICAN ORTHOPSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION TRACK

The American Orthopsychiatric Association (“Ortho”) is the only interdisciplinary association of mental health professionals in the nation concerned with the intersection of mental health and social justice for mental health consumers and all citizens. Ortho has more than 80 years of promoting advocacy and collegiality. Ortho provides a common ground for collaborative study, research, and knowledge exchange among individuals from a variety of disciplines engaged in preventive, treatment, and advocacy approaches to mental health.

Ortho is sponsoring a special track focused on social justice and mental health issues related to special populations (children and individuals with dual disorders). The Ortho track is taking place on Saturday, October 10, 2009, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. In addition to two symposia, Ortho will convene an open meeting of the membership with a light lunch included. MISSION STATEMENT

INSTITUTE ON PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES

VISION

The Institute on Psychiatric Services (IPS) of the American Psychiatric Association is a yearly educational meeting which focuses on the needs of the most vulnerable, disenfranchised, and difficult-to-serve patients.

MISSION

The mission of the IPS is to train and support psychiatrists to provide quality care and leadership through study of the array of clinical innovations and services necessary to meet the needs of individuals who suffer from serious mental illness, substance abuse, or other assaults to their mental health due to trauma or adverse social circumstances, in order to assure optimal care and hope of recovery.

VALUES AND GOALS

To fulfill this mission, the IPS holds an annual meeting each fall that focuses on clinical and service programs, especially those that provide a complex array of services and clinical innovations to meet the needs of the most difficult-to-serve patients. Such programs constitute the continuum of care, from state and general hospitals to community-based drop-in centers, and attempt to meet the needs of persons living in rural communities, as well as the urban poor. The focus on more difficult-to-serve patients requires attention to the social and community contexts in which these patients are treated and reside. Contextual issues must be addressed because they operate as significant variables in the course of the psychiatric illnesses of certain patient populations such as those with severe and persistent mental illness, members of minority groups and those suffering economic hardships, most children and adolescents, the elderly, patients living in rural communities or in communities of immigrants, and patients treated in settings for physically or intellectually disabled individuals.

The IPS, therefore, fosters discussions of such issues as housing and vocational rehabilitation equally with innovative psychological treatments and pharmacotherapy. The clinical focus of the IPS is on innovations and adaptations of proven therapies as they are applied to the more difficult-to-serve populations. The IPS also serves as a forum for discussing systems of care, quality management, government policy, and social and economic factors as they have an impact on the most vulnerable patients.

The mission of the IPS is of particular significance to an important subset of APA members who are its prime constituents. This includes psychiatrists who identify themselves as in community practice, those involved in teaching community practice, those who serve in the public sector, such as staff working in state, community, and Veterans Affairs hospitals, community clinics, jails, or other community agencies, psychiatric administrators and those with a particular interest in the social issues that have an impact on patients. It is a goal of the IPS to provide a venue for relevant scientific programs that will retain such psychiatrists as valued members of the APA and attract colleagues who are not yet members. The IPS functions as a prime APA service to these important, devoted, and often isolated colleagues, many of whom are psychiatrists of color or international medical graduates. It is the goal of the IPS to reach out and encourage these psychiatrists to join the APA and attend this meeting. In turn, the APA will strive to ensure that the IPS serves as a professional home for these groups of colleagues.

Serving the populations that have been identified as the focus of the IPS involves collaboration with a wide variety of other professionals as well as with consumers, family members, and advocates. Therefore, an important part of the mission of the IPS is to encourage interdisciplinary and family member participation. Indeed, this mission has been an organizing principle of the IPS since its inception. Efforts will be made to further reach out to families, consumers, and allied professionals in the communities where meetings are held, and attention will be paid to ensuring their access to the IPS. The IPS is supportive of allied psychiatric organizations who share a similar vision and mission for which the IPS can serve as a scientific venue. It is part of the mission of the IPS to meet the needs of such allied groups for meeting times and space.

FORMAT DESCRIPTIONS

CAUCUSES

Psychiatrists practicing in various settings are invited to attend these caucuses to share information, discuss concerns and develop possible solutions related to challenges faced with providing psychiatric care in specific areas.

FORUMS

This format is a flexible part of the program that affords the opportunity to highlight and select topics that are of timely interest to attendees. Speakers and panel members are chosen by the Scientific Program Committee for their expertise and leadership in the field.

IMMERSION COURSES

Immersion courses are designed so that the attendee will be able to master new material in depth. These immersion courses also offer practical learning experiences that actively involve attendees and include the opportunity for informal exchange with the faculty. Offered in four- or six-hour sessions, immersion courses either review basic concepts in a specialized subject area or offer advanced material on a circumscribed topic.

INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS

These formal presentations will feature presenters who will describe creative, effective and provocative programs that work in their facilities. Each presenter is allotted 20 minutes to present a description of his/her work, followed by 10 minutes of discussion. This format is grouped, by topic, with two other proposals and presented at a 90-minute session conducted by a chairperson selected by the Scientific Program Committee.

LECTURES

This format features a small number of distinguished speakers who will make formal presentations on scientific and cultural topics, which extend our understanding beyond the usual limits. Lecturers are invited by the Scientific Program Committee.

PLENARY SESSIONS

These formal 90-minute sessions are presented by either one or more speakers to a large group. This format provides a venue where a large number of attendees can benefit from a learning experience together.

POSTERS

These informal presentations provide presenters the opportunity to post new results, research advances, new program features or model program information.

PRACTICAL PEARLS

This format offers an informal setting for attendees to present their own clinical dilemmas to an expert. There are no formal presentations. Attendees are encouraged to bring their problem cases for an informal discussion. This is the only format at the meeting where there will be an expert to respond to specific clinical cases. These sessions are limited to 25 participants on a first-come, first-served basis.

SYMPOSIA

These three-hour or 90-minute sessions are thematically linked and focus on a specific topic relevant to clinical psychiatry or systems of care. They are designed to provide a more formal, didactic approach to the topic and present it from several points of view to stimulate discussion. Some symposia are supported by unrestricted educational grants from industry and are designated as "Industry-Supported Symposium" in this Program Book.

WORKSHOPS

These sessions typically involve brief presentations from individual panel members, followed by the opportunity for lively and informative discussion. This format provides for substantial audience participation and should be highly interactive.

DISCLOSURE INDEX

AMERICAN PSYCHIATRIC ASSOCIATION CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION POLICY ON FULL DISCLOSURE

The American Psychiatric Association requires disclosure, by presenters at CME activities, of any significant financial or other affiliation with commercial organization(s) that may have a direct or indirect interest in the subject matter of the scientific program. A “financial interest” may include, but is not limited to: being an employee, being a shareholder in the organization; being on retainer with the organization; or having research or honoraria paid by the organization. An “affiliation” may include holding a position on an advisory committee, speakers bureau or some other role or benefit to a supporting organization.

In compliance with the ACCME’s Standards for Commercial Support, the APA has a management of conflict (MCI) process for all CME activities. This process ensures that all potential conflicts of interest are identified, managed and resolved prior to the educational activity. The prospective audience must be informed of the presenter’s affiliation with every commercial supporter by an acknowledgement in the printed program and verbal or visual disclosure to participants at the session (disclosure by slide or overhead is required if audiovisual equipment is used for the presentation). This policy is intended to openly identify any potential conflict(s) so that members of the audience in an educational activity are able to form their own judgments about the presentation. The APA also requires verbal disclosure of discussion of unlabeled uses of a commercial product or investigational use of a product not yet approved for this purpose.

The presenters on the following pages have indicated that either they or an immediate family member has a significant interest or other affiliation with a commercial supporter of this meeting and/or with the manufacturer(s) of a commercial product(s) and/or provider of commercial services(s), and the company name is listed.

The second group of presenters has indicated neither they nor an immediate family member has any significant relationship to disclose.

PANEL DISCUSSION 1: MINDS ON THE EDGE

Leveraging a PBS Program to Drive Reform of Our Fragmented Mental Health System

Chp.: Thomas A. Simpatico, M.D.

Participants: Jeffrey L. Geller, M.D., M.PH.,
Tracey Skale, M.D.

Facing Mental Illness connects the dots between personal dilemmas facing individuals and families who are living with mental illness, medical practices that can be obstacles to treatment, and public policies that all too often fall short in providing support that could make a positive difference. This one-hour television program was produced for PBS by the Fred Friendly Seminars. It was created as a multi-platform video and web media initiative to advance the public conversation about the need for systemic change in the delivery of treatment and services for people with severe mental illness. The program zeros in on wrenching and confounding situations that are playing out every day in homes and hospital ERs, on city streets and school campuses, in courtrooms and in jails, as Americans struggle with the challenges of severe mental illness. Using the signature Fred Friendly Seminars format, the program brings together a panel representing different perspectives to engage the issues using hypothetical, but very real, scenarios.

Program Synopsis: MINDS ON THE EDGE considers the case of a college student who develops mental illness while at school. Confused and upset, her parents do not know where to turn for help and are shocked to discover how limited their options are. The program also explores the circumstances of an adult who has coped successfully with mental illness until his mother dies and he is left without critical support. As his mental health unravels, and he is unable to get treatment or maintain his home, he is ultimately arrested for a minor crime and absorbed into the criminal justice system. For him it is the beginning of a merry-go-round of homelessness and jail that has become all too common for many individuals who are living with schizophrenia, bipolar disorder and other severe mental illnesses.

Attendees will view the MINDS ON THE EDGE program, and then engage in a discussion with the panelists regarding: 1.) The consequences of the fragmented system of mental health care portrayed in the program; 2.) Strategies that might be used to promote interest in the general public, as well as in key groups such as legislators, judges, law enforcement individuals, clinicians, recipients of services, others; and 3.) The creation of an actual "to-do list" that would represent what audience members would bring about.

Ms. Power previously directed the Rhode Island Office of Substance Abuse, the Governor's Drug Program, the Rhode Island Anti-Drug Coalition, and the Rhode Island Council of Community Mental Health Centers.

Earlier professional experiences include teaching at elementary and secondary schools; providing counseling, leadership and advocacy for rape crisis and domestic violence agencies; and working as a computer systems analyst for the Department of Defense.

Director Power has served as President of the National Association of State Mental Health Program Directors (NASMHPD) where she led the organization to embrace principles of recovery and trauma-informed care as linchpins of the public mental health system. She has also been recognized locally and nationally for her leadership and advocacy on behalf of individuals with disabilities by organizations such as the Center for Performance Excellence, the Rhode Island Protection and Advocacy System, and the National Organization for Victim Assistance. In addition, Ms. Power has served on the boards of directors of over 100 non-profit agencies, commissions, and task forces in both the public and private sectors.

(WHO International Study of Schizophrenia). He also conducted studies of homelessness and its prevention among patients with schizophrenia in the United States. This work included the development and testing of the initial version of Critical Time Intervention (CTI) for the prevention of recurrent homelessness. Dr. Susser's recent research has been primarily on the epidemiology of mental disorders, and on examining the role of early life experience in health and disease throughout the life course. He heads the Imprints Center for Genetic and Environmental Lifecourse Studies, which fosters collaborative research and intellectual exchange among investigators studying developmental origins in birth cohorts across the globe. As one example, the findings from a series of studies have suggested that exposure to famine in early gestation is associated with increased schizophrenia among offspring. Dr. Susser is Associate Editor of the International Journal of Epidemiology, and Former Chair of the Department of Epidemiology at the Mailman School of Public Health (1999–2008). He received his M.D. and Dr. P.H., at Columbia University.

Camara Phyllis Jones, M.D., M.P.H., Ph.D.: Social Determinants of Health and Equity: The Impacts of Racism on Health

OMNA on Tour Track

Brief Biography: Camara Phyllis Jones, M.D., M.P.H., Ph.D., is Research Director on Social Determinants of Health and Equity in the Division of Adult and Community Health, National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Dr. Jones is a family physician and epidemiologist whose work focuses on the impacts of racism on the health and well-being of the nation. She seeks to broaden the national health debate beyond the provision of health services to encompass attention to the social determinants of health (including poverty) and the social determinants of equity (including racism). As a methodologist, she has developed new methods for comparing full distributions of data (rather than means or proportions) in order to investigate population-level risk factors and propose population-level interventions. As a social epidemiologist, her work on "race"-associated differences in health outcomes goes beyond documenting those differences to vigorously investigating the structural causes of the differences. As a teacher, her allegories on "race" and racism illuminate topics that are otherwise difficult for many Americans to understand or discuss. She hopes through her work to initiate a national conversation on racism that will eventually lead to a national campaign against racism. Dr. Jones taught at the Harvard School of Public Health from 1994 to 2000, and currently has adjunct appointments at the Morehouse School of Medicine and the Rollins School of Public Health. She is an inaugural member of the National Board of Public Health Examiners, and recently completed service on the Executive Board of the American Public Health Association, the Board of Directors of the American College of Epidemiology, and the Board of Directors of the National Black Women's Health Project. Dr. Jones received her B.A. (Molecular Biology) from Wellesley College, her M.D. from the Stanford University School of Medicine, and her Master of Public Health and Ph.D. (Epidemiology) from the Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health. She also completed residency training in General Preventive Medicine (Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, Baltimore, Maryland) and in Family Practice (Residency Program in Social Medicine, Bronx, New York).

Bill Lichtenstein: Changing Minds and Changing Times: Mental Health Stigma and the Media

Brief Biography: Bill Lichtenstein's award-winning documentary work in television, film and radio spans more than 35 years, and has been honored with more than 60 major journalism awards. Bill founded Lichtenstein Creative Media in 1990 to produce high-quality film, television and radio productions dealing with mental health, human rights and social justice issues. Bill's work at LCMedia includes: "Voices of an Illness," the Peabody Award-winning documentary series, which, starting in 1992, were the first programs to feature the personal accounts of people who were living with, and had recovered from, serious mental illness; "The Infinite Mind," for a decade, public radio's most honored and listened to health and science program; and the award-winning documentary film, "West 47th Street." His work, and that of LCMedia, has been honored with a Guggenheim Fellowship; the Peabody Award; a United Nations Media Award; nine National Headliner Awards; and four Gracie Awards from American Women in Radio and Television. Before LCMedia, Bill worked at ABC News for seven years, where he produced investigative reports for 20/20, World News Tonight and Nightline. Bill and LCMedia have also worked with government agencies and non-profit organizations, including SAMHSA and the Center for Mental Health Services; the New York City Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation; the National Alliance for Research on Schizophrenia and Depression (NARSAD); and New York-Presbyterian Hospital, to develop more effective mental health communications strategies, focusing on changing attitudes, behaviors and policies. Bill and LCMedia have also done primary research in such areas as the traumatic impact of the September 11th attacks; the role of media in both creating stigma about, and destigmatizing mental illness; and using strategic communications to create more effective interventions for college students at risk for suicide. Bill is a graduate of Brown University and the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism.

Beny J. Primm, M.D.: The Integration of Mental Health in the Treatment of People with Substance Abuse Disorders, HIV/AIDS, and Those Affected by Social Challenges

OMNA on Tour Track

Brief Biography: Dr. Primm has been the Executive Director of the Addiction Research and Treatment Corporation (A.R.T.C.) of Brooklyn, New York since its inception in 1969. As one of the largest minority, non-profit, community-based substance abuse treatment programs in the country, the A.R.T.C. provides a multi-modality service and treatment program for approximately 2,300 men and women who are primarily members of severely underserved populations. Pursuant to the corporation's commitment to treatment related research, collaborative endeavors are currently in progress with the National Institute on Drug Abuse Administration. Since 1983, Dr. Primm has served as President of the Urban Resource Institute, a non-profit organization that was established to provide supportive social and medical services to critical populations within New York City. Among them are multi-service shelters for battered women and their children, intermediate care facilities and other services for mentally challenged individuals, and out-patient alcoholic treatment services. In recognition of his world-renowned authority on the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), addiction and AIDS, Dr. Primm was appointed to the Presidential Commission of the Human Immunodeficiency Virus Epidemic in 1987. In that capacity, Dr. Primm represented the U.S. at a meeting of the World Health Organization (W.H.O.), Geneva, Switzerland, and at the International Conference for Ministers of Health on AIDS Prevention in London. Dr. Primm has served special committees on drug and alcohol problems for the W.H.O. on several occasions and has represented state and federal governments at special meetings in other European, and African countries, and the Caribbean. He is the Chairman Emeritus of the Board of Directors of the National Minority AIDS Council and is the 1st Vice Chairman of the National Black Leadership Commission on AIDS. Dr. Primm has been a frequent consultant to the Drug Abuse Policy Office of the White House, beginning with the Nixon Administration, which established the first National Drug Policy Office. In 1989, Dr. Primm was appointed by the Secretary of Health and Human Services to direct the Federal government's Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT), formerly known as the Office for Treatment Improvement (OTI). In that capacity, Dr. Primm was responsible for the development of programs, policies and initiatives relating to the treatment of addictive disorders, and the improvement of the quality and effectiveness of substance abuse treatment as well as treatment capacity expansion for the United States and its territories. Dr. Primm's tenure as director of CSAT ended in May 1993. Dr. Primm is widely published in treatment of drug abuse and related disorders in peer journals and textbooks. He has presented testimonies on the medical, social and political consequences of substance abuse before the United States Congress and Senate. He has lectured at colleges, universities, in ecumenical settings, before organizations representing the medical and psycho-social disciplines, the business community, political representatives, and community organizations. Dr. Primm is known nationally and internationally for his total commitment to substance abuse treatment and the treatment of the psychological, social and economic ills that fuel that disease. He teaches that all treatment modalities can be effective, that drug treatment must be mainstreamed with other human focused disciplines and finally that integration of those disciplines is the bedrock for effective treatment.

Dr. Primm is the recipient of numerous awards and in November 2000, he was granted the Surgeon General's Medallion for U.S. Public Health Service for his lifetime of leadership in mental health and substance abuse treatment in the battle against the AIDS Epidemic. In March 2002, he received the Governor's Distinguished Citizen Award from the State of West Virginia. He was also granted the President's Scholar Award from West Virginia State College. On August 6, 2003, Dr. Primm was appointed to the Presidential Advisory Council on HIV and AIDS (PACHA). The Advisory Council provides advice and recommendations to the President and Health and Human Services Secretary, on research, prevention and treatment of people living with HIV/AIDS. Although his appointment ended in 2008, he remains committed to advising the public of the importance of getting tested and securing early treatment. Dr. Primm earned his medical degree from the University of Geneva, Geneva, Switzerland.

CONVERSATIONS AT IPS

Featuring Noted Author, Pete Earley

Do I have a mental illness? Is there treatment available? Where do I go and who can I talk to? How do I live with mental illness? Reflecting on personal struggles of living with mental illness is the aim of the interactive Conversations event, hosted by the American Psychiatric Foundation.

The third annual Conversations at IPS will bring the personal side of mental illness to mental health professionals as special guest, author Pete Earley, shares the story of his son's struggle. This interactive series offers a unique opportunity to hear the personal perspectives on mental illness and their struggles, life adjustments and the pivotal points in life. Mr. Earley is a former Washington Post journalist, and full-time author. He has published a dozen books, with Crazy: A Fathers Search Through America's Mental Health Madness launching him into the mental health advocacy arena. He has spoken to over 100 different mental health, consumer, and law enforcement groups about his story and advocates to stop the imprisonment of those who are mentally ill.

The American Psychiatric Foundation is the charitable subsidiary of the American Psychiatric Association. The mission of the foundation is to advance the public's understanding that mental illnesses are real and can be effectively treated. Where would you start? Step into the video booth and weigh in with your expert opinion and join the national conversation about mental illness on YouTube. Visit the video booth at the IPS Meeting, located in booth 216 in the exhibit hall, on Friday, October 9, during exhibit hours.

MINDS ON THE EDGE: Facing Mental Illness, airing on PBS stations this month, connects the dots between personal dilemmas facing families living with mental illness, medical practices that can be obstacles to treatment, and public policies that too often fall short. MINDS on the EDGE Facing Mental Illness

WHAT IS YOUR PRESCRIPTION FOR CHANGE?

The diagnosis is clear. In too many parts of the country, America's mental health system is failing people with mental illness and the community at large.

What is your prescription? Where would you start? Step into the video booth and weigh in with your expert opinion and join the national conversation about mental illness on YouTube. Visit the video booth at the IPS Meeting, located in booth 216 in the exhibit hall, on Friday, October 9, during exhibit hours.

MINDS ON THE EDGE: Facing Mental Illness, airing on PBS stations this month, connects the dots between personal dilemmas facing families living with mental illness, medical practices that can be obstacles to treatment, and public policies that too often fall short.
